FIRST SALMON A FINE CATCH

Zeke Grader of the Ocean Traders Co. in Sausalito hefts this huge King salmon, part of the first salmon catch of the season which began Sunday. The boat Sandra Linn owned by Turi Larsen of San Rafael steamed into Sausalito yesterday with 1,500 pounds of the fish caught in two and one half days off the Farallon Islands, Half Moon Bay and Pt. Reyes. King salmon average about nine pounds each but get heavier later in the season, which ends in late September, said Thomas Stupp of Ocean Traders.

Economy Is Showing Unsurpassed Growth

Rising Prices Credited With Triggering Boom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pushed by sharply rising prices, the economy exploded in the first three months of this year and expanded at a rate unmatched since the inflation-plagued Korean War years, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said the economy, as measured by the Gross National Product (GNP), rose at an annual rate of 14.3 per cent in the first quarter. Prices rose at a hefty 6 per cent, sharply higher than in the previous quarter and well above the administration's anti-inflation goal.

The first quarter increase, which totaled $40.6 billion, was the sharpest quarterly gain in GNP since a 14.7 per cent advance in early 1951 when the nation was in the midst of Korean War production.

The quarterly increase was equaled in the first three months of 1971 when the economy was rebounding from the effects of the General Motors' strike.

The GNP is the value of the nation's total output of goods and services and is the broadest measure of the health of the economy. Today's report was preliminary and will be revised next month when more figures are available.

But the initial report indicates that the economy is growing much faster than the administration wants and could be headed for a sharp downturn unless inflation is brought under control.

The first quarter increase brought GNP to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1,235.5 billion ($1.2 trillion). In the fourth quarter, GNP rose at an 11 per cent annual rate.

The department said "real", or non-inflated growth in the January-March period was 7.9 per cent, about the same pace as the last three months of 1972. But the 6 per cent inflation rate followed a 2.8 per cent rate in the three previous months, reflecting a sharp upsurge in prices across the economy since the first of the year.

Discounting the effects of pay increases for federal workers, which are included in the GNP inflation column, the price increase figure for the first quarter still was 5.5 per cent at an annual rate, well above the administration's 3 per cent 1973 forecast.

Both administration and private economists have warned that the economy may be overheating and the GNP report would appear to confirm these fears. A fast-moving economy following a recession is fine. Then there is idle manpower and unused plant capacity ready to be put to work.

However, the economy has been expanding for about two years and much of the slack has disappeared. Shortages are developing, inventories are depleted, back orders are piling up and unemployment is edging down.

If the boom continues under these conditions, the shortages in manpower and goods will force wages, prices and interest rates higher still.

Court Order Is Obtained To Force Water Hookups

A San Rafael firm yesterday obtained a court order forcing the Marin Municipal Water District to grant a water hookup to the 292 units it plans near the Marin Civic Center or appear in court to explain why it shouldn't.

Presiding Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court gave the district the choice after San Rafael attorney Albert Bianchi filed suit for the McCarthy Co., alleging the water district's board has been illegally manipulating water to control growth.

It was the first legal challenge to the board policy of controlling growth by controlling water. The election of Dr. L. Martin Griffin of Kentfield Tuesday appeared to insure that policy favored by directors Ronald T. Stafford and Jack R. Felson.

Stafford and Felson, according the suit, are "directly responsible" for the district's refusal to grant a water hookup for the project on North San Pedro Road, which the city of San Rafael has approved.

Their opposition votes deadlocked the shorthanded board 2-2 when the issue reached a vote April 5, according to the suit.

"The suit calls the ruling a "prejudicial abuse of discretion... based solely on the personally held views of two members of the board."

Furthermore, according to Bianchi, the application was not given a fair hearing since no standard was used to judge it and no findings were made.

The suit asks only for a ruling on the validity of the district's refusal to give any water to the 54-acre Foothill Oaks project, but Bianchi indicated he may later ask for damages as well.

The water board has yet to act on a claim by the developer for $1.4 million in profits it claims it will lose and $300,000 it allegedly has invested so far.

Such claims, preludes to lawsuits, are routinely rejected by governments.

Vote Total Said Extremely Low

Voter turnout in 20 races contested at the polls in Marin Tuesday averaged 35.7 per cent, the county elections office reported today.

County Clerk George Gnoss described the result as "exceptionally low" and said he was at a loss to explain it.

With a number of spirited school board races and pivotal elections for the San Rafael City Council and a Marin Municipal Water District board seat, "there was enough to warrant a higher turnout," he said.

Turnout ranged from 21.40 per cent in the Reed School District to 49.35 per cent in the Lagunitas School District.

In San Rafael, where a six-way race was conducted for two city council seats, 40.99 per cent of the city's registered voters went to the polls. The turnout in Division Four of the Marin Municipal Water District, where conservationist L. Martin Griffin Jr. was a landslide winner, totaled 39.23 per cent.

Normally the turnout percentages would have been available election night, but the county elections office used new tabletop computers to county ballots. The machines did not produce readily available turnout statistics.

Figures supplied today by the elections office for the 20 races are:

San Rafael City Council election and charter amendments, 40.99 per cent turnout, 8,945 out of 22,094 voting; San Rafael Board of Education, 36.26 per cent, 10,850 out of 29,926; Marin Municipal Water District (Division Four), 39.23 per cent, 6,677 out of 17,019; Fairfax public safety bond issue, 36.31 per cent, 1,566 out of 4,313.

Novato flood bond issue, 32.39 per cent, 5,432 out of 16,773; San Anselmo open space bond issue, 37.23 per cent, 2,834 out of 7,613; Bolinas-Stinson School District, 45.19 per cent, 569 out of 1,259; Dixie School District, 36.7 per cent, 3,656 out of 9,962; Fairfax School District, 34.43 per cent, 1,701 out of 4,953; Kentfield School District, 34.07 per cent, 2,404 out of 7,057; Lagunitas School District, 49.35 per cent, 1,032 out of 2,091.

Larkspur School District, 31.08 per cent, 2,341 out of 7,533; Marin County Board of Education (Area Three), 35.92 per cent, 6,261 out of 17,430; Mill Valley School District, 35.96 per cent, 5,637 out of 15,675; Novato Unified School District, 32.28 per cent, 5,413 out of 16,770; Reed School District, 21.40 per cent, 1,629 out of 7,619; Ross School District, 38.15 per cent, 700 out of 1,835; San Anselmo School District, 34.77 per cent, 3,161 out of 9,090, and Tamalpais High School District, 31.39 per cent, 19,807 out of 63,093.

New Seat Belt Safety System

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite opposition from the auto industry, the government announced today it will require 1974 cars to be designed so that the engine cannot be started unless the seat belt is buckled.

Known as the "interlock system," the safety standard requires front seat passengers to connect a lap-and-shoulder belt combination before the car can be started.

The safety standard is effective on cars manufactured after Aug. 15, 1973.

Minesweep Operations Are Halted

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The United States for the second time since the Jan. 27 signing of the Vietnam ceasefire has suspended mine clearing operations in North Vietnamese waters, the Pentagon announced today, and Hanoi labeled the move a "blatant violation" of the truce.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim told a news conference in Washington the mine-sweeping operations were suspended "because of the failure of the other side to abide by the agreements and assurances of Paris..." and "because of continued cease-fire violations by the other side in South Vietnam and Laos...."

Friedheim would not elaborate further and did not say when the mine clearing operations were halted, but Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency (VNA) monitored today in Saigon said the U.S. Navy suspended the mine sweeping Tuesday and said the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry has issued a statement denouncing the move as a "blatant violation" of the Paris agreement ending the Vietnam war.

Friedheim made his references to cease-fire violations in Laos and South Vietnam after U.S. sources in Vientiane said American bombing in Laos halted Wednesday after two days of new air strikes there to counter Communist truce violations and more post-truce fight-

Kleindienst Pulls Out Of Watergate Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said today he has disqualified himself from further investigating the Watergate case. His announcement followed a report that a former presidential aide has acknowledged helping plan the bugging with John N. Mitchell and White House counsel John W. Dean.

Kleindienst said he made his decision Sunday, one day after Jeb Stuart Magruder, President Nixon's deputy campaign manager last year, is reported to have told federal prosecutors of his role in the bugging affair and to have named Mitchell and Dean as co-planners.

In another development, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., a member of the special Senate committee investigating the Watergate episode, said a locked cabinet containing his records on the incident was found open this morning and that he assumed it had been broken into "unless these drawers sprang open by themselves." The cabinet has a combination lock.

Kleindienst, in a statement issued by the Justice Department, said he was advised Sunday "of information which relates to persons with whom I have had a close personal and professional relationship" and concluded "it would be entirely inappropriate for me to exercise control over the sensitive matters being developed by the Justice Department in connection with the Watergate investigation."

"Accordingly, I recused myself from participation in any phase of the investigation and I requested on that date that Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen exercise my full responsibilities in this matter," Kleindienst said, adding that Petersen now "is responsible only to the President."

The word recuse means to remove oneself because of personal interest.

Kleindienst gave no clue to

Wounded Knee Talks Are Stalled Again

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Negotiations between the government and the occupiers of Wounded Knee were at a standstill today following a government warning that federal officers would respond quickly to a repeat of Tuesday's exchange of gunfire.

"The position of the U.S. marshals is that they will not subject themselves to that kind of planned assault on all positions at once without returning fire more quickly," said Stanley Pottinger, the chief federal negotiator at the Pine Ridge Reservation village.

Quentin Inmates Found Guilty Of Murder In 'Longest Trial'

By LARRY MOWELL

As their supporters wept, two San Quentin inmates accused of murdering a prison guard and assaulting another convict, were declared guilty yesterday after what Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson called "the longest criminal jury trial in Marin County history."

The tearful scene following the verdict against Earl Billy Gibson and Lawrence Justice climaxed 61 days of trial inside a heavily protected Marin courtroom.

Judge Wilson said he could not recall a longer criminal trial in the county and thanked everyone involved "for the manner in which the case was presented." The case had none of the histrionics or hysterics that have surrounded other long trials in recent years.

The audience of 15 yesterday was one of the largest of the trial. Spectators, who were searched electronically and physically before entering the courtroom, usually were outnumbered by the approximately 12 prison guards and sheriff's deputies called in daily to provide security.

A $30,000 bulletproof glass wall, completed just before jury selection began in December, separated the audience from the trial. The shield and an $11,000 television arrangement were the first of the costs, which have not been added up yet.

The auditor-controller's office said it will be a week before the costs are computed. The state will pick up most of the bill.

The verdict, which hinged on the testimony of inmates, appeared to daze defense attorneys, but the two 28-year-old convicts remained impassive, except when they flashed clenched fist salutes to the audience as prison guards led them from court.

The jury of seven women and five men started deliberating Monday and listened most of Tuesday to a reading of testimony before finding that the pair had assaulted inmate Herman Johnson with knives July 19, 1971, then had killed guard Leo G. David as he guarded Johnson's hospital cell two days later.

Marvin Stender, one of two defense attorneys, said afterward that "of course" there will be an appeal.

Johnson, a target because he offered to testify against other black inmates at Soledad Prison, testified the two attacked him on a deserted stairway near the prison athletic field, but he fought them off.

Through the food slot of his hospital cell, Johnson said, he saw three men, including Justice and Gibson, repeatedly stab Dvis.

However, the defense called other inmates, who said Justice and Gibson were elsewhere when the assaults took place.

Judge Wilson scheduled sentencing of the two Los Angeles men for May 4. Gibson already is serving a life term for a first degree burglary in Los Angeles in 1965. Justice is in San Quentin for an indeterminate time for two felony assaults and grand theft in 1968 in Los Angeles.

Meany Charges Teamsters Out To Break Farm Workers Union

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany accused the Teamsters Union Wednesday of a "unionbusting" drive to wipe out the United Farm Workers Union by signing contracts with California grape growers and pledged his support to the farm workers.

"The Teamsters union-busting drive would be absolutely disgraceful under any circumstances," Meany said, "but for the nation's largest union to seek to destroy this small, struggling union, representing some of the most exploited workers in the nation, is intolerable."

Meany pledged the full support of the AFL-CIO to the UFW and its president, Cesar Chavez. He instructed William Kircher, AFL-CIO director of organization, to accompany Chavez back to California and to "give the farm workers all the assistance we can provide."

The embattled Chavez Tuesday had urged a congressional investigation of Teamster efforts to sign up grape growers, and Meany supported this. Chavez charged the Teamsters with making illegal payments to growers.

Teamster President Frank E. Fitzsimmons replied: "I look upon the charges as another effort by Cesar Chavez to represent farm workers with propaganda, libel and slander, instead of collective bargaining know-how. This is not the first time he has given farm workers a sideshow instead of union representation."

Fitzsimmons said the Teamsters were simply offering the growers a "superior" contract.

The 2 million member Teamsters Union was expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1957 on corruption charges.

Chavez met with AFL-CIO officials at the federation's headquarters but said he was unable to see Meany personally.

"We got what we wanted here," Chavez told reporters as he left the AFL-CIO building to catch a plane for California.

"We're patient," he said of the struggle with the Teamsters. "We'll fight as long as it takes. We are confident of success. The American people will not stand by and let the Teamsters destroy our union. They're not going to get away with that."

Tennessee Hits Theory Of Evolution

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Tennessee Senate, fearful that national television cameras might record a "barefoot" image, voted quickly and without debate yesterday to prohibit the teaching of Charles Darwin's theory of evolution as fact.

After Lt. Gov. John Wilder sternly warned the gallery packed with school children against any outburst, the measure was passed 28-1 and dispatched to the House, where its sponsor predicted similar approval.

"I expect it will receive the same treatment in the House," said State Sen. Milton Hamilton. "You don't ever expect opposition when you have a good bill."

"The reason there wasn't any debate is that the national TV came down here with the idea they would make us look like a bunch of nitpickers," said Hamilton. "You know, like barefoot Tennesseans."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

A Flood Threat

MORGAN CITY, La. (UPI) — National Guard troops and local citizens are working 24 hours a day trying to build up levees on the Atchafalaya River before overflow water released from the Mississippi swells into the area tomorrow.

Water rose dangerously close to the top of the levee yesterday. Gov. Edwin Edwards called out 600 National Guardsmen, declared parts of southern Louisiana in a state of emergency and told residents to be prepared to evacuate if necessary.

The rising water in the Atchafalaya was caused by recent heavy rains, unusually high Gulf tides and the release of overflow water from the Mississippi River through the Morganza Spillway upstream.

Issues Challenge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jane Fonda said yesterday there are no grounds to believe former POWs when they say they were tortured by the North Vietnamese and she defied them to prove it.

"We have no reason to believe that U.S. Air Force officers tell the truth," she said.

"They are professional killers."

She said she would "eat her words" if the liberated POWs could prove their torture stories in an open forum, where they could be questioned or in a court of law.

The Vietnamese are "a gentle people," she said.

Bandit Slain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mace Brown, a convicted murderer and bank robber on the FBI "10 most wanted list," was shot to death by police yesterday as he bolted, with gun blazing, from a Harlem bank he and two accomplices had held up.

Brown, 30, who had escaped from a Washington, D.C. jail, and the two others forced 42 hostages to sit on the floor for two hours before Brown ran out of the Chase Manhattan Bank branch.

The other two, identified as Kenneth Kelly, 26, New York, and Herman Holiday, 33, Newark, N.J., surrendered to a patrolman and a newsman when police guaranteed they would not be shot when they came out.

A Catholic Charge

BELFAST (UPI) — Roman Catholics accused British soldiers today of shooting indiscriminately at Catholics and said the troops killed four men and wounded eight others this week.

In the only violence reported yesterday, bombers wrecked a bar in the border town of Strabane after giving its patrons 10 minutes to flee. There were no casualties.

The accusations of careless — some said criminal — use of firearms on Catholics began when more than 4,000 Catholics living in one district of Belfast gathered in the streets yesterday to protest.

Warrant Out

BOSTON (UPI) — A warrant has been issued for the arrest of multimillionaire Edward Krock of Worcester for failing to appear in U.S. District Court to be arraigned on federal income tax law charges.

U.S. Attorney James N. Gabriel said Magistrate Willie J. Davis issued the warrant yesterday against Krock as a fugitive from justice.

Krock was indicted last week by a federal grand jury on seven counts of income tax law violations involving more than $6 million and was accused of evading taxes of $1.4 million.

At the time the indictment was returned, Krock was said to be aboard his 150-foot yacht Speculator off Nassau in the Bahamas.

Guilty Of Cheating

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Four West Point cadets have been found guilty of cheating in their studies, a spokesman for the U.S. Military Academy said yesterday. The Cadet Honor Committee is investigating other possible violations of the honor code, he said.

Sources have indicated that as many as 80 cadets may eventually be asked to resign for cheating, the Middletown, N.Y. Times Herald-Record reported.

Singer Cleared

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A federal grand jury Wednesday cleared singer Barbara McNair of drug charges, but charged her husband, Richard Manzie, 32, with attempted possession of heroin.

Doves Seek Ways To Stop Bombing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Antiwar members of Congress, restless over continued U.S. military involvement in Southeast Asia, have initiated moves to stop it by both legislation and court action.

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., introduced a bill Wednesday that would prevent the administration from spending any funds to support U.S. military forces "in or over or from off the shores" of North or South Vietnam, Laos or Cambodia, unless authorized by Congress.

And Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., introduced legislation to cut off funds for military operations in Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam.

Bingham said the joint resolution he offered was needed to restore Congress' constitutional prerogatives and end "a presidential war that has no constitutional or statutory basis."

"It is essential that we should seize every opportunity to restrain the President from continuing a war solely on the basis of his own say so," Bingham said.

Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., filed suit in U.S. District Court in New York challenging President Nixon's right to continue military operations in Cambodia without congressional approval.

She asked an "immediate judgment" because of the "emergency nature" of the case and argued U.S. bombing was in violation of the Constitution because "Cambodia constitutes a new action with no congressional authorization whatsoever."

The United States continued bombing Cambodia after the Vietnam cease-fire and this week bombed again in Laos in response to what administration officials said were Communist cease-fire violations. Officials indicated the bombing in Laos was halted Wednesday.

In other developments:

—The Pentagon described as "nonsense" a report by antiwar groups that a U.S. Marine battalion embarked from Okinawa for service in Cambodia Wednesday. Defense Department spokesmen said the Marines were merely starting routine duty at sea.

—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he had photographic evidence that U.S. bombing of North Vietnam last year inflicted "massive damage" and in some cases "total destruction" of civilian facilities in and around Hanoi. He said the administration had tried to "whitewash" damage caused in the bombing.

Press Secretary To Queen Quits

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth's press secretary said today he has quit in a dispute with Buckingham Palace. Friends said he lost out to "stuffed shirts" who wanted to retain the monarchy's oldfashioned look.

"We agreed to differ so I decided to quit," said Robin Ludlow, 41, after the palace announced his resignation from the $12,500 a year post.

Ludlow, who took the job 15 months ago, declined to say why he resigned but a friend said he wanted to reorganize the palace press office, introduce "more open and honest" comments to press queries and make sure the public received the "real image" of the royal family.

Perot's Party Expected To Cost $250,000

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot is picking up the tab for a big party for ex-prisoners of war from Son Tay prison camp and the Green Berets who tried to rescue them.

The Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce refused to say how much money Perot was spending for the April 27-28 event, but sources said it could reach as high as $250,000.

Sixty Green Berets will be flown to San Francisco from bases around the world. The ex-POWs and their wives—numbering about 200—will be flown from military hospitals across the nation. Perot is paying for their tickets.

GM Boss Leads Corporate Pay

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg was paid $874,963 in salary and bonuses in 1972—the most ever paid a chairman of the world's largest corporation.

Gerstenberg's total compensation was $396 more than Henry Ford II, board chairman of Ford Motor Co., received last year. Both auto companies enjoyed high profits in 1972—GM's a record $2.16 billion.

This was reflected in proxy statements mailed to stockholders in advance of annual meetings. GM mailed its proxy statement to 1,275,000 stockholders Wednesday, asking them to elect 25 directors and vote on seven proposals at the annual meeting in Detroit's Cobo Hall May 25.

Two of the seven proposals on which stockholders will vote were submitted by the Ralph Nader-backed Project on Corporate Responsibility which in the past two meetings staged "Campaign GM" to push the company into greater social awareness. GM directors urged votes against both proposals.

GM did not contest inclusion of either proposal. One calls for GM to disclose any activities on behalf of political candidates and the other would require it to make public all details of any attempts the company makes to influence government policies.

GM directors said neither proposal should be approved, claiming that the first is unnecessary because the corporation does not make contributions to political campaigns and the second "cumbersome" because communications between GM and government agencies is continuous at all levels.

Gerstenberg's record compensation in 1972 compares with the previous record of $825,000 paid to retired GM Chairman James M. Roche in 1971. Gerstenberg in 1971 received a total of $747,500 when he served as vice chairman.

Edward N. Cole, president of GM, received $789,974 in 1972—a 5.7 per cent increase from the $747,500 he received in 1971. There were no bonuses paid in 1970 because of the 67-day strike by the United Auto Workers. In that year, Cole received a salary of $225,000 while Roche was paid $250,000.

Hamilton To Honor POWs On Saturday; Thunderbird Show

Hamilton Air Force Base, scheduled for termination as a major military base after 38 years of service will dedicate this year's open house at the base to returning prisoners of war and those missing in action.

Highlight of the open house — to last from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. — will be an aerial performance by the Thunderbirds, an aerial precision team, at 3 p.m., preceded by inspection ceremonies at 2:30 p.m.

Among those participating in the inspection will be Capt. William W. Butler of San Rafael, recently released after being held prisoner of war in North Vietnam.

The open house, with the theme "Homecoming," will offer a wide display of aircraft from the early days of flying to modern-day at the area near the Air Force Reserve hanger at the south end of the base.

The Thunderbirds, flying four F-4 Phantom II Aircraft, will dive, loop and maneuver in tight formation in their aerial show.

The aircraft display will include "Breezy," a modern replica of a typical 1911 Wright or Curtis Pusher-type aircraft, several P-51 Mustangs and P-40 and a P-47 Thunderbolt of World War II fame.

Aircraft assigned to Hamilton on display will include the Convair F-106 Delta Dart, an all weather fighter interceptor, the Lockheed C-130 Hercules cargo plane used by the 904th Tactical Airlift Group, Air Force Reserve, and the HH-53 Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopter.

Other activites will include a "women in the Air Force" fashion show featuring WAF fashions from the 1940s to the present.

The Marin Radio Controlled Model Aircraft Club will demonstrate model airplane flying and the drill team from Novato High School Junior Air Force reserve Officers Training Corps will perform.

Among the booths will be one sponsored by voices in Vital America to solicit aid and attention for men still listed as missing in action in Southeast Asia.

Radio Station KTIM is scheduled to broadcast the Thunderbirds show.

Postal Service, Unions Open Pact Negotiations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Postal Service opened contract negotiations with postal unions today with a demand for higher employee output as a means of heading off further postal rate increases.

But the four unions involved, covering more than 500,000 postal workers, will ask for wage increases plus overtime pay for weekend work and other fringe benefits, union sources said.

The two sides scheduled a brief meeting to exchange opening statements, then planned to adjourn for a week before getting down to serious bargaining. The present two-year contracts expire July 20.

The chief negotiator for the Postal Service, Senior Assistant Postmaster General Darrell F. Brown, said the Service must make sure that postal workers productivity is increased to assure the American people good service, "while holding the line on costs."

Postal union leaders have been upset at manpower cuts since the U.S. Postal Service was created two years ago, and have complained about work speedups to get more output from each employee.

They will demand full job security for all present employees, with reductions in force only through attrition.

The number of postal employees fell from a peak of 741,216 in mid-1970 to 687,894 by the end of last month, and in 1974 the budget request contemplates a level of 655,718, postal officials said.

the identity of the individuals to whom he was referring.

The Washington Post cited unnamed sources in the White House and the Committee for the Re-Election of the President for its report today on Magruder's alleged statements linking Dean and Mitchell to the bugging conspiracy.

The newspaper said Magruder also had told government attorneys that Mitchell and Dean arranged to pay hush money to the seven men who either were convicted or pleaded guilty to charges arising out of the June 17 break-in and bugging of Democratic headquarters in the Watergate building.

Dean responded quickly to the report by issuing a statement saying he would not be made "a scapegoat" in the case and that anyone presuming his guilt "does not know me, know the true facts or understand our system of justice."

Magruder was expected to testify later today before the federal grand jury that indicted the Watergate Seven and which has been hearing more testimony in the case for several weeks.

The Post said one of its sources even predicted that Magruder's statements Saturday plus "other information developed by the prosecutors" might result in criminal indictment of Mitchell, who preceded Kleindienst as attorney general, and Dean, who conducted President Nixon's original investigation in the Watergate incident last August.

Both Mitchell and Dean repeatedly have denied that they had any advance knowledge of the bugging plans. Magruder said the same thing in testimony during the Watergate trial in January.

Weicker, in disclosing the apparent tampering with his records on the case, said he had called in fingerprint experts to examine the cabinet. A member of his staff said it was not certain yet whether any of the documents had been stolen.

Since becoming a member of the Senate's Watergate panel, Weicker has made numerous statements to the effect that he believed top members of the administration were involved in the bugging conspiracy. At one point, he strongly suggested that the White House chief of Staff, H. R Haldeman, knew all about the plans as well as other alleged espionage activities against the Democrats in the 1972 political campaigns.

Nixon said Tuesday he had instructed all his aides, past or present, to testify if called before the Senate panel — reversing his policy on the question of executive privilege —and that he had been advised of "major developments" in the case since ordering a new investigation last month.

He also said he had met with Petersen and his top domestic adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, on Sunday to discuss the case. Mitchell was at the White House on Saturday for still undisclosed reasons.

The flurry of events and statements triggered widespread speculation that some high administration officials might be indicted soon.

The Post said Magruder has provided a first-hand account of a meeting in Mitchell's Justice Department office in February, 1972, "to discuss and approve the illegal electronic eavesdropping operation at the Watergate."

At the time, Mitchell was the nation's chief law enforcement officer as attorney general. He left that job in March last year to officially take over the reins of the Nixon re-election campaign. He quit as campaign manager July 1, two weeks after the Watergate break-in, saying he wanted to spend more time with his family.

According to the Post story, those attending the meeting were Mitchell, Magruder, Dean and G. Gordon Liddy, who at the time was finance counsel for the Nixon campaign and who later was one of the Watergate Seven convicted in January.

If true, Magruder's story would provide crucial corroboration for the hearsay testimony of Watergate conspirator James W. McCord Jr. McCord, who was security chief for the Nixon campaign, reportedly has told investigators that Liddy told him of such a meeting, though McCord has been unable to document it.

Liddy himself has refused to answer the grand jury's questions, earning himself a contempt sentence on top of the maximum 20 years in prison he received for the Watergate plot.

The Post said that the resignation of Dean as chief White House lawyer "is considered imminent" and that White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman "may also resign" because of recent Watergate developments.

Columnist Jack Anderson reported that a former White House assistant told the federal grand jury that Haldeman ordered $350,000 in cash locked in a White House safe during Nixon's re-election campaign last year.

According to Anderson, the witness, Gordon Strachan, testified that after the election he returned the funds in $20, $50 and $100 bills to Fred LaRue, a campaign aide and a close associate of Mitchell, at LaRue's Watergate apartment.

Dean, 34, conducted a White House Watergate investigation last summer that prompted the President to announce Aug. 29 that "no one in this administration, presently employed" was involved in the incident.

But Tuesday Nixon told reporters he had ordered a new internal probe March 21 after "serious charges" had come to his attention and said he would fire any aide found guilty of criminal conduct.

$1.4 Million In Cocaine Found

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — Federal agents who raided a Colombian freighter last week and confiscated 1,300 pounds of marijuana, found an estimated $1.4 million of cocaine hidden on the same ship Wednesday.

Federal marshals had seized the Adriana Wednesday following a suit filed against its owners for nonpayment of a repair bill. A subsequent search of the vessel turned up the cocaine, about 80 per cent pure, in a fire extinguisher.

Police said the entire crew was taken into custody by Chatham County authorities and taken to the customs office at the Georgia Ports Authority for fingerprinting. No arrests were made and all returned to the Adriana.

Sinatra Sets Fall TV Special

NEW YORK (UPI) — A spokesman for Frank Sinatra announced today the singer will end his two-year retirement to star in a television special this fall.

Sinatra's only appearances since he announced his retirement in June 1971 have been at policital functions, including Tuesday night's presidential state dinner for Italian Prime Minister Giulio Andreotti at the White House.

A spokesman for Sinatra confirmed he would do a one-hour special for the Magnavox Company but said the singer would have no comment on his plans.

The special is to be aired on NBC Nov. 11 at 8:30 p.m., the spokesman said.

Banker Admits Embezzlement

BOSTON (UPI) — Daniel D. Moore, president of the first bank to fail in Massachusetts since the Depression, pleaded guilty Wednesday to federal charges of embezzlement and misapplication of $8.1 million in bank funds.

Moore, who was head of the now defunct Surety Bank and Trust Co. in Wakefield, entered the plea in U. S. District Court. Judge Frank H. Freedman continued Moore, 40, of Lynnfield, free on $25,000 bond pending a June 25 sentencing.

The bank was closed by the state May 18, 1972, after shortages were discovered. Moore had resigned his post on April 27 of that year.

Russians, Pepsi Sign Agreement To Trade Drinks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet and American businessmen signed a deal today to bring Pepsi-Cola to the Soviet Union and more Russian vodka to the United States.

Donald M. Kendall, chairman of the board of Pepsico, and A. I. Nikolaev, president of the Soviet foreign trade firm that markets Vodka, signed the agreement at the Soviet foreign trade ministry—then toasted each other with Soviet champagne.

Kendall said the Soviets would produce three million cases of the American soda each year, starting next November, during the first five years of the contract. Pepsi will sell for 15 kopeks (20 cents) a bottle.

MINES

ing was reported in South Vietnam.

Friedheim said another reason for the mine sweeping suspension was "the other side's failure to respect the unilateral cease-fire declared by the government of Cambodia. . ." As he spoke, U.S. warplanes were hitting Communist targets in Cambodia for the 43rd consecutive day.

Military spokesmen in Saigon today reported more Communist cease-fire violations and said Communist troops carried out new attacks on two fronts—one in Hue and the other west of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

It was the second suspension of U.S. mine-sweeping operations in North Vietnam since the truce was declared. The first occurred early in March when Hanoi was accused of delaying the release of U.S. POWs. But the issue was resolved and the mine sweepers went back to work.

Today's VNA broadcast quoted the foreign ministry complaint as saying: "The government of the United States has deliberately delayed the removal of mines and so far it has exploded only three among the tens of thousands of mines it has the responsibility to remove."

It said North Vietnam "resolutely demands" that the United States "resume immediately its obligation of removing mines in North Vietnam."

Radio Phnom Penh said today that Cambodian Brig. Gen. Lon Non, brother of President Lon Nol, plans a special trip to Washington soon to confer with President Nixon on the critical Cambodian situation. Political analysts in Phnom Penh consider Lon Non the "power behind the throne" in Cambodia.

Shortly after the Radio Phnom Penh broadcast of Lon Non's impending "special mission," field reports said U.S. B52 bombers pounded suspected concentrations of Communist troops again along the west bank of the Bassac River only 15 miles south of the capital.

The bombing raids shook buildings and rattled windows in downtown Phnom Penh throughout the night and into the morning hours.

In Vientiane, informed sources said North Vietnamese troops who overran the north Laos village of Ta Viang with tank support over the weekend retained a firm grip on the hamlet Wednesday. The sources said CIA-sponsored units were regrouping south of the village but it was not known if there were any government plans to recapture it.

Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma's government, labeling Ta Viang's takeover a violation of the Feb. 22 Laotian cease-fire, asked for and received U.S. air support to counter the Communist drive. U.S. warplanes bombed there Monday and Tuesday—the first bombing in Laos since the Jan. 28 Vietnam cease-fire.

U.S. sources in Vientiane said American bombing in Laos was suspended in Laos Wednesday during a lull in fighting, but they left open the possibility of more air strikes if the situation warrants.

Cambodian command spokesmen said ground fighting flared even closer to Phnom Penh around Prek Pao, about 10 miles south of the capital. Casualty figures were not known.

Bail Refusal Not Legal, Judge Rules

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Bail cannot be denied a person accused of a non-capital offense, the California Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

By a 6-1 vote, the high court acted on a habeus corpus petition filed by Albert B. Underwood III, 23, a senior at the University of California-Santa Barbara.

He was ordered held without bail by a Los Angeles judge after being accused of mailing a bomb to two Los Angeles policemen who earlier had arrested him for possession of two sawed-off shotguns.

Underwood was charged with attempted murder. Conviction on the charge does not call for the death penalty which has been abolished in California.

The supreme court decision does not bar a judge from refusing bail for someone accused of committing one of the eight felonies formerly punishable by death.

In writing the majority decision, Chief Justice Donald R. Wright said the courts could not use the bail system to detain persons regarded as a threat to the community. He said such persons could be committed to specific institutions for diagnosis and treatment.

The decision noted that both the state constitution and penal code guarantee bail for anyone not charged with a capital offense.

Sewage Plant Contract Given

The San Rafael Sanitation District board last night awarded a $17,950 contract to a Martinez firm for work on its main sewage treatment plant on Irene Street.

The Industrial Tank Inc. is to clean and dispose of material in a secondary digester at the plant, said Norris Rawles, public works director.

The board also approved annexation to the district of one lot in the Los Ranchitos Road area of the county near the Fairhills subdivision, and approved a measure that permits the district's seven full-time employees to join the Marin County Employees Association.

Title Insurance Explained.

Since the days of the Spaniards, all California land was originally owned, controlled and recorded by some governmental body. As these lands were gradually transferred to private ownership, and property in turn changed hands over the years, certain encumbrances were sometimes involved.

This is where a title search becomes important. A title search investigates all county records relative to a piece of property, and can turn up any obscure claims that might exist, such as liens, easements, or unpaid taxes. Title Insurance is the buyer's guarantee that this title search is complete and accurate.

Your member Realtor office of the Marin County Board of Realtors can help you with any questions about Title Insurance. And if you're selling a home, place it on Multiple Listing. The more than 1,000 salesmen from the member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors will be selling it for you. Your Real Estate Professionals.

Rifleman's Rampage Ends With Three Persons Dead

HOUSTON (UPI) — A rifleman drove through a middle class neighborhood shooting at passers-by Wednesday, hitting five persons and killing three. An Army veteran who said he had been smoking marijuana and drinking beer gave a statement to police hours later.

"There was an old woman standing in front of a house. I pulled up and stopped. I aimed at her neck and fired. She fell to the driveway," Larry Delon Casey, 21, said in a statement to police. Casey was charged with the slayings.

The dead were an elderly woman and two school girls walking home. The two wounded victims were children who were hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

Casey told police his father was killed in New York in 1970 by heroin addicts.

"I guess I had some revenge against society," he said. He told police he did not know any of the victims.

Two United Press International newsmen signed Casey's confession as legal witnesses.

Casey said he went home and got his mother's bolt action .22 caliber rifle after having a fight with his girl friend, Yvonne Ellis, 19. He said he had smoked four marijuana cigarettes and drank a six-pack of beer.

"Me and Yvonne had just had some arguments. I guess I went out of my head for a few minutes," Casey said. "I qualified as an expert with a rifle while in the Army.

"I drove into a neighborhood and fired at the first person I saw (the woman)," he said. "Then I saw a kid on a bicycle, pulling into a driveway. I was about 75 yards away when I stopped the car. I fired one time and she fell dead. I do not remember shooting anyone else."

During questioning, Casey also confessed to the February shooting death of Dorothy J. Young, a clerk in an all-night drive-in grocery.

"I had just robbed her and was leaving the store when I heard what sounded like her cocking back the hammer on a pistol. I was in the doorway and spun around and fired instantly and hit her in the chest.

"Then I went over and shot her twice in the head to make sure she was dead," Casey said.

Casey, 6-foot-2 with short hair, a straggly beard and bloodshot eyes, was on probation for a burglary committed last August when he was arrested for Wednesday's shootings.

"I'm sorry I did it—what else can I say? I wouldn't have done it if Yvonne had not left the car mad," he said.

The dead were Beulah Davis, 86, Jana Whatley, 10, and Clare Jakubowski, 5. The wounded, both 10-year-old girls, were Karen Kurtz, shot in the leg, and Lynn Tucker, shot in the back and arm.

'Hero' Role Of POWs Studied

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — A psychologist said Wednesday returning war prisoners have been used "to create an illusion of victory" at the possible detriment of their mental health.

Dr. Herbert Kelman, a staff member of Battelle Northwest in Seattle, complained about treatment of the POWs in a report prepared for the American Psychological Association.

"The POWs have been assigned to the role of heroes in a war that has no heroes—the central role in an elaborate drama staged to provide justification for the President's policy, to create an illusion of victory and to arouse a sense of patriotic fervor," he said.

Twister Toll

DACCA (UPI) — Government sources today placed the official death toll from a tornado that smashed part of the Dacca district Wednesday at 272 and said another 2,000 persons were injured.

Petalumans To District Test

Two Petaluma men will represent Northern California in the Toastmasters District speech contest May 12 in Oakland.

Robert McFarland and John Gilligan of the Petaluma Toastmasters Club took top honors in division competition last weekend at Hamilton Air Force Base.

McFarland won first prize in the speech contest and Gilligan was named best evaluator. They defeated representatives of clubs from Marin to Eureka for the titles.

Airlift Planned In Early Births

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — A helicopter airlift for premature babies was announced Wednesday by the March of Dimes and National Guard.

National Guard helicopters will fly medical personnel from Spokane to outlying communities where premature babies need special care. The babies will be flown back to one of two Spokane hospitals for intensive treatment.

Opera Singer's Wife Given A Dissolution

The wife of opera singer Jess F. Thomas of Tiburon has obtained a dissolution of their 16-year marriage in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Henry J. Broderick ended the marriage on grounds of irreconcilable differences, but decided to hold further hearings, as yet unscheduled, on the property settlement and support payments.

In the meantime, Thomas must pay his ex-wife, Bettye, $2,000 a month for herself and $1,000 a month for the couple's two children Jess David, 13, and Lisa Bet, 14.

Thomas, who has sung with the Metropolitan Opera in New York and the San Francisco Opera, has a monthly income of about $7,000, according to documents related to the dissolution. He is a Wagnerian tenor.

The couple married Feb. 17, 1957, and separated Sept. 1, 1970. A month after the separation, Mrs. Thomas filed for a legal separation. She asked for dissolution of the marriage March 2, 1971.

Heifetz Donates A 'G-String'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A new Hall Of Music is being built at Southern California University, where master violinist Jascha Heifetz has taught since 1962.

Wednesday, Heifetz dropped into the cement foundation a silk-wrapped Japanese box containing the bridge, a peg and a string from one of his old and treasured violins so that "something personal" from him would always be part of the building "for luck."

The string was "a G-string, and no remarks please," Heifetz said.

ONCE OVER EASY

William David Ayers of San Rafael escaped unhurt (except for a booking on suspicion of drunken driving) from this overturned camper truck on North San Pedro Road. The 49-year-old Ayers, of 14 Washington Avenue, turned too fast off Highway 101 north of San Rafael, according to the California Highway Patrol, went off the road on a curve and toppled over. The accident happened at 9:20 p.m. yesterday. Here, firemen hose down the spilled gas. Ayers was also booked for lack of a driver's license on hand. (Independent-Journal photo)

Program Launched For Hamilton Help

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — An assistance program for civilian employees affected by cutbacks at Hamilton Air Force Base and other military installations was begun yesterday by the state Department of Human Resources Development.

Philip H. Crawford, assistant deputy director of job training for the department, said state officials will be conducting on-site interviewing and taking work applications at affected bases.

At Hamilton, base officials have said about 128 of the installation's 1,041 civilian positions will be trimmed when the facility is placed on reserve status in September.

Crawford said regional human resources offices in Richmond, Riverside and Los Angeles also have been instructed to perform on-site claim taking for unemployment insurance, set up on-site labor market information centers where significant numbers of employees are involved and make use of manpower training and retraining programs.

Crawford said that in Hamilton's case, the Richmond office will work through the department's San Rafael office in the assistance program. The department also will work with city and county officials who may be involved in any reemployment efforts, the officials reported.

In another development, Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, called on the federal government to guarantee suitable reemployment for workers affected.

Enid, Okla., before its settlement was a major watering spot for stagecoach teams and nomadic Indians.

Muir Beach CSD Urges Nude Beach

The County of Marin should set aside a secluded beach somewhere in the county for nude sunbathing, directors of the Muir Beach Community Services District decided last night.

"Social customs are changing and there are certainly enough people who want to do this," explained Bruce E. Harlow, board chairman. "It would be a good thing if it were located in an area away from a community."

Harlow said there are some county-owned beaches in the Point Reyes area which might be suitable.

The small community of Muir Beach has been troubled in recent years by nude sunbathers who have swarmed to the privately-owned "little beach," adjacent to the state beach.

Since the stretch of sand — also known as Bello Beach — has no trash and restroom facilities, the hordes of nudes and nude watchers have created health problems there.

On Tuesday, Marin County supervisors agreed to provide the community with a seven-day-week mounted patrol to discourage the sunbathers. Such a patrol worked well last year to help eliminate crowds from Little Beach.

Novatan's Leg Broken In Fall

A Novato woman suffered a broken leg in a fall while fishing at Phoenix Lake yesterday, Ross police reported today.

Amy Palmer, 53, of 1035 Simmons Lane, fell while running to assist her 12-year-old nephew, Sean McGuiness, 350 Midway Boulevard, Novato, who had a fish hook caught in his finger. Her broken right leg was treated at Marin General Hospital and she was sent home, police said.

Density Reduced In Satori Ranch Plans

The Novato City Council has reduced density to be allowed in any development of the 700-acre Sartori Ranch near Blackpoint.

During revision of the city's general plan map Monday night, councilmen designated about 500 acres of flat land as "agricultural bay plain" with lot sizes ranging from one to 60 acres.

The hilly area, about 200-acres, was designated residential with lot sides ranging from one to 10 acres, depending upon the slope.

Under the old general plan, lot sizes for the entire area ranged from five acres.

Senior Planner Mark Westfall said he couldn't estimate how many homes would be permitted under the new designations because a slope study hasn't been made.

The estate of John Kenney has proposed development of 2,300 homes in a lagoon-type development at the ranch.

The council is scheduled to continue revision of the general plan map at 8 p.m. Monday at the Novato Community House.

Wind-Fanned Embers Set Drydocks On Fire Again

The Richardson Bay drydocks, gutted by fire early Tuesday, burst into flames again yesterday as brisk winds fanned embers to life.

A crew of five Marin County firemen extinguished the latest blaze about two hours after being taken to the docks at 3 p.m. by a Coast Guard boat.

Stan Rowan, asst. county fire chief, said the predawn fire which heavily damaged the huge drydocks Tuesday, "never was put out properly" and has smoldered since.

Pockets of embers "that we can't get at" are causing the latest outbreak, Rowan said, but firemen must wait until they burn into the open before they can do anything.

Another crew of two was to check the drydocks this morning to continue mopping up, Rowan said.

Cause of the spectacular blaze, which lit up the Sausalito waterfront for hours, still is under investigation and it is impossible to say if the fire was set deliberatel, said Rowan.

Takes A Long Time For Chicken Uses

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI) — Although chickens were introduced in Egypt in 1500 B.C., they were not used as food for another 2,000 years, says a University of California researcher.

Louis Grivetti, a doctoral candidate in cultural geography, reached his conclusion during a study of the burial places of ancient rulers.

Danish Drivers Told Don't Blame Autos

ODENSE, Denmark (UPI) — Danes have been told to stop blaming their cars for traffic accidents.

The police department in Denmark's third largest city checked all accidents in the 1969-72 period and reported that less than 1 per cent were caused by tire failures, faulty brakes or other mechanical defects. Drivers were blamed for 99 per cent of the mishaps.

Couple Rescued After Being Swept Off Boat

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Mount Zion Hospital chief of medicine and his wife were rescued by a Coast Guard helicopter Wednesday after an eight-foot wave swept them off their sailboat just outside the Golden Gate Bridge.

Dr. Sidney Levin, 46, and his wife, Betty, were reported in good condition despite being in the chilly water for a half hour. They had been wearing life jackets when thrown from the 30-foot Meerschaum.

Their son, Daniel, 14, was also on the boat at the time the wave hit but managed to remain aboard.

The Levins had set sail for Half Moon Bay.

Plans Approved For Warehouse

The Novato Plan Review Committee last night approved precise development plans for a warehouse and office building at the southwest corner of Hill Road and Ford Way.

The building to be used by Stan's for Sports will cover almost an acre and trees will be planted to screen the rear of the building from homes along Yukon Way.

The committee also approved precise development plans for 88 townhouses along San Marin Drive from Simmons Lane to San Carlos Way.

BUS DEPOT BECOMES BARNYARD

Girl Scout Lisa Brow (left) and 4-H Clubber Cindy Reiquam show 30-month-old Jessejames Locorrieve the first multicolored rabbit he has ever seen. It all happened yesterday at the Mill Valley Bus Depot which has been turned into a living Easter display by the scouts, 4-H members and the city chamber of commerce. Sheep, ducks and rabbits will be on display there from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. through Saturday. The pecially bred rabbits with colored fur, red and blue, are kept company by more conventional bunnies in the barnyard, like pens built from 100-year-old lumber taken from a barn in Mill Valley. Boy Scout Donald Herve handled construction as a part of an Eagle Scout project. (Independent-Journal photo)

Teachers To Protest Dismissals

San Rafael teachers notified of their dismissal due to declining enrollment will protest firing-by-lottery to achieve a reduction in force at a hearing set for 9 a.m. tomorrow in the Civic Center.

Although the San Rafael Board of Education has ordered a reduction of 16 teachers due to sagging enrollment, 32 teachers have been notified that they may not be rehired next year, according to attorney Leonard Bjorklund, who represents 18 of the group.

Bjorklund said teachers yesterday, in the first portion of a hearing before state hearing officer Howard Hurst, heard Supt. John F. Plank outline the district's enrollment plight. Teachers will air their views tomorrow, he said.

Bjorklund said that the 32 teachers have been notified of possible dismissal apparently because the district wants to keep "all bases covered" since several elementary teachers slated for axing may have seniority "bumping rights" over low seniority teachers in the high school district.

The school board last February ordered a reduction of 16 teachers, including eight elementary district positions, and four each in federally funded and special education programs.

Paramedic Program Is Given Support

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council yesterday authorized its emergency medical care subcommittee to help develop a paramedic training program at the College of Marin.

Joan Ripple, executive director of the council, said the committee will push for the paramedic program as soon as possible. The college staff is already working on the proposal, she reported.

The council's directors endorsed the county administrator's office proposal for a joint contract with both ambulance services operating in Marin — United and Bay Cities. Mrs. Ripple said the directors liked the idea of a negotiated joint contract, with the ambulance services tied in to the communications center.

In other action, the council added an investigation of hospital emergency rooms to the emergency care subcommittee's 1973 study of emergency treatment in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

A suggestion by Dr. Robert F. Frederickson that planning for maternity facilities in Marin and Southern Sonoma be made part of the council's program was endorsed too, said Mrs. Ripple, and an ad hoc committee will gather information on the estimated 1,000 to 2,000 births a year in the region.

In preparation for the county administrator's office proposal that the council become a contract agency, another committee was set up to find a home for the council after it moves out of the Civic Center, said Mrs. Ripple.

Use Of Highway Funds Limited

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today rejected, 215 to 190, a Senate-passed amendment that would have permitted cities to spend their share of federal highway trust funds for mass transit projects.

Harsh, blah or smooth taste.

What makes the difference?

Generally, two things make your cigarette taste the way it does.

The tobacco and the filter.

The tobacco gives it taste. The filter smooths it out.

And often, the difference between harsh, blah and smooth tasting cigarettes can be traced to their filters.

The beauty of the Kent Micronite filter is the way it smooths the quality tobaccos we use in Kent. Not too much, so that the taste turns blah. Or too little, so that the taste turns harsh.

It's done with a special process (so special it's patented) by which the Micronite filter actually chooses which tastes to hold back and which to let pass.

What it lets pass is the mild, smooth taste that makes Kent what it is: America's quality cigarette.

Mild, smooth taste. Micronite filter. Kent. America's quality cigarette.

New Nixon Plan Tickets $2.3 Billion For Cities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today sent Congress a $2.3 billion a year program designed to let towns and cities meet their own community problems without "the excessive federal control that has been so frustrating to local governments."

The program, which the President called the "Better Communities Act" and wants to begin July 1, 1974, was the first of four special revenue sharing proposals which Nixon plans to submit to Congress this year. It would scrap seven federal grant programs including urban renewal; Model Cities; neighborhood facilities; water and sewer grants; open space and historic preservation; rehabilitation loans and public facility loans. All these programs are administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Other HUD programs including housing and community planning would not be affected by the act.

In a message to Congress on March 8, Nixon said that the program would permit communities to spend the funds "as they desire, to meet their community development needs."

Until the legislation becomes effective, funds already available will be used to maintain and support community development.

"The Better Communities Act is intended to replace inflexible and fragmented categorical grant-in-aid programs, and to reduce the excessive federal control that has been so frustrating to local government," Nixon said.

The legislation provides the funds allocated by a formula on the basis of need and will be turned over directly to local elected governments. The President said many communities not benefiting from present HUD programs would get funds under the new act.

He said the formula would assure automatic annual funding to metropolitan cities and urban counties.

Nixon told Congress that his program would eliminate "federal red tape and bureaucratic restrictions."

He said that as of June 30, 1973, the total unspent money in community development categorical programs already obligated to communities will be about $7.4 billion.

Nixon said that the act would provide a single fund of shared revenues administered by HUD.

Many big city mayors are opposed to the proposal because they think it ultimately will provide less money to their cities than the specific purpose programs it will replace.

However, Nixon said the bill was drafted to guarantee every community no less cash under revenue sharing than it now collects under the programs to be phased out.

By the fifth year of operation of the act, at an annual level of $2.3 billion, more than three out of every four dollars will be handed out to local governments.

Annual Student Parade To Florida

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Each year around Easter when the college kids come, John Keegan is behind the counter at his beachside arcade drawing mugs of draught beer and building squishy chili dogs.

"It's amazing," says Keegan, who has watched the annual migration close up for the past five years. "I got to say this about those college kids. They never give us any trouble. It's those that ain't in school or ain't working that cause problems."

But police were a bit more skeptical today as Daytona Beach and Fort Lauderdale and points in between watched a growing tide of beer-swilling and pot-puffing students let loose for the spring holidays.

"We're not expecting any major trouble here, but we're prepared for it," said Police Capt. David G. Ogle, anticipating 200,000 students on Daytona's 23 miles of beath this weekend.

In Fort Lauderdale, police were keeping an eye on an estimated 20,000 vacationing students Wednesday. They reported few arrests and said the visitors were "the quietest, most polite group of people here in recent years."

With their backpacks and bikinis and baggies of grass, the students have been steadily streaming into florida the last few days. It's a predictable migration given impetus in the early 1960s by a book and movie called "Where The Boys Are."

"We don't have much trouble out of them until at night when they get up in the balconies of the hotels, banging their beer cans on the rail and ringing their cowbells," Ogle said.

A decade ago, the students went on a rioutous rampage in Fort Lauderdale when beer was banned on the beach. Beer-drinking, particularly among those under age, is still the major concern of the police.

"I don't know of a single city in the country where you can walk around with a can of beer in your hand, and we will not permit it here," Ogle said.

With the peak still to come, Daytona Beach police have been averaging 30 to 40 student arrests a day, mostly for violations of liquor laws.

Often, however, officers are finding drugs—mostly marijuana—on those they bust.

"We're seeing more of that than last year, but I think that's true everywhere," Ogle said.

First Settler

ATLANTA (UPI) — The first white settler to establish a home in what is now the city of Atlanta was Hardy Ivy, who arrived from South Carolina in 1833. He farmed until the winter of 1841-42 when he was thrown from a horse and killed, old records show.

Common Primary Bill Approved

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — The Nevada Senate Wednesday gave final approval to a bill which would establish a common presidential primary for six states on the fourth Tuesday of May.

Candidates would be assigned delegates on the basis of the percentage of votes they obtained.

The states include Nevada, Hawaii, Alaska, Washington, Oregon and Montana.

Trustees In Novato Set Closed Talks

The Novato Unified School District will have a closed session Monday night with its salary negotiators in light of the cutback at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The district, which serves pupils from the base, stands to lose both state and federal funds, if enrollment drops.

Teachers are seeking a 21.26 per cent pay raise and board negotiators made a counter-proposal of 4.2 per cent, but that offer was withdrawn after news of the base cutback, according to Asst. Supt. Paul C. Mobley.

Under the law granting federal funds to district serving students from federal bases, the district receives $493 per pupil living on base and $246 per pupil living off base.

The district also faces a loss of state funds which are based on average daily attendance.

Mobley said the amount of funding is uncertain because of the uncertainty about the use of Hamilton housing.

Frisbee Throwing Contest Slated By Artist Group

Marin Frisbee players will get a chance to show off their skills at a throwing contest to be held from noon to 2 p.m. Sunday at the Little League field near Mill Valley's Middle School.

The contest is sponsored by the Mill Valley Street Artists Cooperative, a group of 32 craftsmen, according to director Stevan R. Minamora.

Admission to the event is free, and the co-op hopes to raise funds by selling refreshments, Minamora said. Also on sale will be wares made by the painters, sculptors and leather and ceramics craftsmen who belong to the co-op. Minamora said other Marin artists are welcome to sell their wares Sunday.

Entrants, who are advised to bring their own Frisbees, will be judged on length and accuracy of their throws. Paintings and sculptures will be awarded as prizes, said Minamora.

Coast Unit Expected To Hear Appeals

NEWPORT BEACH (UPI) — The state Coastal Commission will probably begin deciding on appeals of zoning exemptions granted by regional commissions at its May 2 meeting in Santa Barbara.

The commission, set up by the Coastal Zone Conservation Act, held hearings Wednesday here on appeals of exemptions granted to development projects in San Diego, Orange and Los Angeles Counties.

The commission took no action on any of the appeals, which dealt with claims for exemption from permit requirements under the act, which was passed by voters as Proposition 20 in the general election last November.

Commissioners said they would probably vote on some of the appeals at their next meeting, and at that time would hold hearings on additional appeals.

In other action at the Wednesday meeting, the commission voted to suspend a $50 filing fee for appeals on the actions of the seven regional commissions for two months. Some commissioners expressed concern that the filing fee, while discouraging frivolous and unnecessary appeals, might make the process too expensive for citizens' groups.

Commercial Use Of HAFB Deserves New Look

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
10 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

The imminent end of Air Force use of Hamilton Air Force Base — except for reserve units — should spur immediate reconsideration of decisions by Novato and Marin County against any commercial aviation use of the facility.

As Congressman William S. Mailliard has pointed out, the Air Force may decide that closing the base entirely is preferable to keeping it tied up for the limited use of "week-end warriors" in a reserve status. Such limited use of 2,000 acres of valuable land is not highly practical. And there are other air bases within easy driving distance which would absorb the reserve units now headquartered at Hamilton.

ENDING MILITARY use of the base in itself will eliminate a principal objection to adding civilian aviation use.

Much of the outcry from Novatans over the joint-use proposal last year arose from fears that the noise of civilian jets landing and taking off, added to that of the Air Force planes already using the base, would create "noise pollution."

Advocates of a proposal by Hughes Air West to use a parallel runway at Hamilton for 22 flights per day produced figures to show this would not add appreciably to the noise level. But they were unable to convince nearby residents.

With no military flights, however, it seems quite obvious that such commercial use would create considerably less noise than the air field's neighbors have grown accustomed to in the past.

The same would apply to air pollution: The amount created by 22 passenger plane flights daily would be much less than that caused by military flying and engine-testing.

AS WE COMMENTED editorially last Sept. 5:

"It has long been at least a topic of discussion that at some future time the Air Force may give up the North Marin base and it may become a civilian airport."

That time is now at hand — if civilian use is approved by Novato and county governments.

Such utilization of the field would have several advantages:

1. It could use existing runways and control tower no longer needed by the military, not necessitating new construction as was considered in the earlier joint-use proposal.

2. It would cushion some of the economic shock to Marin County from the base's closing, preventing at least part of the dislocation of civilian personnel familiar with airport work.

3. It would benefit Marinites by providing close-to-home air connections.

4. As a corollary, it would reduce traffic congestion and its accompanying air pollution by providing such close-to-home plane service.

SINCE THE Air Force was willing to share the base with commercial users, it would appear unlikely that it now would oppose its use for such purpose. The federal government might even retain title to keep the base as a standby facility available in case of war — ready to use, since it would have been maintained at no cost to the taxpayers.

Now is the time to thoroughly investigate the possibilities.

Congress Likely To Give President Foreign Trade Powers He Needs

President Nixon has asked Congress for more authority to control the terms of foreign trade than any American president has ever had before. The logic of circumstances suggests that, however much the legislators may be wary of the build-up of executive power, they will substantially agree.

It is really extraordinary that a President who cannot run for reelection, who cannot submit his policies to a review of the voters in his own right, should be in the way of building up such power. What is called a lame-duck official (and the phrase is only partly applicable) rarely has amassed such uncurbed authority.

PRESIDENT NIXON needs the trade bill in order to negotiate with any chance of success with the United States' trading partners, including the Communist superpowers. He needs it in order to negotiate down the many barriers that have been growing up against United States exports. He needs it in order to cope with the increasing protectionist trend in many American special-interest groups.

The President's prospective power can, of course, be used in both directions. He can liberalize trade — and that is Mr. Nixon's plainly avowed purpose — or he can erect new barriers. He will be under severe pressure, from organized labor in particular, but also from pockets of domestic manufacture, to raise the barriers. Thus, if he wants to use his power to bargain in the field of domestic politics, he can do so.

And yet such cautious and powerful congressmen as Rep. Wilbur Mills, though recognizing the tremendous authority proposed for the President, support the program. They know he must have bargaining chips with which to deal with the other great nations. They know that the continuation of the expanding trade and prosperity of the last quarter-century is largely dependent on keeping trade barriers low.

They know, too, that the floating dollar and the absence of a modernized international monetary system make trade negotiation all the more important. Congressmen also know the protectionist pressures to which they are subjected, and welcome the chance to pass the buck to the President, hoping a little ashamedly that he will save them from themselves.

IF BY SOME remote chance, Congress also should give the President the kind of authority in the field of taxation which it would be very desirable for the executive to possess, the power of the chief of state would rise to still more towering height. His capacity to influence the economy would then be staggering.

But Congress is not abdicating. It may put some limits in the trade legislation. It is contemplating curbing presidential authority over the warmaking power. It is deeply challenged by the assertions of executive privilege, and if they continue will seek a remedy. Congress and the courts also are trammeling the President's capacity to impound appropriated funds and terminate established programs.

It is conceivable that if the President gets the authority he seeks over foreign trade, he might call former Treasury Sec. John Connally back to be his negotiator. This would not sit well with the governments who were pressed so hard by Mr. Connally in the monetary negotiations, but it might suit the President's tough stance. And Mr. Connolly might handle things more diplomatically the second time around.

PRESIDENT NIXON'S vision of a generation of peace would be served significantly by a "Nixon round" of liberal trade negotiations. Without such progress, the dangers of trade wars and economic collapse are great. With economic collapse might come political and security weakening.

There are many pitfalls along the trade road, such as the questions that have continually arisen since the Russian wheat deal. The growing wealth and power of the Arab oil states, in the face of United States energy needs and trade-balance threats, also are very challenging. A strong president is essential, and a trusted president even more so.

Finds Injustice In Sign Ordinance

Re: letter Apr. 12, "New Sign Ordinance Deserves Support," signed J. M. Lifschiz.

Having been in business in Marin County for 15 years my disagreements with J. M. Lifschiz are as follows:

My petition to the City of San Rafael is so I can remain in business, the income which is my sole report. The ordinance mailed to me by the City of San Rafael states I am not allowed any sign. The sign which I have been directed to remove has been there 18 years. With no sign on the building people will certainly have a problem finding my place of business. Frankly, when politics come to a fine point where a councilman or councilmen are using this as a political hanky-panky, what's happening to the poor merchants?

Why So Much Hay And So Few Cattle?

Re: Mary Leydecker's article on meats published yesterday (Apr. 6):

On our way home from Alaska last September we drove through eastern Alberta, Saskatchewan, eastern Montana, the Dakotas, Wyoming. Through a thousand miles of prairie country we saw more antelope than we did cattle (I can show you pictures). Hay was being harvested and piled in stacks everywhere. We saw stacks of hay of previous years. Surely we saw a million tons of hay, just from the main highway. Inquiries at service stations threw little light on the subject: yes, some of the hay was two or three years old. No they did not know why there were so few cattle and so much hay. Yes quite a bit of the hay rotted.

Just now other people throughout the country would be curious about so much feed and so few cattle and why at the same time we ship grain out of the country.

One Who Cares Enough To Become Involved

Would you please extend one of your bouquets to a young man who deserves that nice recognition.

On Sunday, April 1, someone broke into the Drake High School snack bar.

When Scott Carroll of San Anselmo happened by, he immediately asked a neighbor of the school to use her phone to call the manager of the snack bar. He then stayed by the broken-into building until someone arrived to board the place up.

He could have gone about his business and not become involved, and the snack bar could have been cleaned out by those that think looting is a game.

This bouquet would be a thank-you for one of the good guys — they so seldom get recognized for the good they do.

Motorbikes Destroy Beauty And Ecology

Motorbike enthusiasts and dealers are pressuring the county supervisors for special treatment. They want their own "playground," a large area devoted solely to trailbikes.

But the people of Marin County do not have an obligation to subsidize an activity that is destructive to the beauty and ecology of our Marin hills, that adds to air and noise pollution, and that benefits very few.

One incredible suggestion is to give them part of West Marin. After years of effort by citizens, planners, and supervisors to save the peaceful, rural atmosphere of West Marin, are we now to undo all that and open it up to the blatting and roaring of motorbikes? The noise will travel far beyond the acreage involved. . .

One of the main criteria for "fun" on a motorbike is apparently to make noise. The more revving and zooming, the more fun, presumably.

Another part of the "fun" is the challenge of riding straight up hillsides. Look at any of our vulnerable Marin slopes and you see the vertical scars dug by the ripping wheels of cycles, and further eroded by the winter rains.

There is, of course, no guarantee that establishing a special area for motorcycles would do much to ease the problem. Riders tend to head for the nearest hills. . .

There are many other forms of recreation, activities that permit our acres of open space to serve many more people, activities that lead toward conservation rather than destruction of our hills and natural areas: bicycling, hiking, bird-watching, sailing, surfing, canoeing, horseback riding. These activities should be encouraged. . .

SACRAMENTO SCENE

More Palaces Proposed For Kings Of Campuses

By EARL G. WATERS

The exposure of University President Charles J. Hitch's contract raises some serious questions of public policy. What is necessary to recruit able men to administer tax-supported colleges and universities?

The Hitch contract calls for the furnishing of a baronial mansion complete with servants at a cost far in excess of his $53,500 salary.

In justification of this concession it is pointed out that the university also furnishes its executive vice president and nine chancellors with homes, along with domestic help, rent and tax free.

THE TOTAL BILL for this expansive largesse of tax dollars to persons in education whose salaries exceed $40,000 a year cannot be calculated. What is known is that last year the university budgeted $276,000 for the operation of the homes. Half of this was for domestic help. This did not include all of such help, since some services are hidden in charges for other school programs. It did not include taxes, since none are paid. It did not include rental value, since no rent is paid. It did not include various schedules for improvements, additions, furniture replacement and insurance.

What other homes for other persons are being similarly furnished by the university has not been fully disclosed. It was admitted that the provosts, reportedly seven of them at the Santa Cruz campus, are given rent-free homes. It was denied that certain department heads at San Diego were living in university-owned homes.

It is contended that the university must do this to recruit and retain "outstanding persons."

CURRENTLY BEFORE the Legislature is the same kind of a pitch being made on behalf of the 19 state college presidents. The sum of $49,200 is requested to initiate a new program of housing allowances for them. Their present salaries are $44,448 each. Except for four of them who live in state-owned houses for which they pay rent, they all reside in their own homes at their own expense, just as the citizens who pay their salaries must do.

Why, then, must the state now undertake to assume these living expenses for this privileged group?

Anyone who knows anything about government budgeting knows this initial $50,000 request is just the beginning. If it is costing the state $276,000 to operate 11 homes for the university, it is not difficult to envision what the 19 state college homes will eventually cost.

LEGISLATIVE ANALYST A. Alan Post, a former professor himself, has opposed the granting of these funds, stating "such an expense is less than necessary."

Post also objected to an item of $8,000 for groundskeeping expenses for the new home of State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke. This is a $350,000 Bel Air mansion which was donated to the state for the chancellor's use. Post says there is no evidence that Dumke's role and functions demand and justify "such amenities." As in the case of the state college presidents, the $8,000 would be just the camel getting his head under the tent.

The furnishing of such a residence was not essential to the recruitment of Dumke. His salary is $53,500 but he was hired as chancellor a few years ago for far, far less than that. And prior to the recent Bel Air gift home, he lived in a residence in Pasadena provided by himself at no expense to the taxpayers. He recently received a salary increase of more than $8,000.

It is hard to realize that those who are so lavishly handing out tax dollars for salaries, homes and other benefits to the college presidents are the same regents and trustees who are crying poor mouth and begging the Legislature for millions more to run their educational programs.

Nixon Depends On High Court To Sustain 'Executive Privilege'

WASHINGTON — Cynical though it may sound, there seems one logical reason to explain the extreme position taken by the Nixon administration on executive privilege and the right to enforce secrecy throughout government. The answer is the Supreme Court of the United States.

Consider the sequence of events. President Nixon's aides refuse to testify before Sen. Sam Ervin's Watergate investigating committee. Whether Senator Ervin goes through with his threat to try to arrest them or not, their defiance will bring citations of contempt. This will be appealed to the courts, with at least two to three years intervening before it reaches decision in the Supreme Court.

By that time it can be safely assumed the President will have not four of his own "strict constructionist" justices but five. The court will be his stone wall of defiance to the Congress.

AS RECENT SURVEYS have shown, the four Nixon justices have voted with remarkable consistency in any case involving presidential powers. They have been joined by either Justice Byron White or Justice Potter Stewart with few exceptions to make a majority. This leaves the three survivors, Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall, repeatedly in a minority.

The only possible explanation of Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst's unprecedented proposal for executive privilege for the entire executive establishment is the confidence that the Nixon court will sustain any challenge on this score. In his press conference on March 15 the President said:

"Perhaps this is the time to have the highest court of this land make a definitive decision with regard to this matter (executive privilege)."

In campaigning both in 1968 and in '72 for "strict constructionist" judges, Mr. Nixon was, in effect, campaigning against the Supreme Court. He has never given any legal definition of what he means by "strict constructionist."

THERE IS NOTHING in the Constitution about executive privilege. When his aides are pressed to say what this authority derives from, they cite the separation of powers. But the Kleindienst sweep, covering everyone from the door clerk to the attorney general himself, is to infer authority that the Founding Fathers never dreamed of.

A Supreme Court decision in 1957 overruled a contempt of Congress conviction of a witness who refused to divulge names of alleged Communists before the House Un-American Activities Committee. The opinion, written by Chief Justice Earl Warren, sustained the defense of the witness, a United Auto Workers official, John T. Watkins, based on his earlier ruling to the effect that "an investigation (by Congress) into individual affairs is invalid if unrelated to any legislative purpose. . .There is no Congressional power to expose for the sake of exposure."

But, as those familiar with the Watkins opinion and its significance point out, the "legislative purpose" in the Watergate investigation is clear enough. It is to expose wrongdoing so that laws may be drafted to prevent future subversion of the political process.

Two Legislators Make Public Pay For Their Campaign Offices

(Reprinted from Oakland Tribune)

As the respected, elected leaders of the two houses of the California Legislature, Senate President Pro Tem James Mills and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti hold roughly equivalent responsibilities and prerogatives.

Both Democrats, the two men are naturally in general agreement on the broad political philosophies of their party, but they have decidedly disparate views on conducting other parts of their business.

Mills, from San Diego, concentrates his work at the capitol in Sacramento and maintains the traditional district office.

Moretti, from Van Nuys in the San Fernando Valley, likewise maintains Sacramento and home district offices, but in addition he has administrative assistants and secretaries in state buildings in San Francisco, Los Angeles and even in Mills' home bailiwick of San Diego.

Even the second-ranking Democratic leader in the Senate does better in the branch office department than the president pro tem. George Moscone of San Francisco, the senate majority floor leader, recently obtained Senate Rules Committee approval for a Los Angeles office. . .

The difference in the leadership needs becomes clear enough once one considers that Moretti and Moscone are unofficial but avowed candidates for governor and Mills has expressed no such ambitions. If one has his eyes on the statehouse, then every opportunity must be taken to keep an ear to the ground and a firm hand on the grass roots via any available point of contact, particularly if the office is supplied at taxpayers' expense under the guise of official need.

Moscone's aide revealed a great deal with the explanation, he wouldn't be spending so much time in Southern California so there would be a different evaluation of our needs down there."

Native Sons Outnumbered Heavily Among Our Candidates

How big a role does the native son play in California of the 1970s — particularly in Marin County?

We got to wondering about that after Leo Tinkler asked at a San Rafael City Council candidates' forum for a show of hands of all those born in San Rafael. There was only one hand: that of Thomas R. O'Toole, another city council candidate.

Then Tinkler asked for the hands of all those born in California. There was only a scattering — maybe one out of five.

WELL, MARIN CERTAINLY has lots of new people. It must have to increase by about 60,000 population in 10 years. But we wondered whether the native Californians still held a major share of public offices here.

At hand were biography forms of 84 of the candidates for school boards in Tuesday's election in Marin. So we did a count.

Exactly one-third of the school board aspirants were native sons or daughters — 28 of the 84.

The next biggest totals of candidates were born in New York and Illinois, with nine each. There were three from Massachusetts, three from Wisconsin, and two each from Georgia, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Texas, and Washington.

Alaska, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Kansas, Michigan, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Utah, and the District of Columbia each had a native among the 84 school board candidates. And one candidate (who subsequently won election) was born in Germany.

It proved one thing: the native son is definitely outnumbered.

BUT ANOTHER very interesting fact emerged from this trifling research: Not one of the 84 school board candidates was born in Marin County.

Half of those 28 California-born candidates listed San Francisco as their birthplace. Five listed Los Angeles; and four, Oakland — but these were outnumbered by New York City, with six.

But just as in "Who's Who" and the roster of high federal officials, there were some from places you perhaps never heard of: Wisdom, Mo.; St. Peters, Mont.; Carbondale and New Kensington, Pa.; Quincy, Ill.; Leoti, Kans.

We weren't a bit surprised, though, to find people from such places living in Marin — and running for school board. Marin is that kind of place.

THERE APPEARED to be some public resentment over the amount of money going into San Rafael's municipal election campaign this year. A good deal of this seemed to be directed at Tom O'Toole for hiring a fulltime campaign manager (Andrea Boggs, who was less successful this time than in her management of Peter Arrigoni's campaign for supervisor last year).

We don't much care for such high-spending city election campaigns. City councilman is still a part-time job paying only $200 per month. But perhaps this is evidence that San Rafael is going "big time."

An inexpensive innovation was introduced by candidate Dick Fox. He made his own bumper strips, out of shelf paper. If nothing else, it gave him the biggest variety of bumper strips — not only among city council candidates, but among any group we recall. No two were alike.

We rather liked Dick Fox's "small-time" touch.

As to hired campaign managers, O'Toole's was not a "first" in San Rafael city elections. We recall that when Dr. Charles Aby made his initial race for mayor against Paul Bettini, he hired Price Hall, a seasoned professional, as campaign manager.

Aby, like O'Toole, lost the election.

PREDICTION: If Bill Bagley retires from the Legislature at the close of his current term next year, as he has said he will, look for Jack Nixon to make a try for Bagley's seat.

ART BUCHWALD

You Can't Expect New Nation To Take Mark-Down Minister

WASHINGTON — As everyone knows, the best way to become a U.S. ambassador is to contribute a large sum of money to the presidental election campaign — and have your candidate win.

This election was no different from elections past except that the prices of ambassadorships have gone up. Luxembourg, for example, never went for more than $50,000. But this year it was given to Mrs. Ruth Farkas of Alexander's Department Store, who made a $300,000 contribution to President Nixon's campaign.

Countries throughout the world are very sensitive to the prices put on U.S. diplomatic posts and now consider it a matter of prestige if they get a U.S. ambassador who has made an enormous contribution to the Republican Party.

IT WAS FOR THIS reason that the foreign minister of Zemululu called on an undersecretary of state here the other day.

"I understand you are sending us an ambassador who contributed only $50,000 to President Nixon's campaign. I want you to know my government considers this an insult. We deserve at least a $100,000 contributor."

The undersecretary replied: "Money isn't everything, Mr. Foreign Minister. The man we are sending you has excellent business qualifications and strong connections in the White House. He is held in high esteem by the President despite his paltry contribution."

"That is all well and good, Mr. Secretary, but I have it on highest authority that you are appointing an ambassador to Tonkidash who contributed $100,000. Why has the price on our American ambassador been so deflated?"

"Zemululu is in the malaria belt, and the climate is hot and sticky, Mr. Foreign Minister. We tried to get you a $100,000 contributor but nobody wanted to go to your country. We were very fortunate to find you a $50,000 donor who didn't know where Zemululu was. We were so desperate we were considering sending you a professional diplomat."

"WE WOULD HAVE refused him," the foreign minister said. "My government still does not understand how you can send a $300,000 donor to Luxembourg and a $50,000 one to us. Our country is five times the size of Luxembourg."

"You must understand, Mr. Foreign Minister, that size has nothing to do with our ambassadorial assignments. It is a question of geography. The big donors are partial to Europe and the Caribbean. When you give the kind of money they do, you can't expect them to take a hardship post."

"We still consider a $50,000 contributor unacceptable to us, particularly when the dollar has been devalued twice. We insist you find someone who gave at least $75,000 to President Nixon's victory."

"MR. FOREIGN Minister, may I tell you something in utmost confidence?" the undersecretary said.

"Of course," replied the foreign minister.

"It is true that the ambassador we are sending you contributed only $50,000 publicly to President Nixon's campaign. But what nobody knows is that he also gave another $150,000 in cash under the table. We cannot publicize this secret donation, but you, in fact, are getting a $200,000 American ambassador."

"How do I know you're not making this up?" the foreign minister asked suspiciously.

"The cash is in Maurice Stans' safe at the Committee for the Re-Election of the President. You can go there and look at it yourself."

Reinecke Signs Bill Clarifying Prop. 20

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke yesterday signed a bill clarifying Prop. 20, the coastline protection initiative approved by voters last year.

The bill (SB256) by Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, officially exempts any project that was under construction prior to Nov. 8, 1972, when the new coastal measure came into existence.

The initiative had said permits were required from the Coastal Zone Commission for projects that began after April 1, 1972. But Attorney General Evelle J. Younger ruled the act could not apply to developments begun before it actually was passed by voters.

Reinecke, acting as governor while Gov. Ronald Reagan is out of California, said he was "extremely pleased" to sign the Mills bill because it removes "inequities and uncertainties hanging over permit requirements of coastal developments."

The bill also permits various regional coastal commissions to use permit filing fees to offset their operating costs.

Rules Of The Game

Many sports fans are wondering if the new "designated pinchhitter" rule for the American League will be a dramatic change for baseball. By approving the experiment, club executives made the most basic change in the rules of baseball since 1903, when foul balls were ruled strikes. Perhaps the greatest change in the sport, however, took place in 1845, when tagging the runner with the ball was substituted for throwing it at him. With the new rule the ball no longer needed to be big and soft to help prevent injury and quickly became smaller and harder. This enabled it to be batted beyond the original diamond, thrown farther, and pitched faster.

Tam Fire Preliminary Budget At $315,626

A $315,626 preliminary budget for 1973-74 has been approved by directors of the Tamalpais Fire Protection District.

The spending program, endorsed Tuesday, is approximately $38,000 more than this year's, according to chief William Canlett.

He said that increase may be deceiving since much of the increase will be accounted for by money the district has been saving for years for special projects, to be spent during the next fiscal year, and therefore raising the budget.

Actually, the chief said the amount of the spending program to be raised by taxes is only about $7,000 more than in 1972-73, $241,602 as compared to $234,648.

The district plans to spend an additional $53,437 from its reserves for a pumper truck, a pickup truck, tools and improvement to water lines. The district also will put $8,000 aside for the first time next year to begin a long-term equipment replacement program, Canlett said. Another $10,000 will be set aside for a long-range plan to construct a new main fire station, he added.

The budget includes $187,264 in salaries, $29,925 for maintenance and operation and $98,437 for capital improvement.

Canlett noted that the budget is tentative, since the district's firemen have not presented requests for raises or fringe benefits.

The spending program would not raise the district's current tax rate of 93 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The provisions of Senate Bill 90 forbid a tax increase at this time, according to the chief.

Sonoma Student Survey Shows Travel Pattern

A housing and transportation survey at Sonoma State College shows most students live near campus in Sonoma County and drive or ride to school in a car.

Survey coordinator Rand Link said the study will provide information about the transportation and housing patterns of students.

The survey showed 86.5 per cent of the students live mostly in rentals in Sonoma County and 8 per cent in Marin County. With responses from 78 per cent of the students, the survey showed the average student to be 23.5 years old which indicates the age is declining as the college grows. A survey three years ago found the average age at 26.

The study also showed an enrollment of 54 per cent men and 46 per cent women with two-thirds in upper divisions or graduate classes.

Returns showed 60 per cent drive to school in their own cars while another 13.5 per cent ride in car pools. Other modes of transportation include walking, 8 per cent; hitchhiking, 7 per cent; and bicycles, 3.5 per cent.

A bus system received endorsement from 60.5 per cent and 31 per cent said they would use a bus service between the campus and downtown Rohnert Park and Cotati.

Shultz Reads Weather First

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, who worries every day about the economy, the devalued dollar, the high cost of meat and the stock market, says he reads the weather report first when he picks up his morning newspaper.

Shultz explained Tuesday that weather has played a major role in food shortages.

"Every morning, the first thing I do...is turn to the weather report to see how we're doing out there in the Midwest," Shultz said.

He said farmers could still salvage a decent harvest if the rains stop now. But so far, he said, "the weather has been foul and the wage and price system can't cure that problem."

Gang Leader To Prison For Life

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — A court sentenced a self-styled urban guerrilla leader to life imprisonment Wednesday for a robbery murder and sent 20 associates to prison for a total of 324 years.

The court announced the sentences against members of the "22nd of October" group after 27 hours deliberation at the end of a trial lasting seven months.

Mario Rossi, a bearded taxidermist who set up the group and named it after its date of foundation, was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of a rent collector.

Commission Rejects Plan For Offices

Plans for an office building have been rejected by the Petaluma Planning Commission.

Planning director William C. McGivern said the commission Tuesday denied the request of Donald Waite to build a 977 square foot office building at 421 Petaluma Boulevard North.

McGivern said commissioners ruled that the office would not be compatible with two homes already located on the property and that the building would cover too much of the lot.

The commission also denied the request of Atlantic and Pacific Building Corp. to retain signs advertising the Baywood Arms apartments, but agreed to allow six months before signs must be removed at 1105 Gumwood Lane and on Highway 101 at Lakeville Highway.

In other business, the commission set May 1 hearings on the request of Connolly Development Corp. for central commercial zoning on land on South McDowell Boulevard at McKenzie Avenue and the request of Douglas Clegg for light industrial zoning on Corona Road at north McDowell Boulevard.

Yoga Brings New Volunteer Career

By BETTY FROST

When Mrs. John Burnham joined a yoga class at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley five years ago, she had no idea that the discipline of yoga would radically change her life.

Now she is conducting three classes in yoga, while continuing to receive instruction from Yogi Wesley Zineski of San Francisco.

Besides the gentle exercise, which Louise Burnham says, "keeps the muscles elastic, brings oxygen to all the cells of the body, stimulates circulation and rests the heart," yoga has a spiritual side.

The ancient practice, believed to be 3,000 years old, is designed "to bring body, mind and spirit working together in harmony. It is a way of life. Yoga disciples are dedicated to offerings of selfless service, and to bringing harm to no one," the Mill Valley woman said.

TWO YEARS ago Mrs. Burnham began to implement these principles by volunteering to teach yoga in the Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital. There she works with the hospitalized patients in a program started by one of the staff psychiatrists.

Mrs. Burnham indicates that the patients respond to the relaxing exercises, and also relate to the concern of those who volunteer their time to help them. She cites one patient, so ill that she could not speak, who could do yoga.

"Many mental patients are searching for a meaning in life. The concentratin of Yoga, involving mind and body is often benficial", Mrs. Burnham explained.

She also conducts a daytime class for friends and neighbors. In good weather the sessions are held in the Burnham garden on the pool deck. During the winter months Mrs. George Leonard, a neighbor, lets the group use the akaido room in her home. Classes continue throughout the year. The women contribute to a "begging bowl" with proceeds sent to a yoga farm to assist with a youth program.

RECENTLY SHE has added a class at Oakmont, an audlt community center, near Santa Rosa, which has a recreation program for the residents. She is teaching a class of 35 women. "Anyone can do yoga at any age," Mrs. Burnham emphasized, "because you learn to conserve energy not expend it."

The former Louise Sheffauer is a lifelong resident of Mill Valley. She is a graduate of the Old Mill Elementary School and Tamalpais High School, as well as the University of California at Berkeley. While at the university, she took tumbling and interpretive dancing. She also likes to play tennis, swim and ski.

She is the wife of John C. Burnham, retired advertising executive formerly employed by the Standard Oil Co.

The Burnhams have two sons, Dr. John Carl Burnham of San Francisco and Timothy Burnham of Santa Rosa.

MRS. JOHN BURNHAM of Mill Valley demonstrates the classic lotus position in yoga. A neophyte five years ago, Mrs. Burnham now teaches three classes in yoga in the garden of her home.

STRUGGLE FOR EQUALITY

Women's Movement Dates To Only 1966

EDITORS NOTE: This is the third of four articles on the U.S. feminist movement and analyzes the contemporary scene.)

By DIANA LOERCHER
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

NEW YORK — "The women's movement is the most radical social phenomenon in all history; it makes the impact of Marxism seem old hat," stated Carl Degler, Pulitzer prize-winning professor of American history at Stanford University.

These are strong words to apply to a movement that began (if one can pinpoint when any movement begins) in 1966 in a Washington hotel room, where a dozen or so women gathered with Betty Friedan to discuss strategies at the Third National Conference of Commissions on the Status of Women. This small coterie gradually expanded into the National Organization for Women (NOW), which counts 35,000 members among its 400 chapters.

Because NOW and the National Women's Political Caucus (NWPC) are the largest and most organized of the feminist groups, attention tends to focus on them. They are to some degree a measure of the movement's evolution and an index of the country's collective consciousness. Yet important as their philosophy and action programs are to an understanding of contemporary feminism, they do not tell the entire story.

Flanking NOW and the NWPC are the radical feminists, whose overpublicized attitudes and antics have sometimes misled people into thinking that they represent the movement at large.

The difference between the "radical" feminists and the "moderate" feminists is that the former "define men as the enemy" and contend that women as a class are oppressed by men as a class. They advocate a revolutionary restructuring of society, along matriarchal or anti-capitalist lines, or both. Some of the women affiliated with these groups are avowed lesbians for political as well as personal reasons.

TO THE RIGHT of NOW are the majority of American women, who have chosen to affiliate themselves with no feminist organization. There is evidence, however, that even in the minds of the uncommitted feminist theory is beginning to percolate.

A recent poll conducted by Louis Harris Associates and a questionaire in Redbook magazine produced the following data about the so-called "average" American woman:

She believes that women are second-class citizens; she agrees that women are discriminated against professionally and economically; she admits that the women's liberation movement has affected her thinking; and she supports efforts to change and strengthen the status of women in society.

It seems obvious that whatever pleasing or displeasing shapes it may continue to assume, the women's movement is not going to evaporate, as some have hoped and others have feared. It is 10 years since Miss Friedan wrote her book, "The Feminine Mystique," yet confusion about the fundamental objectives of the movement has not altogether dissipated partly because its implications are so vast as to be imponderable and because its priorities of necessity keep changing.

Another obfuscating element is that the feminist movement in New York City is not the same as the feminist movement in a small Midwestern town. It is not the same to a black woman as it is to a white woman. It is not the same to Mrs. Friedan as it is to Gloria Steinem, Kate Millett and Ti-Grace Atkinson, all of whom objected to Friedan remarks about lesbians and radical feminists in a recent magazine article.

COMMENTED MISS Steinem, "The point of the women's movement is to include all women, so that we can combat in every area the patriarchal prejudice against women as a caste. The movement is only as strong as its ability to unite around the most discriminated against among us — whether that discrimination is due to class, race, age, sexual prefer-

Why Not Dress Up Again?

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Her dresses always looked as though they had been designed in a rage and put on in a tempest...she tried to look picturesque but only succeeded in being untidy...like a bird of paradise that had been out all night in the rain."

Those words were written in 1890-91 by Oscar Wilde in "The Picture of Dorian Gray."

They could just as well be a commentary today on the way so many women are dressing.

That "casual" look in clothes, in other words, has gone just too far. It's time for a return to some sanity, some semblance of elegance, clothes to make men's eyes turn in admiration instead of astonishment.

My suggestion is that we start spring by dressing up again.

Why not begin with Easter Sunday? Remember when it meant a special new bonnet, something to inspire an Irving Berlin song? Remember when you looked forward to the special new outfit to be worn on that day and when you'd not dream of going to church without hat and gloves!

What changed it all? You can blame (or credit) everything from a general letdown in our requirements for etiquette, to rebellion against the "older generation" standards, to a new lifestyle that simply left no time for daily grooming requirements such as washing white gloves and shining one's shoes.

YOU CAN say it all happened because we no longer had our fashion image makers constantly before us. White-gloved Princess Grace went off to royal duties and bringing up a family in Monaco.

The Duchess of Windsor, a supreme example of elegance, went almost into seclusion after the death of the Duke, Britain's former king.

Even Jacqueline Kennedy changed. When she was First Lady, Women's Wear Daily gave her another title—"Her Elegance." Then women copied everything from the now Mrs. Aristotle Onassis pillbox hats to her smart, lower-heeled shoes, and admired or envied her regal look when she entertained heads of state.

Now, more often than not, we catch pictures of Mrs. Onassis windblown, wearing the eternal dark glasses, in pants and "poor boy" pullover tops. (Or, in the case of one Italian magazine's claim, in the altogether).

Somewhere we traded in neatness for carelessness and I think acceptance of pants everywhere —office, shopping, even the most elegant restaurants —helped pull down the barriers.

I'M NOT anti-pantsuits so much as pro-skirts. Trousers

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

A Belated 'Thank You' Comes From One Who Needed A Boost

DEAR RAP:

I've taken several years to write this letter, but I want to say, "Thanks" — for pulling me through a very rough spot in my life. I wrote to you when I was just about at the bottom, and you proved you were real and concerned and very honest with your long letter when I needed it most. I can't say I haven't messed up occasionally since then, but if one event can be a turning point, your letter was it! You showed me I was worth something.

Maybe I've kind of proved it since then. I kept my baby, even though I wouldn't have married his father had he asked me, which he didn't. My folks help care for him while I work and go to college. I enjoy being a "Lib Mama," and Mom and Dad are happy grandparents. Little Christopher doesn't lack for love or training — he's a wonderful part of my life, and a good pal to my college friends. He'll be okay!

What of me? From the beaten and miserable girl I once was I've become a leader. At college I command respect for my brains, activism and bravery. I speak up for my rights, for women's rights, for civil rights, for minority rights,and I usually know what I'm talking about.

Sorry I was so late with this, but I want you to know I'm —

VERY GRATEFUL

DEAR GRATEFUL:

And thanks for brightening our day! We remember your letter, and we're sure (judging from a columnist's "read between the lines"character analysis) that you would have made it, no matter what the odds. We're grateful that we had a small part in proving the obvious. — HELEN AND SUE

DEAR RAP:

A while back there were lots of complaints about teachers in your column. So how about printing my version of:

WHAT IS A WONDERFUL TEACHER?

A wonderful teacher is someone who can make you forget that you hate history while he creates vivid pictures of things of the past. He can make you laugh till you're sick at the lessons, but you find that what he taught you sticks in your mind, even after you leave him.

A wonderful teacher understands kids' problems. He is there at his desk early and late, willing to help with any troubles.

He is someone who tells you to "forget about" the big unit you missed when you were out two weeks with strep throat, but then gives you a big fat "B" on your report card for the other things you did do.

He eases the tension of the first big exam by slipping in funny questions, like "Were salami sandwiches the main export of Britain during WWI?"

He never embarrasses students or puts them on the spot, but he gets it across when you aren't doing so well. He is so wonderful you plan to dedicate your first published novel to him.

Most of all, a wonderful teacher is just the thing for any ho-hum school. Please print this, Helen and Sue, as I want to tell my former teacher, Mr. J. W., "thank you!" wherever he is. — J. A., Westfield, N.J.

DEAR J.A.:

Here 'tis, Honey. Mr. J.W. should be a happy man today. — HELEN AND SUE

Mrs. Herrick Is Class President

A former San Anselmo woman, Mrs. Georgia Herrick of Napa, has been elected president of the licensed vocational nursing class graduating in 1974 from Napa College.

During the 10 years she and her husband, Don, lived in Marin Mrs. Herrick was a Red Cross volunteer, a Sonoma State Hospital volunteer and assisted with the vision and hearing testing at Brookside School in San Anselmo.

ence or life-style."

The fact that the movement has grown large enough to accommodate this complexity of regionalism, factionalism and individualism is a tribute to it. And there is yet another crucial distinction to be drawn, one of nomenclature. Catherine East, executive secretary of the U.S. Citizen's Advisory Council on the Status of Women, offered the following analysis in a recent commentary on the now pending equal rights amendment (ERA) to the Constitution:

"THE TERM, women's liberation, can be appropriately applied only to a small segment of the women's rights movement. . . the branch of the movement that had its origin in the student activities of the early 1960s. These women, primarily radical feminists, have thus far been mainly concerned with analyzing the origins, nature and extent of women's subservient rule in society, with an emphasis on the psychology of oppression. For the most part, they have engaged in activities to educate themselves and others about these issues. The structure most common to this branch of the movement is a small locally based consciousness-raising group."

(These so-called C-R groups usually include eight to 12 women who discuss their feelings about themselves, each other, women in general, their husbands, their lovers and men in general. Their aim is greater respect for themselves as women and to gain courage for the fight for equality in a "man's world.")

"The women's rights movement," the analysis goes on, "is largely composed of the kind of women that are in the National Association of Women Lawyers or the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and they are, by and large, pretty conservative as a group. It is these groups that are working for reforms in education and in other areas of society. They are not trying to overthrow the government, abolish the family, or force all women into employment. They are seeking to bring women under the protection of the Constitution, to make the family a real partnership and to make freedom of choice for women a reality."

As seen in the preceding article of this series the women's rights contingent has achieved the most concrete progress by electing to work within the system and fight sex discrimination through the law and politics. The last election alone recorded a 20 per cent increase in the number of women legislators, making likely the prospect of more Bella Abzugs and Shirley Chisholms in Congress.

BOTH NOW and the National Women's Political Caucus have brought pressure to bear in the area of women's rights, and their recent conventions, both held in February, point the way to future goals. The NWPC, headed by its first national leader, Frances (Sissy) Farenthold from Texas, is concentrating on catapulting more women into public office and on lending support to minorities and the poor. NOW has also committed itself to a re-examination of the needs of minority women and proclaimed 1973 its "Action Year Against Poverty."

These steps should help counteract the impression that feminism is the prerogative of "spoiled middle-class white women," as detractors have charged. That feminist organizations are becoming more responsive to the special needs of black or poor women, or both, who suffer from double discrimination, indicates an empathy that extends beyond parochial concerns. But the conflict of loyalties experienced by many black women causes them to keep away from the movement, with a few exceptions, notably Aileen Hernandez, past president of NOW.

Another significant development is that NOW, in the words of its president, Wilma Scott Heide, is becoming more "radical." For example, NOW "committed itself to introduce and actively support legislation to end discrimination based on sexual orientation." In other words, NOW has officially sanctioned lesbianism, long a subject of controversy among the "straight" members of NOW, who feel either that lesbians hurt the feminist image, or that they, like all women, suffer from a "common oppression." Also in a radical vein is Mrs. Heide's emphasis on "confrontation tactics," civil disobedience, and more drastic though nonviolent action to achieve objectives.

Beneath the rhetoric and resolution, there are certain principles that unite most feminists and that have grown out of historical circumstances. Contraception, and now the legalization of abortion, have given women more control over their bodies, and education has given them some control over their minds.

It is inconceivable, considering these changes, that educated women who need not have babies unless they choose to could perpetuate the passive life-styles of previous female generations. In a sense, women are demanding "liberation" because they already have it within their grasp.

FOR THOSE WHO are still wondering what women really want, the essence of the feminist platform is that women wish to be treated as equals both at work and at home. They reject having their generic identity, or that of males, determine their roles. In legalese, this is the burden of the ERA.

Though the theory is acceptable to many people, it is the practice that creates the problems. The ultimate thrust of feminism is at the institution of the family, which some people feel is in enough trouble already. According to feminist theory the canonization of the woman as mother, homemaker and wife is obsolete. The duties traditionally assigned to her should be shared by her husband, just as the wife would share the burden of providing for the family.

The other controversial issue is maternity. The birthrate dropped to a record low in 1972 and some feminists credit the movement. For those women who decide to have children and wish to or must continue working, the solutions are child-care centers and husbands who will pitch in at home. But, as any feminist will tell you, there are not enough of either one around.

CONSERVATIES PROCLAIM with consternation that the "maternal instinct" is atrophying or becoming perverted under feminist pressures. It is still, however, a matter of ongoing debate exactly how much "masculine" and "feminine" behavior is innate and how much is culturally conditioned. Feminists assert, of course, that the latter is the determinate. They also contend that just because women have the capacity to bear children, this does not mean it is their function.

Lingering in the mind like a nagging refrain is the fear that men and women of the future will be so absorbed in their private pursuits that they will lead lives bereft of love for each other, and that the act of procreation will be an occasional obligation carried out in test tubes and artificial wombs.

THE ULTIMATE point of feminism is not a panacea for the problems of the human condition but simply freedom of choice. Feminism does not say that women should not marry and that they should not bear children; only that they should have the option not to if they wish.

In her debate with William F. Buckley Jr. before the Cambridge Union in England, Germaine Greer made the following remarks about the women's liberation movement:

"The result must be a better life for us all.

"I don't mean more comfortable, because God knows for the first few generations it won't be. . . because we have an enormous intellectual weight upon our shoulders. We have to invent a way of life which was never before possible. But at least we can argue in the true sense of 'better' that we have a more moral existence when women act out of free choice, when they produce work which is their best, when they are able to face criticism, when they have enough intellectual and spiritual muscle not to break down and be hidden by uxorious husbands from the pressure of cultural examination."

Students Help Pick Teacher

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

An elementary school in California has added an interesting part to the traditional new-teacher interview — student participation.

When Mrs. W. became pregnant after the school year started she decided that she would teach only until the Christmas recess, then the school system would need to hire a new fifth-grade teacher.

Together Mrs. W. and her fifth-graders worked on the criteria they thought suitable. The school district carried out its usual methods for advertising an opening and for screening candidates.

But with one exception.

After the candidates had been reduced to the final few, the interview team to make the decisive selection included three members of the fifth-grade class chosen by all the students in the class.

FOR THE TEACHER who was chosen, it was a humbling experience.

There were questions about her concept of fairness, of classroom environment, of noise levels, of grading on worth and not on comparisons and so forth.

This is the season of the year when teachers are being chosen for next year to replace those retiring or leaving. Each elementary school probably knows now which classes will be getting new teachers next year.

If the vacancy is to be in the fifth grade, then there might be students from both grades 4 and 5 who sit in on the interview and help to vote on which candidate they think would best be qualified to teach next year's fifth grade.

High-school vacancies, especially in schools which are departmentalized, generally call for teachers with skills in one or more subjects. Why not let the students who will be taking the classes help in choosing the next teacher?

CERTAINLY, THE members of the varsity basketball team could help to choose the next basketball coach, the students in the band could help determine criteria for a music instructor, and the better art students might contribute enormously to the screening of candidates for a vacancy in the art department.

What about a new school principal? Is there a school system which would be willing to allow students to contribute criteria for selection? Or a school system which would allow students to sit as equals on an interview committee?

There are a handful of schools in the United States which are including parents on selection committees both for teachers and administrators. Often these parents admit they get many of their ideas for criteria by asking the school-age children.

Yet parents have their own concerns. And these may differ substantially from those of their own children. While a student on an interview committee may rate a candidate highly because he says he would not keep the whole class in if just one pupil were to misbehave, it is possible a parent might give a low rating to that type of discipline.

Certainly, we wouldn't want parents and administrators to turn over the full selection process to students nor to let them alone make the final decisions. But letting them participate might prove to be an excellent way of weeding out the ineffectual and would-be teachers who have no rapport with children.

BERNIE LENZ, president of the Modeling Association of America, advises young women interested in modeling to start getting experience as early as junior high school to help build their confidence. (UPI Telephoto)

Girls Encouraged To Seek After Career In Modeling

NEW YORK (UPI) — They look at you, a pretty girl with long, lean frame, good bones, a knack with clothes and they say, "You should be a model."

The words are music to the ears of thousands of teen-agers. But how should a teen react? Well, don't just stand there saying, "Thanks." Do something.

The encouragement comes from Mrs. Richard (Bernie) Lenz, president of the Modeling Association of America, Inc. (MAA), and herself a former model with John Robert Powers.

"If possible," she advised, "start getting experience as early as junior high school. Everything a girl can do, and early, is helping to build her confidence.

"If a girl doesn't feel secure, she doesn't have a chance whatever her field."

IF HER GOAL is the highly paid and specialized field of photographic modeling, forget about starting past age of 23, she said, because "the camera picks up lines that the mirror doesn't even show."

Mrs. Lenz, a stylish, stringbean blonde, talked of trends and opportunities during the MAA's third annual convention at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

MAA, she said, has some 150 agency members around the country and in Canada. One of MAA's major concerns is setting standards for agencies.

"An agency has to have operated successfully at least two years before we'll even consider membership," she said. "A great deal of ethics is involved...there'll always be a few people who can harm the profession."

For the convention, various agencies brought in some of their models, giving them a chance as Mrs. Lenz said, "to meet the pros and help open some doors in New York.

"NEW YORK is still the mecca...where everything's at, the ad agencies, the photographers, the filming being done."

Mrs. Lenz, reared in Hollywood, began her career in her teens because someone took a look at her clothes horse figure and photogenic face and said, "You should be a model."

"I was 14 at the time," she said. "I was already five feet 10 inches, skinny...did I have the complexes to overcome." That's why—for one reason anyway—she's for professional guidance.

Most of the "pros" have gone the route, she said, and know the pitfalls.

She and her husband (parents of a son, 19, at the University of Nevada, and a daughter, 23, in the WAC) opened their agency in Las Vegas, Nev., in 1960. They say it's now the state's largest.

MRS. LENZ said the television commercials are the most coveted assignments today because of the initial pay plus the residuals that can run into thousands of dollars yearly.

In addition to the fashion runways and the photographers' studios, there's a whole new area opening, she said. That's the promotion model, who adds a dash of femininity to conventions.

"The convention business is just exploding," said Mrs. Lenz. "A girl can do conventions for $60 to $200 a day. But the work is harder, the assignment shorter."

In the field generally, she said, the demand is less for the conventional pretty face. Instead, it's for the "interesting" face. A bump on the nose, a crook in the teeth are no handicap now.

"But as you climb the ladder," she added, "don't try to be too individual. Go the natural route. The Peggy Moffitts (Peggy helped make the Rudi Gernreich topless swimsuit an international sensation) and the Angelica Hustons (Miss Huston, daughter of director-producer John Huston and a current top property) are one in a million."

Exciting Time Ahead: Visit To Disneyland

Robert Paduvires of San Rafael will take his first airplane ride next month, a trip to Disneyland, because he was the winner at the Marin Easter Seal Society Auxiliary luncheon last week.

The fact that the winner was unknown to the members and not at the luncheon was at first a disappointment to them, but since learning that Paduvires, 41, spent the first 26 years of his life as a patient at Sonoma State Hospital, the members' disappointment has turned to joy.

Accompanying Cordone to Disneyland will be his "godmother," Mrs. Eugene Cordone of Novato. Diane Cordone met Paduvires when he was attending a religious class for handicapped persons at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Paduvires left the hospital 15 years ago and, until last year lived and worked at a rest home in Novato. Last year he went to work for the Redwood Guest Home in San Rafael as a gardener and handyman and is living in his own apartment in San Rafael, according to Mrs. Cordone.

Ad Executive Guest On Radio

"Why it does not pay to advertise" will be the topic for advertising executive Samm Coombs of Mill Valley on "Jorie Talks" Tuesday at 9 a.m. on KTIM.

Coombs will discuss his "a la carte" type agency, Samm Coombs Co., recently opened in San Francisco.

Cinema critic Sheila Benson of Mill Valley will review "The Nelson Affair" on the show, which is followed at 9:30 a.m. by Diane MacMillan's "Kitchen Time In Marin."

have a definite place on the modern scene and I confess that I'm wearing them even as I write this at the office. But often there is some feminine rebellion that says, "Put on a dress today," and immediately I feel more like a woman.

I take no strong stand one way or another on hats. They go handsomely with some faces, terribly with others. Apparently the young are helping to bring them back for the millinery industry reports a thriving business this spring.

For whatever it's worth as the final word, the 19th century German philosopher Nietzsche once wrote, "Has a woman who knew that she was well-dressed ever caught a cold?"

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

In Case Your Are Wondering On The Rule Of Eleven Use

The rule of eleven applies when a player has led his fourth highest card in a suit. The other three players will have, among them, a certain number of cards higher than the card led. To get that certain number, subtract the card that has been led from eleven. One use of the rule is shown in today's hand.

A GOOD PLAY

When West led the deuce of diamonds, South agonized and finally played the ten, fortunately for him. East covered with the king, and South won with the ace.

Since he could win only eight tricks without the clubs, South led a club at once. East took the king of clubs and returned the six of diamonds — fourth highest from his original holding in the suit.

South played a low diamond, and West had to decide whether to play the eight of diamonds or whether to unblock by dropping the jack of diamonds under dummy's queen.

EIGHT FATAL

It would be fatal to play the eight of diamonds. Dummy would win with the queen and lead another club. East would take the ace of clubs, but the diamonds would be blocked.

West wasn't overjoyed to throw away his jack of diamonds, but the Rule of Eleven told him that this play was safe. East's return of the six of diamonds was clearly fourth highest lead.

CONTRACT DEFEATED

Six from eleven left five, which meant that South, West and North held exactly five cards higher than the six of diamonds. West held two of them, the jack and eight. Dummy had started with two of them, the queen and the ten. Therefore South had started with only one diamond higher than the six — and he had already played his ace of diamonds.

So West threw away the jack of diamonds, and East was able to take the ace of clubs and the rest of the diamonds, defeating the contract.

FRENCH COLLECTION

Soviet Art Treasures On Display

By JO ANN LEWIS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON — one thing the Americans and Soviets have found to agree about is, of all things, the art of France.

As a happy result, "Impressionist and Post-Impressionist Paintings from the USSR," the first major loan to the United States from the treasure-filled Hermitage in Leningrad and Pushkin Museum in Moscow has opened to the public at the National Gallery of Art.

Forty-one paintings were selected from hundreds acquired in Paris during the first years of this century by two wealthy Moscow merchants of extraordinary vision and taste, Sergei Shchukin and Ivan Morozov. Their collections were "nationalized" during the 1917 October revolution, and were subsequently exhibited for a decade or so in a new museum of western modern art in Moscow. The paintings were ultimately banished to storage by Stalin, and the museum was closed.

In the late '50s, after Stalin's death, the paintings began slowly to emerge once again, and have since been shown with increasing frequency in the Soviet Union and abroad, though never in this country. The Soviet collections of modern western art from 1870 to 1930 are considered to be among the richest in the world.

Included here are seven works by Matisse and Gauguin; six by Picasso; five by Cezanne, and others by Van Gogh, Monet, Renoir, Vlaminck and Leger. Some are masterpieces, some are not, and those expecting very large or very surprising works will be disappointed. This is a relatively small exhibition of moderate-size paintings by artists well-represented in American collections. But they are all unfamiliar, and therefore fascinating examples of favorite artists at various stages in their careers.

After seeing the exhibition and walking through the National Gallery's own collection of impressionists and post-impressionists, one realizes how easy it is to become accustomed to familiar works, and subsequently stop really looking at them. It takes the excitement of new and unfamiliar paintings to re-ignite interest, and shake loose a few new insights and perspectives. For that reason alone, the exhibition from the USSR is well worth the queue.

Though American museums, scholars and diplomats have dreamed of such an exhibition for years, it has actually come about through the efforts of one American businessman-art collector, Dr. Armand Hammer, chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corp. Dr. Hammer has had large-scale business dealings with the Soviets since the 1920s, and has lent his own collection at the Hermitage and Pushkin museums.

Hammer recently acquired the art firm of M. Knoedler and Co., New York, and this exhibition was originally conceived to be shown in that relatively small space. The decision to bring it to Washington was taken later, and that, too, was arranged by Hammer.

As one enters the exhibition, one is struck by the Plexiglas boxes devised by the National Gallery to provide the protective covering stipulated by the lenders. Great pains have been taken with the lighting to make the works as visually accessible as possible, despite the encasement. No complaints. Plexiglas curtains beat iron curtains any day.

The paintings occupy four galleries, and are hung chronologically, beginning with a room full of impressionists and Cezanne, who exhibited with the impressionists in his early years. Cezanne dominates, with five late works, one a tiny, jewel-like study of nude bathers, which, despite its size, has all the monumentality and splendor of his many larger versions of this theme.

There is also a rather passionate Mont Ste.-Victoire, of which Cezanne painted 60 or so variations. It makes for interesting comparisons with the many other paintings of Mont Ste.-Victoire in the United States, notably in Washington, Philadelphia, and Baltimore.

Also outstanding in the impressionist group is a full-length portrait of a young boy, Etienne Goujon, a painting that is having a happy reunion after half a century or more with a matching portrait of Etienne's sister, Marie, also painted by Renoir in the same year, 1885, and now in the National Gallery's permanent collection.

The next room, shared by Gauguin and Van Gogh, is enlightening in that it contains examples from the year 1888 when the two artists lived together in Aries for a brief, tumultuous period, which ended when Van Gogh cut off his ear. Here we see an atypical Van Gogh painting of the Arena at Aries, and a portrait of Dr. Rey, who took care of him. Van Gogh later went to live at Auvers. There is a beautiful small painting of the cottages at Auvers from 1890.

Matisse occupies the third gallery with several transitional canvases predating 1914, including the joyous "Nasturtiums and 'The Dance,'" a painting within a painting. The canvas depicted in the background is one of Matisse's masterpieces, one of a park painted for patron Shchukin's mansion in Moscow. Russia's most glorious Matisses are not here.

The last gallery is filled with some fine early Picassos and two splendid canvases by the "naive" painter, Henri Rousseau. One, a jungle fantasy entitled "Horse Attacked by a Jaguar," from 1910, is clearly one of the stars of the show. It is also startlingly similar in composition and concept to the Rousseau painting "Tropics," also from 1910, recently sold off by the Metropolitan Museum in New York, and purchased by a collector in Japan. If the quality of that work is in any way comparable to this Russian Rousseau (and, according to scholars it is), the Met's director has indeed made a most grevious and irretrievable error.

The paintings will be on view in Washington through April 29, and at the Knoedler Gallery in New York from May 3 to 26.

For those who cannot see the exhibition first hand, a film about it will be aired on the Public Broadcasting Service April 29. Thereafter, it will be available nationwide through the National Gallery's extension service.

CAMERA FANS

Photographer's Wedding Day

The day you get your first "real" camera . . . that better camera you've been dreaming about . . . is a great day for any photo enthusiast. It's almost like a wedding day. And like any union, if the two are incompatible, there's trouble ahead.

There are great photographers, for instance, who find that they simply cannot use a 35mm camera. Others rely on it for everything from portraits to great action pictures or location scenes.

Some people, who like to do things slowly, carefully, and admire fine equipment, prefer the twin-lens reflex cameras (like Rolleiflex) with their sharp definition and big negatives. Women generally don't like "gadgety" cameras . . . so they will usually prefer the completely automatic cameras that have taken the world by storm. Other camera bugs actually enjoy doing things for themselves, setting lens, focus, etc.

The point is that when you go hunting for that "real" camera, don't just marry the first beauty that comes along. Take a long, thoughtful look, using head as well as heart, and you can be sure of a long and happy life together.

We'll gladly help you get together with the right camera partner . . . and we have the experience to help. See us for all your photographic needs!

College Board To Pursue Issue Of Redevelopment

The Marin Community College District will continue to negotiate with the San Rafael Redevelopment Agency over the agency's impact on the district's future tax revenues, the college board decided last night.

During the discussion, spokesmen for the Marin Council for Civic Affairs urged the trustees not to drop their lawsuit — currently inactive — against the redevelopment agency.

Stewart N. Boxer of the council argued that settling the revenue issue in the courts "would be more effective" and would set a precedent for college dealings with redevelopment agencies in Corte Madera, Larkspur and possibly other cities.

College Board President Theodore C. Wellman said the option of pressing the suit still will be open if negotiations fail to accomplish what the district wants. Other trustees said they believe the college shouldn't be the test case on the revenue issue, according to college publicist Earlene Jones.

The board approved a report from a board subcommittee consisting of Trustees Donald K. Felt and Frances Compton and Dr. John A. Grasham, district superintendent-president. The report proposed that the district ask the redevelopment agency for an agreement parallel to the agency's pact with Marin County, to eliminate any "ambiguities."

The proposed agreement also should protect the district against "extraordinary" inflation or deflation of property values in the redevelopment area, the subcommittee recommended. The report asked that the redevelopment agency base its revenue reimbursement agreement on some period other than the proposed one ending June 30, 1973 as a base for figuring average property valuation increases.

The Marin Community College Board Also:

CLOSED SESSION — Briefly discussed but reached no decision whether to go ahead with a planned May 7 closed session with Grasham on the superintendent-president's contract. Mrs. Jones reported the trustees noted the Independent-Journal had questioned the legality of the meeting under the Brown Act. They postponed any decision until the full board is present and further consultation is held with the county counsel's office. Trustees Felt, Robert E. Oliver and William J. Filante were absent last night.

INDIAN VALLEY — Instructed staff to negotiate with the Novato Unified School District for possible use of empty classrooms at Pacheco School, and with Hamilton Air Force Base officials for rooms on the base as temporary facilities for Indian Valley College classes. Approved staffing the North Marin campus for 1973-74 with the equivalent of 20.5 full time positions including instructors, one counselor and one librarian. Postponed action on a proposed faculty selection policy for the new college.

ETHNIC STUDIES — Postponed action to the next regular meeting May 2, on proposed creation of a new ethnic studies department. After a workshop session on the issue last week, trustees informally expressed preference for the idea, if existing courses scattered through other departments can be combined in one department without increased staff or extra budgeting, Mrs. Jones reported.

PERSONNEL — Accepted resignations of Mrs. Lee Gillin, registered nursing instructor since 1968, and Billie Anita Littell, dental assisting instructor since 1967. Granted a maternity leave to Ruth K. Nash, biology instructor.

RECLASSIFICATIONS — Reclassified five nonteaching staff members to higher pay ranges. The only major raise went to Sydney Goldstein, coordinator of public events, whose monthly salary went from $634 to $850. Total cost of the raises for the rest of this fiscal year will be $880, Grasham reported.

NEW COURSES — Approved, for next fall, new courses in human sexuality, the "drug scene," a course for women on the body and emotions, classes in arithmetic for consumers, and one in California grass-roots politics.

ENVIRONMENT — Approved guidelines recommended by the county counsel's office, for evaluating future site acquisition and building plans, in terms of environmental impact.

SALARIES — Set a workshop session for 7:30 p.m. April 25 to consider proposed salary increases for nonteaching staff. Classified employee representatives have asked for a package including a 6 per cent raise, Mrs. Jones said.

AUDITOR — Again hired Sleezer and Eckoff, certified public accountants, to audit the district's books at a fee of up to $5,300, and to audit the college's federal grants programs for no more than $3,500.

ADJOURNED — To the workshop session April 25.

Scofflaws

LONDON (UPI) — Government officials told the House of Lords recently that 45 per cent of the fines for 1,014,316 parking tickets issued by London police in 1971 were never paid.

Man Is Booked On Charge Of Child Molesting

A 31-year-old Sausalito man was booked into Marin County Jail early today on suspicion of molesting a 9-year-old Sausalito girl.

Police said Robert Alan Girard, 315 Richardson Street, was arrested at his home, where the incident allegedly took place, after the girl and her brother reported the incident to their mother and she notified police.

Girard, a tow truck driver for a Sausalito service station, was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

The Motoring Miles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Motor vehicles in the United States traveled an estimated 1.250 billion miles in 1972, reports the National Automobile Club, with passenger cars covering 79 per cent of the total, trucks 19 per cent and buses and motorcycles the rest.

Gas, Water Bubble Into Michigan Town

WILLIAMSBURG, Mich. (UPI) — This tiny northern Michigan community was evacuated today as mysterious craters some as wide as 25 feet and bubbling with natural gas and water, began spreading through the area.

State officials said they "suspect" a nearby oil drilling operation may be to blame.

The Grand Traverse County sheriff's department said it would ask Gov. William G. Milliken to declare a state of emergency if the situation worsened.

Investigators from the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) were on the scene, and a spokesman said "at this point we don't know how to assess it."

"We suspect, but I emphasize that we only suspect, it comes from escaping gas from an Amoco (American Oil Co.) well there which is being drilled below Williamsburg in Whitewater Township," he said.

The bubbling craters began forming Wednesday afternoon, measuring only a few inches in diameter at first and widening in some cases to as much as 25 feet.

Early reports placed the number of holes at about 20. New craters were forming, however, as the day wore on, over an area of more than two square miles.

State police closed off a 15-mile portion of M-72 in the area where the craters were first noticed. Evacuation began Wednesday night and by mid-morning, about 50 families, virtually the entire population of Williamsburg, had left their homes.

Art Slaughter, chief of the DNR's geological survey division, said from the scene that if the Amoco well was the source of the problem, it would be shut down. He said it may prove necessary to do some drilling to vent the oil and gas and prevent an explosive buildup.

The community is located in the heart of Michigan's oil drilling country. The suspect well is located just south of the community. There are other drilling operations under way in nearby Kalkaska and Roscommon.

There were no fires or injuries reported as a result of the gaseous craters.

Hearing Is Set In Morals Case

A preliminary hearing has been set May 1 in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for Douglas Dwight Evans, 43, of Petaluma, on a child molesting charge.

Evans was arrested April 4 by Petaluma police on suspicion of molesting his mentally retarded son. He is free on his own recognizance.

DEPARTING FERRY — Largely screened by a maze of on-and-off ramps, the old ferry Berkeley houses beneath her peeling paint and weathering wood one of the world's largest floating souvenir shops, but not for much longer. The old boat is soon to leave Sausalito for San Diego where it will become part of a maritime museum and house marine artifacts instead of knicknacks and commemorate her years of service as a ferry plying the bay rather than a store "on the beach." One Last Voyage Will End A Colorful Ferry Career

By PAT ANGLE

In a couple of weeks, the grand old ferryboat Berkeley will leave San Francisco Bay on a final voyage, ending a long and colorful career on the bay, a career that began in the past century.

Luther W. Conover, who operates one of the world's largest floating gift shops — The Trade Fair — aboard the vessel in Sausalito, announced yesterday the boat has been sold to the San Diego Maritime Museum.

"I'm very happy for her," Conover said with a fond look at the old boat. "She will be completely renovated and turned into a floating museum for marine artifacts.

"It's a most fitting use for the old queen of the ferryboat fleet."

Recently, there had been talk that the Sausalito City Council might declare the ferry an historical monument, but the plan never progressed past the talking stage and now the Berkeley will be leaving Sausalito forever in mid-May.

When she leaves the slip where she has been berthed for 13 years in the heart of the city's waterfront, the 1,800-ton Berkeley will be towed to the Bethlehem shipyard in San Francisco, there to be made seaworthy, according to Conover.

Two or three days later, he said, she will be on her way to her new home in San Diego, where the museum plans to incorporate her into its waterfront development, which also includes such historic vessels as the bark Star of India.

The 300-foot long Berkeley was launched, amid much fanfare, from the old Union Iron Works in San Francisco in October of 1898, the newest and most advanced of the old Southern Pacific ferry fleet which numbered 50 vessels during its peak in the 1930s and carried millions of passengers and autos around the bay.

A newspaper of that date — when ferryboat launchings were big news — noted that Marin Huntington, daughter of railroad baron E. E. Huntington, pushed the button which loosed the stays and started the boat on its way as whistles blew and people cheered.

The Berkeley was truly an innovative craft at its launching, with steel rather than wooden hull and the first triple expansion engine driven by propellers. The bay's most avid ferry watchers made dire predictions about the fate of the "new-fangled contraption."

But the Berkeley survived and continued to carry passengers between the East Bay and San Francisco for nearly 60 years until the railroad abandoned the ferry fleet in 1957. (Occasionally she traveled to Sausalito when the regular ferry on that route was out of commission or in the boatyard for refurbishing.)

In April of 1906, the vessel became an integral part of the bay's history when it was used to evacuate victims of the San Francisco earthquake and fire.

The Berkeley made other headlines, too, during its many years of service:

In 1925, she bumped into a tug boat near Goat Island (Yerba Buena) in the dense fog.

On another foggy morning in 1936, she collided with the ferryboat El Paso, again off Yerba Buena, a glancing blow causing no serious damage.

In 1954, during a strong tide, she slammed into a pier in San Francisco, smashing 30 feet of piling, but injuring no one.

The Berkeley even had a brief fling in show business in 1956 when Arthur Godfrey staged his television show on its decks.

Yet, only two years later, the ferryboat sank to the depth of degradation when a whaling firm purchased her for use as a fish reduction plant.

Before that odious plan was put into effect, Conover discovered her plight and purchased her in 1959 "to save her from a fate worse than death", then brought her to Sausalito to serve as The Trade Fair.

He said he decided to abandon his booming business — The Fair will close when the ferry leaves — for several reasons.

For one thing, the Golden Gate Bridge District has refused to include the Berkeley in its plans for a downtown Sausalito terminal and the boat may lose its home once the facility is built.

Also, according to Conover, his landlord, Herbert Madden Sr., has refused to renew the lease on the ferry slip since it expired in 1970. "This had made it impossible to invest more money for improving and refurbishing the boat," he said.

The city's tentative plans to designate the Berkeley as an historical monument might have been the final straw. "The city wanted me to bear the expense of maintaining their monument and I just don't have the money," Conover said.

Consequently, the Berkeley will leave Sausalito next month, not with whistles and flourishes, but perhaps with a few nostalgic old souls on hand to bid her adieu.

She can never be replaced.

Board Seeks Added Facts On Closing Three Schools

The San Rafael Board of Education, again wrestling with the prospect of closing up to three small neighborhood schools due to declining enrollment, last night asked for more information on the situation.

The board, after listening to proposals to close Gallinas, MacPhail or Hartzell schools, asked Supt. John F. Plank to study an alternative aimed at changing school boundary lines to hike enrollment in Gallinas School.

The board also said it will review a previous proposal to close West End School at 7:30 p.m. April 26, Plank said.

Plank last night told the board that an enrollment of about 123 pupils at Gallinas School is not sufficient to justify six teachers. Closing Gallinas School and merging it with MacPhail School would provide more teaching flexibility as well as result in a savings of about $20,000 annually, according to Plank.

In addition, Gallinas School could be rented and become a source of revenue, he said.

Plank told the board that other proposals aimed at meeting declining enrollment in the district include closing MacPhail School and merging it with Gallinas School; closing Hartzell School and splitting pupils between MacPhail and Gallinas schools, or changing boundary lines to shift about 45 pupils from Hartzell to Gallinas.

Parents, arguing that closing any of the three Gallinas Valley schools would result in busing of students, costly reestablishment of facilities should they be needed later, and emotional shock to students, favored the boundary shift, Plank said.

"Over the next two years we're going to have to close three small neighborhood schools to keep up with declining enrollment," Plank said today, adding that enrollment at the Gallinas Valley schools has dipped by about 40 per cent over the last five years.

Should schools be closed, they can become sites of the school system's alternative programs or be rented, he said.

Plank asked the board to adopt a position statement on the school closings, suggested that public hearings be held in each neighborhood where schools may be closed and urged a time schedule for closings be adopted.

Plank said he will recommend that the board close West End School next year, phase out one Gallinas Valley School during the 1974-75 school year, and then study the closing of a third school.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

MILITARY — Said it will not automatically furnish names and addresses of senior students to the military.

HAIR — Told Terra Linda High School Principal Frank Stocking to meet with school coaches and parent Paul Burks, who has challenged school grooming requirements for students who participate in interschool sports.

TESTS — Said that state tests don't necessarily reflect student abilities, and asked that a state schools representative address the board on the matter.

SALARY — Took no action on a proposal by employees for a 5.5 per cent salary increase.

BENEFITS — Directed the district employee benefits committee to interview insurance brokers and recommend selection of an agent to handle employee fringe benefit policies.

PERSONNEL — Appointed Julian Clark, Helen Smith and Emmaline Williams as bus drivers at $3.40 per hour, and Greg Danelz, Philip McAtee and Robert Pollitt as adult education instructors at $8.45 per hour.

GIFTS — Accepted a television from Dorothy O'Hanlon for district use.

CLOSED SESSION — Said it will meet in closed session at 6 p.m. today to hear charges against an employee, and said it will meet in special session at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday to discuss closing small neighborhood schools.

Hub Woman Is Hurt In Crash

A San Anselmo woman was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital after suffering a back sprain in a traffic smashup in San Rafael.

Police said the injured woman, Della Altman, 55, of 1346 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, failed to stop for a red light at the intersection of Third and A streets Sunday and hit an auto driven by Ivy A. Wellington, 45, of San Rafael.

Mrs. Wellington was not hurt. Police said they cited Mrs. Altman.

Another Bank Hikes Its Rate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wells Fargo Bank increased its prime lending rate one-quarter per cent today, the third major California bank to establish a 6¾ per cent rate.

Crocker Bank and Bank of California hiked their rates to major corporate borrowers earlier this week.

Wells Fargo will not increase rates on loans to small businesses and consumers in line with guidelines from the administration Committee on Interest and Dividends, said John F. Holman, executive vice president and senior loan officer.

Reconciliation Of Marriage Possible

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Carl Stokes, former mayor of Cleveland, and his wife Shirley may be reconciled, her lawyer said Wednesday.

Mrs. Stokes March 22 charged her husband with adultery. He charged her with violating his visiting rights to their children. Stokes now is a newscaster for WNBC-TV.

Chimpanzee's Freedom Leap

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A chimpanzee at San Francisco Zoo jumped across a 15-foot moat Wednesday in a dash for freedom, but returned to her cage after being confronted by a zoo keeper armed with rifles, tranquilizers and pitchforks.

About 200 people saw Tallulah the chimp leap across the moat, grab a bush and pull herself up, then run about 50 yards to hide in the back room of a snack bar.

A few minutes later, she returned to the cage on her own.

Veterinarian Was Scared Of Lockjaw

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Veterinarian Thomas Gornall extracted an infected tooth from a killer whale Wednesday after the mammal beached itself.

Larkspur Sets A $20,000 Park Dedication Rebate

The Larkspur City Council last night agreed to refund $20,000 out of $29,000 in subdivision and park dedication fees already collected from the owners of the Belardo Terrace condominiums in Greenbrae.

The fees — required when rental apartments are converted to condominiums — were collected in November last year, said Asst. City Mgr. Harlan Barry. Recent legislation has ruled that such fees can't be levied when apartments are more than five years old. The 25-unit Belardo Terrace complex was constructed more than five years ago.

Barry said the owners paid the full $29,000 in fees, then filed a claim against the city for a refund.

The council approved a final subdivision map for a new condominium complex at 1105 South Eliseo Drive, Waterview House, and learned that the city will get $7,300 in park dedication fees.

The Larkspur City Council also:

AIRPLANES — Granted permission, on a 90-day basis, for an informal group of model airplane enthusiasts to fly their gas-powered model planes in Bundy Field on Sundays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.; the matter will be reviewed at the council's July 18 meeting to see how it's working out.

UNDERGROUND — Set a public hearing for May 2 at 8 p.m. in city hall on an underground utilities district to serve the area of Bon Air Road from Marin General Hospital to Magnolia Avenue.

MEETINGS — Amended the municipal code to increase the formerly monthly council meetings to twice a month — on the first and third Wednesdays at city hall at 8 p.m.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned in memory of Thurlow C. Jaegeling, former mayor who died April 9, and of Greenbrae developer Niels J. Schultz, who died Saturday.

Plans To Widen Tahoe Road Off

MARYSVILLE (AP) — California has dropped plans to widen a 28-mile stretch of congested two-lane U.S. 50 west of Lake Tahoe, the State Division of Highways said today.

Instead, plans are being made to add two lanes to only short sections in the scenic American River canyon, said Alice Wygant, district information officer at Marysville.

She said in an interview that the highest priorities would go to high-accident areas.

U.S. 50 is a major route between South Lake Tahoe and Sacramento.

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, April 19, the 109th day of 1973 with 256 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

American nuclear scientist Glenn Seaborg was born April 19, 1912.

On this day in history:

In 1775, the American Revolutionary War began.

In 1934, the United States went off the gold standard.

In 1951, American Gen. Douglas MacArthur, relieved of his command in Korea by President Truman, told Congress, in part "... Old soldiers never die, they just fade away."

In 1972, U.S. warships in the Gulf of Tonkin were attacked by Communist MIGs and patrol boats.

A thought for the day: American poet James Russell Lowell said, "Who speaks the truth stabs falsehood in the heart."

San Rafael Air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Drug Addiction Is No Longer Confined To Nation's Ghettoes

Drug addiction has spread from ghettos to affluent suburbs. Our young people, who seem to have no fear of the consequences, sample the illicit chemicals and some are bound to get hooked. If they would only listen or personally investigate the usual outcome of hard core addiction. Authorities try to be encouraging about the results of withdrawal and rehabilitation, but the outcome is not good, despite the methadone program and psychiatric care.

DRUG ABUSE is a downhill journey. Once hooked, the addict becomes a slave to drugs and begins a lifetime of subservience to the dregs of mankind. A hardcore addict gives himself more than 1,000 intravenous injections a year. With each injection, he is exposed to the antigens in crude heroin or its adulterants. The most common medical problem following the use of dirty equipment is liver damage from hepatitis. In time, other infections involve the heart and lungs.

What benefits does the addict gain from his drug? Pleasure is the most important of these. Chemicals transform the trivial into the profound. Through drug-blurred eyes, every person is a genius and everything is beautiful. The addict prefers this stage of "reality," even though it is, at best, temporary. Many young people today find the world so empty of reality and so filled with contrivances that escape via drugs is preferable to acceptance of things as they are.

PARENTS MIGHT be helpful if they put themselves in their children's place. Although youthful dissenters are against conformity, their language, music, and dress styles are typical manifestations of the herd instinct. They are secure in a collective identity.

In the old days, young adults were ignored and had no alternatives but to prepare and wait. Today's young people believe they have very little to look forward to. Parents must decide whether they wish to compete with drugs for the minds of the young or allow criminality and psychopathological behavior to flourish.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent Journal.

LIFELESS HAIR

J. J. writes: What is the cause of limp, lifeless hair? My hair is soft and will not take a permanent. I take vitamin B1. Will multivitamins help the hair?

REPLY

Yes, if there is any chance that the lusterless hair is caused by a dietary deficiency. In general, the condition of the hair usually reflects the state of the health, but local damage as from chemicals in hair and scalp products, may play a role. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on care of hair and scalp.

EARLY SLEEPER

Mrs. B. D. writes: My husband, who is a mechanic works hard all day. When he comes home, he eats a large supper, and goes straight to bed. Isn't this a bad habit?

REPLY

Not necessarily, as many people who sleep after eating live to be 90. Ask your husband how he feels and if he says he is fine and he looks well, why not assume that he is healthy? On the other hand, a husband who retires right after dinner is not much of a companion to his wife.

RINGWORM

W. M. writes: Could ringworm in youth cause baldness in adulthood? If so, how could this be avoided?

REPLY

Yes, but the hair usually regrows as soon as the ringworm is eliminated from the scalp. Proper treatment of the fungal-infection is the best preventive of baldness from this cause. The anti-ringworm pills often help this condition.

HIVES

C.S. writes: I have been treated for urticaria, but the doctor hasn't been able to help me. Is this an incurable condition?

REPLY

No, and temporary relief can be obtained with calamine lotion or one of the antihistamine or cortisone products. The cause of your hives must be known before permanent relief is obtained. Stubborn cases often are of emotional origin. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on hives.

LAW IN ACTION

Suits Can Halt Deceptive Ads

Overstocked! Everything must go! Half off! Hurry, hurry, hurry!

"Wow!" says Mrs. Housewife, rushing madly to be first in line, "maybe now I can get those new drapes and that electric blender I've wanted so long."

And then the let-down: Mrs. Housewife quickly discovers that the $18 blender, marked down from $36, is the same model she can get down the street, regularly ticketed at $16.50. Bah, humbug, she says, and looks for some agency where she can register her complaint. There are both private and public agencies that will to work on dishonest, misrepresenting merchants.

The 1972 California Legislature added new laws designed for consumer protection; to hit the unfair merchant right in the pocket book. The Legislature also encouraged the local District Attorneys and the State Attorney General to initiate suits.

Either one, on his own complaint or on those of others may go to court and get these practices stopped. More important, the court order may impose a "civil penalty" up to $2,500 for each violation based on unfair, deceptive or misleading advertising.

If the suit is brought by the District Attorney, the civil penalty goes into the county treasury; if it is brought by the Attorney General, one-half of the penalty goest to the state, one-half to the county.

Concern for the consumer includes TV advertising. Recently the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) broadened its regulations on "broadcasts in the public interest." It says its licensees (TV and radio stations) must devote a reasonable amount of broadcast time on contrasting viewpoints on issues of public importance. It goes beyond "public issues" and advertising. In effect, the FCC requires stations to add "... and now a word against our sponsor."

For example, a toy doll was photographed in a way that made it seem it could make a greater variety of movements than it actually could. The station had to provide corrective information.

In another commercial, an aspirin was advertised as "relieving tension" when studies showed otherwise.

Second Disaster Drill Approved

Marin County Disaster Council members last night unanimously approved plans for the county's second disaster training exercise. The drill will involve emergency preparedness workers from at least seven cities, students from several school districts and hospital staffs.

The training will cover response to a simulated earthquake of 6.0 magnitude on the San Andreas Fault in West Marin, involving some theoretical structural damage and injuries to persons in several areas of the county, according to Frank Kirby, county emergency services coordinator.

The drill will begin at 2 p.m. May 11.

United To Slash Economy Fares

CHICAGO (UPI) — United Airlines Wednesday announced a plan to lower the one-way coach and economy fares between Chicago and Los Angeles for planes not equipped with coach lounges.

The lower fares would take effect June 2, pending approval by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The revised fares would be $116 for coach and $103 for economy.

Film Rating Patents Sought

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Motion Picture Association announced yesterday it has obtained patents for the film ratings "G,' "PG" and "R."

The registration of the symbols makes the using of the G, PG and R ratings by anyone other than the association's code and rating administration illegal. Only the "X" rating may be self applied to a film.

Jack Valenti, MPAA president, said the new trademarks would assure parents, film producers and distributors "that the ratings have actually been assigned by CARA.

Wonders Abound In Forest Of Redwoods

I-J Special Report

CRESCENT CITY — An example of the interplay between plant, animal and human life is found in Northern California's Redwood National Park, now in its fifth year of official existence.

Within the park grow the world's tallest trees, some over 367 feet high and 2000 years old. They are the thousandth linear descendants of sequoias which lived when dinosaurs roamed the world; and while the great reptiles atrophied and disappeared, the redwoods adapted and survived.

Since this is an ever-living forest, it has other inhabitants besides redwoods. Beneath the trees grow pink and crimson rhododendrons, which bloom in April and May; delicate dogwood, tiny flowers like waxy trillium, wood violets and speckled lilies.

Birdlife is not abundant, but calls occasionally emanate from the Oregon thrush or offshore gulls. Herds of elk roam the margins of the forest, providing ideal photo material for the cautious visitor. In the Pacific nearby, migrating grey whales can be observed in the spring. On the rocks live sea lions and seals. and a myriad of sea birds. Rivers that drain the redwood forests are rich in salmon, rainbow and steelhead trout, all providing food for bobcats, black bear and fishermen.

The park is under administration of the U.S. Park Service and the state park system of California. More than a million tourists visit the 58,000-acre Park each year. Visits increased 21 per cent last year. Camping, hiking and picnicking are popular, and the entire Park is easily accessible from Highway 101.

This summer a $600,000 headquarters and public information center-museum will be opened in Crescent City. It is named for Newton B. Drury, onetime chief of the national park service.

During the past year, parking and trail facilities opened at Lady Bird Johnson Grove. This grove is where the former first lady dedicated the Park in late 1968; its establishment was one of President Johnson's last official acts. Several additional nature trails and beach areas also were opened in 1972, according to Park Supt. John H. Davis.

In 1972, David said, Del Norte County donated Lagoon Creek Park to the federal project. It is stocked with fish. This year his staff will proceed with trail-and-road work, bridging and landscaping on a low-key basis.

French Visitors Abandoned By Ride Benefactor

Two French women were abandoned Saturday at the vista point at the Marin end of the Golden Gate Bridge Sunday by a man who gave them a ride from Bellevue, Wash., then left with their belongings, the sheriff's department said yesterday.

Ehrentraude Behnke, 23, and Elizabeth Cossigneul, 24, told deputies they had left $160 in cash, $200 in travelers checks and more than $150 in personal belongings, including a camera, in the car while they walked around the view area.

When they returned to where the car had been, it was gone, deputies said. They said the driver was Leroy Snell, 37, of Bellevue.

More Impact Data Sought On Sausalito Development

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night again postponed acting on a proposed $35 million waterfront development to allow more time for study of an environmental impact report.

As at two previous meetings on the project, last night's hearing on the report drew a large audience, most opposing the development designed for the A. G. Schoonmaker Co. property.

The hearing was continued until May 2 in spite of objections from David W. Lennihan, attorney representing the Schoonmaker firm. He asked the commission to act immediately on zoning changes which would allow a planned unit development on Schoonmaker's 39 acres between Napa and Spring streets in Marinship.

The development to be built by O'Meara-Chandler Corp. of Sherman Oaks would include 100 condominiums and a hotel, restaurant, two yacht clubs, shops and a boat marina.

During the meeting, G. Robert Hale of Environmental Impact Planning of San Francisco made revisions in the impact report for the project, including adding more information on wildlife on Schoonmaker's land, on traffic congestion that could be caused by the project and on tax benefits the project would produce for the city. The planning commission had asked for the additions to the report at its last meeting.

Audience members asked dozens of questions which Hale said he would try to cover at the next hearing.

"I want to know if the assessed valuation of the property I live on will go up?" asked Saul Rouda, who has organized opposition to the development among Marinship houseboaters.

Mrs. John Huttman, a resident and environmental researcher, said she thought the report had an old-fashioned type of cost benefit analysis. She suggested that the firm include the cost of pollution and obtaining sources of water in the future as well as items like the cost of police and fire service.

Other residents asked what would happen to the beach land on the property, how the development would affect Sausalito when combined with other new waterfront developments and what kind of traffic jams the project would cause.

No Plans To Sue Estate Of Picasso

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI) — Mrs. Jonas Salk, wife of the inventor of antipolio vaccine and former mistress of Pablo Picasso, does not intend to sue the estate of the late artist, her husband said Wednesday.

Mrs. Salk, whose maiden name was Francoise Gilot, is in seclusion at her home. But her husband said that a report that she had asked her Paris attorney to sue Picasso's widow, Jacqueline, is "absolute nonsense." Salk said, however, that the fact his wife's two children by Picasso were barred from attending their father's funeral was "cruelty . . . difficult to comprehend."

City Unable To Meet Standards, Rockefeller Says

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller told the Environmental Protection Agency Wednesday that New York City cannot meet the 1975 clean air standards.

To do so would cost motorists $1.1 billion, Rockefeller said in a letter to William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the EPA.

Rockefeller said, however, the city would take several steps to reduce pollution from autos by that date. Those include:

A selective ban on midtown taxi cruising; strict air pollution controls for cabs of 1975 and later; annual emission inspections of all passenger vehicles; a drastic reduction in midtown parking; emission control devices on all heavy duty vehicles; exclusive bus lanes with improved express service, and after hours delivery to stores, factories and office buildings.

Sausalito Group Wants Three Parcels Saved As Open Space

Ending a one-year study of Sausalito open space, a citizens committee asked the city last night to preserve 43.5 acres of green land in the city east of Highway 101.

The committee made its recommendations in a report to the Sausalito Planning Commission which set May 2 as the date to discuss the proposals.

In a report last year, the committee had already recommended preserving 160 acres on Wolfback Ridge west of the highway. This land is being considered for inclusion in the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

According to Dale Hawkins of the 11-member open space committee, the three new parcels include:

The south ridgelands, also called Hurricane Gulch — a 29.29-acre piece on the uphill side of Sausalito Boulevard just east of Highway 101. It's bounded on the south and southeast by the Marin headlands and on the north by Sausalito's Old Town.

Cypress Ridge — a 13.5-acre parcel forming a natural ridge between Nevada and Spring Street valleys. A proposal for a planned unit development for this property is already before the planning commission from developer Dan Coleman.

The Glen —a half-acre pocket of green space off Cazneau Avenue between Glen Drive and Currey Avenue.

Hawkins said this land represented about 3 per cent of the city's total area.

In the report some committee members give advice about the city's waterfront but do not specify any land to be preserved there.

Hawkins and Paul Meserve, who put the report together, suggest that the city promote low density building on and near the A. G. Schoonmaker Co. property, where a large waterfront development is proposed.

Planning director Herb Case told the commission that the committee report was not in the proper form for submitting as the state required open space element of the city general plan which must be passed by June 30. He said it needs more work from the staff in several areas, particularly in studying the waterfront and in suggesting what measures the city should use to preserve open space.

Study Asked On Impact Of Ferries

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night asked the city staff to arrange an environmental impact report for any enlarged downtown ferry terminal proposed by the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The unanimous action edges the city a little closer towards having the terminal, which has aroused much opposition.

Commissioners briefly debated the merits of a downtown terminal versus one in the city's northern Marinship section but all agreed that the downtown site is more attractive.

"One of the main purposes of the ferry is serving visitors," said commission chairman Robert L. Nissen. "Visitors are most interested in the downtown area, so the terminal should be in proximity to that area."

Commissioner Violetta Autumn asked that the report include data on the impact of the sizes of vessels coming into the terminal.

Soviets Suspend Emigration Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has notified the United States it has "suspended" its exit visa tax on citizens —including Jews — seeking to emigrate to other countries, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Wednesday.

Scott made the announcement to newsmen following a meeting between President Nixon and a group of senators on the question of congressional approval of "most favored nation" trade status for the Soviet Union.

An Unlucky Day At The Track

If horse racing is the Sport of Kings I had better wait a few days before going to the corner store to buy a crown.

I made a little trip to Golden Gate Fields in Albany yesterday to watch the ponies run and while I was there I thought I would put down a wager or two. I barely escapted with my shirt. Some of the horses I bet on are still running for the finish line. I think some of them had flashlights strapped to their sides in case they didn't finish before dark.

It was a very windy day, but clear. It was a dramatic match between the fast track and my slow mind, and I came out second best.

SINCE I HAD arrived at the track just before the start of the second race, I only had a couple of minutes to pick my horse. I chose Hathaway Pride and it finished second, giving me place money. After that race, since I then had time to fully use all of my handicapping skills, I never made it back to the cashier's window. It was always that other window where you give, not receive. It got so bad that I was cheering if my horse didn't finish dead last. At least my pick in the third, Purple Majesty, was only sixth.

My horse in the fourth race, a long shot by the name of Silly Pud, finished next to last. Then in the fifth race, a horse I had figured was a sure thing, Nobly Strive, also finished next to last, beating only Shapely Shill. It so happens that was an Exacta race and I had picked Nobly Strive and Shapely Shill to finish one-two. Maybe I was looking at my handicap sheet upside down.

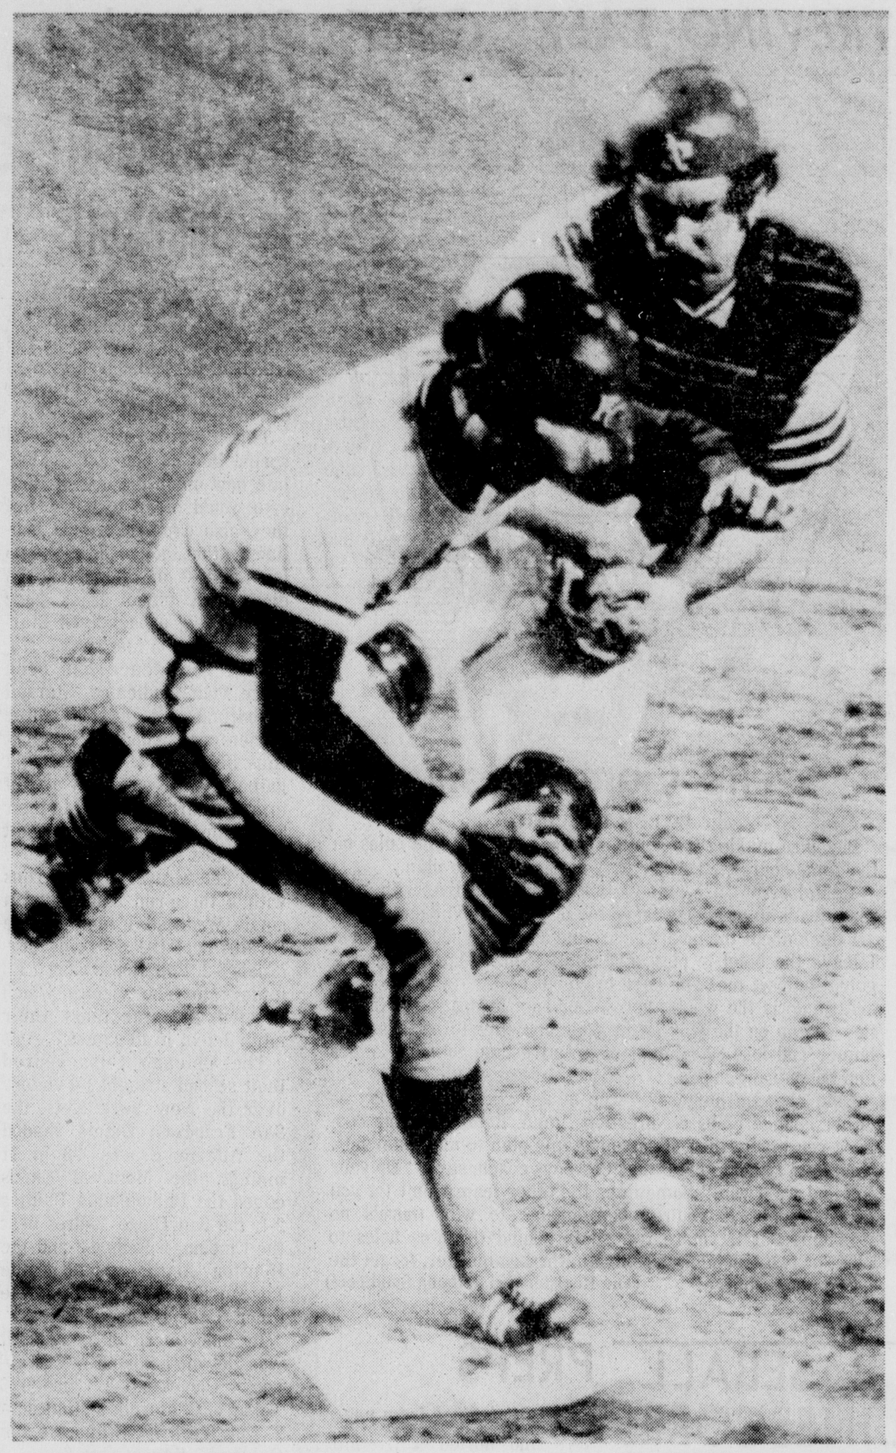
In the sixth race I couldn't make up my mind between Beau Dapper and B.Z. Nevada, finally choosing Beau Dapper. That horse, of course, finished sixth and B.Z. Nevada won. Oh well, it's only money.

MY HORSE in the seventh, Take Out, must have thought it was a show horse because it didn't look much like a race horse when it crossed the finish line last, some 20 or 30 lengths behind the winner, Go Doc Go. My horse finished sixth in the eighth race and with just one more chance, the ninth, I began to worry.

I studied the racing sheets in silence, knowing that this would have to be the one, this would have to be the race to bring me back. I decided on Classy Kim. It had won the last time out and the odds were good, 8 to 1. Well, it didn't win this time out. In a 12-horse field it finished 11th.

I SADLY LOOKED down at the stack of tickets in front of me, representing loser upon loser, race after race, and slowly started walking toward the exit. I had arrived at the track full of optimism, with thoughts of making a killing. Now I was leaving, hands thrust deep in empty pockets, head bowed. My gait had been reduced from a brisk walk to more of a shuffling of the feet. I looked around and saw that others had this same walk, the same blank stare.

But there at the entrance of the clubhouse was this hawker selling handicap sheets for the next day's races, yelling, "Get the handicaps for tomorrow's races!" and there was so much optimism in his voice. Ah. Tomorrow is another day, I said to myself as I picked up the pace and headed for the parking lot. Maybe next time.



COLLISION — Kansas City's Carl Taylor ran into Oakland catcher Ray Fosse, knocking the baseball loose to score in the fifth inning last night in Kansas City. Taylor advanced from first base on Cookie Rojas' double. Rojas scored from second when the ball skipped away from Fosse near home plate. The Royals went ahead on the play, 6-4, but the visiting A's rallied in the ninth to win, 7-6.

Warriors' Attles Makes Adjustments Vs. Lakers Tonight

Combined AP & UPI

LOS ANGELES — Golden State's Warriors return to the heartbreak arena tonight at 8 o'clock with coach Al Attles making adjustments to cope with Jim McMillian and keep his own team going a full 48 minutes. The game will be televised on Channel 44.

"We've made adjustments," commented Attles without saying what they are following the 37-point outburst by ex-Columbia star McMillian for the defending champion Los Angeles Lakers in the opening game of the best-of-seven Western title playoffs in the National Basketball Association.

Attles could only talk to his Northern California players about the turnovers which allowed the Lakers to come from a nine-point deficit midway in the fourth quarter Tuesday night and win 101-99 on Jerry West's 15-foot jumper with eight seconds left.

"We gave that game away," commented Attles who hoped the generosity of his club had ended.

The match-up in the first game was McMillian, 23, a third-year pro, against veteran Rick Barry, 28, and the younger man had all the advantage. Barry collected five fouls, scored only 17 points and threw a key pass out of bounds with 28 seconds remaining.

That allowed the Lakers to inbound and West, after a disappointing evening, got the ball for his baseline shot that swished Los Angeles into the lead.

The Lakers, in their Forum, have won their past two games in the final half-minute of play. Gail Goodrich's lay-up after a Wilt Chamberlain block brought a 95-92 victory over stubborn and rugged Chicago in the finale of the opening series.

Jeff Mullins of the Warriors maintains his club is superior to the Lakers overall despite the first game loss, but he admits that the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain is tough in the stretch drive and West always has been a clutch performer.

"We were very tired in that first game," commented Laker coach Bill Sharman in hopes the day off will rest his charges. They went the full seven games against the muscular Bulls of Chicago while Golden State surprised favored Milwaukee 4-2 and thus had additional rest.

"I think we're more emotionally than physically tired," Sharman said.

While Attles attempts to figure a counter to the 6-foot-5 McMillian, Sharman tries to come up with an answer to the long-pass, fast-break attack of the Warriors.

"We've also got to be quicker and tougher," commented Sharman who credited experience for the comeback of the Lakers who outscored Golden State 19-8 in the final 7:05.

Neither coach indicated a change in lineups for the second game, but Golden State must reduce its fouls. Nobody fouled out with six in the opener but Barry and Cazzie Russell had five apiece while Jim Barnett, Clyde Lee and Nate Thurmond had four each.

GIRLS IN SPORTS

Ruling Prompts Different Views

By LEW CODDINGTON

The California Interscholastic Federation's decision to allow girls to participate in all high school sports which were previously limited to boys is "a healthy thing," "a farce," a legal ploy or a puzzle, depending on who is talking.

"It will be a real benefit to the relationship between boys and girls. It's a healthy thing," said Dr. Peter Palches, principal of San Rafael High School.

"It's a farce. I don't see where it's going to accomplish anything," said Al Scott, head football coach and athletic director at Novato High.

"The CIF was just trying to stay out of court," said Myrna Reed, coordinator of girls sports at Redwood High.

"We're going to have to wait until the CIF sends out a statement explaining the ruling," said Al Ahlsten, athletic director at Tamalpais High, echoing the consensus.

The CIF decided Tuesday in a special meeting in San Francisco to permit girls to "try out for any boys team," in the words of commissioner William F. Russell. This includes teams in contact sports such as football, and holds true regardless of whether or not a girls team already exists at a school in the sport. It will be effective July 1, so its full impact will not be felt until school reconvenes following summer vacation.

Several court suits have been filed in California the past year on behalf of girls who wanted to compete on boys teams, most but not all at schools which had no girls programs in the sport in question.

The rules change left in doubt the status of the girls programs in Marin, considered by those involved the finest in the state. Varsity teams currently compete in the Marin County Athletic League in badminton, basketball, gymnastics, tennis, track and field, swimming, and volleyball.

These teams could be depleted by top players moving on to the boys teams, or could be diluted by boys attempting to join them. "Why couldn't a fourth-string boys basketball player try out for the girls team under this ruling?" wondered Penny Wollan, girls athletic director at San Rafael.

"If the good girls players move on to the boys teams, it will hurt the girls teams (in the standings) and thereby penalize the other girls on the girls team," said Scott.

"I think we're finally going to end up with some girls teams, some boys teams and some co-ed teams," said Ahlsten.

Mrs. Reed, a member of the State Girls and Women's Sports Competition Committee of the California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation (CAHPER), said that body took a position in a meeting in San Diego over the weekend which conflicts with

A's Tenace Homers; Back To Old Tricks

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Gene Tenace is back to his old tricks.

Last year's World Series hero hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning Wednesday night to lift the Oakland Athletics to a 7-6 victory over Kansas City and snap the Royals' four-game winning streak.

After Reggie Jackson led off the ninth with a single, Sal Bando struck out and Tenace slammed his third homer of the season off loser Bruce Dal Canton. Last year Tenace hit only five homers during the regular season and got four against the Cincinnati Reds in the World Series.

Kansas City and Oakland go at it again tonight with right-hander John Odom (0-2) of the A's scheduled to hurl against Paul Splittorff (2-0).

Oakland jumped to a 4-0 lead in the second inning on run-scoring singles by catcher Ray Fosse and Dick Green and Joe Rudi's two-run single.

Kansas City fought back against A's starter Jim Hunter with Ed Kirkpatrick's three-run homer in the second, a solo blast by Cookie Rojas in the third and two unearned runs in the fifth.

Relief pitcher Horacio Pina retired the final 13 Royal batters in order to gain the victory for Oakland.

Green's relay throw to catcher Fosse beat Taylor but the Kansas City catcher separated Fosse from the ball with a perfectly timed block. Rojas also scored on the play when

RADER'S GEM

Unassisted Doubleplay Key In Giants' Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Okay baseball fans, when is the last time you saw a big league catcher make an unassisted doubleplay by catching a popup in front of the plate and racing to second base?

Unless you were in Candlestick Park Wednesday and saw Dave Rader of the San Francisco Giants pull it off, chances are it never before has happened except perhaps in some obscure sandlot game.

Rader's baseball rarity choked off a budding Atlanta rally in the top of the 11th inning. In the bottom of the frame, Bobby Bonds lined his third homer of the season after one out to give the Giants a 4-3 victory.

The Giants' win, coupled with Cincinnati's 4-2 loss to San Diego last night, enabled San Francisco to regain first place in the National League's Western Division.

Veteran Giants scout and former big league pitcher Tom Sheehan, 79, former big league pitcher Walter Mails, 77, former baseball writer and Giants publicist Garry Schumacher, 72, and Giants owner Horace Stoneham, who will be 70 in a few days, all saw Rader's unassisted doubleplay and all four swear it was a first for them.

In fact, all four said they never even heard of a play like it ever happening and veteran National League publicist Dave Grote, a baseball trivia expert, said he is "sure" it never occurred before in a big league game.

Sonny Jackson started the Braves' 11th by lining a single to right. Johnny Oates then sent a possible doubleplay roller to second baseman Tito Fuentes, who bobbled the ball with Jackson making it safely to second and Oates to first.

Tom House, a relief pitcher, was the next batter and the Braves gambled on the first pitch by having Jackson break for third and Oates for second.

The Giants anticipated the play and had third baseman Domie Blanco and first baseman Dave Kingman breaking for the plate to field House's anticipated sacrifice bunt with shortstop Chris Speier racing to cover third and Fuentes sprinting to cover first.

House popped up the pitch from reliever Jim Barr and the ball cleared his head and Rader's by less than five feet directly in front of home plate.

Rader grabbed the ball quickly, took a quick look at second

Redwood, Tam Win In Baseball Tilts

Redwood and Tamalpais high school baseball teams wound up with respective 3-1 and 2-1 records in tournament play this week.

The Giants of Redwood defeated Bullard of Fresno in a tournament in that city yesterday, 5-3, and Tamalpais won third place trophy after whipping Lincoln High of San Francisco, 8-2, yesterday in the Terra Nova Holiday Tournament in Pacifica.

Marin Catholic High opened play in the Soquel Boosters Tournament yesterday with a 4-1 defeat to Soquel High. The 'Cats continue play in that tourney today, with an opponent to be determined in morning action.

Redwood ran its overall record to 16 wins and 3 losses by winning its final tourney game yesterday. Gene Frey was the winning pitcher but needed relief help in the sixth. Center fielder Mike Connor led the hitting for Redwood with three hits in four at bats and two runs batted in.

Novato Wins Santa Rosa Title By Edging Ukiah Baseballers

By PAUL DWORIN

SANTA ROSA — Jeff Pond scored on a wild pitch in the seventh inning last night to give Novato High School a 2-1 victory over Ukiah and the championship of the sixth annual Santa Rosa Invitational Baseball Tournament.

With two out in the bottom of the seventh, Pond walked. Stan Conte followed with a single down the third base line, and Pond went to third. Dan Metzger was then walked to load the bases, bringing up Tom Conklin, who had struck out twice previously.

Ukiah pitcher Tom Walker missed his third strikeout attempt on Conklin when he threw his fastball into the dirt past catcher Kelvin Chapman, allowing Pond to score while the sparse Doyle Park crowd cheered. Walker was spiked on the play and had to be helped from the field.

"I'm really happy," Novato assistant coach Tom Corder commented after the game. "The kids hustled and it was truly a team effort."

It was definitely a Hornet team effort, but pitcher Ray Stratford deserves much of the credit for the victory. Stratford came off the bench with no outs in the second inning and a runner on third in relief of starter Joe Robinson, who "felt something pull" in his shoulder and was removed from the game.

Stratford then finished the game, allowing just one hit while fanning seven Wildcats and walking four. "It was a super job by Stratford," Corder said. "He just walked off the bench cold and shut them out."

Ukiah started the scoring in the first inning on a lead-off single by Dan Burton followed by a Walker double to left field. The Wildcats threatened again in the second, but Stratford came in to squelch the threat.

The Hornets tied the game at one in the fourth inning on an unearned run. Ken Ferrari hit a two out single and reached second when the left fielder over ran the ball. Scott Harrington brought him home with a single to center.

Rader's Big Play A Key To Victory

and then began sprinting for second as Jackson remained frozen at third. Rader easily got to second before Jackson could react to complete the doubleplay.

"I don't know what happened to Jackson," said the Giants' little catcher. "But by the time I got to the mound I knew I could beat him to second. I wanted to throw the ball to somebody, anybody, but there was no one at second so I decided to make the play myself."

Jackson said he became confused.

"I didn't know House had popped up the ball," said the Atlanta shortstop. "I had my head down and was running. I thought it was kind of funny for Rader to be running to second and by the time I realized what had happened, it was too late to do anything about it."

Barr then struck out Rod Gilbreath to complete the Atlanta 11th and Bonds ended the three hour, 13-minute game with his homer. The blow rewarded Barr, who pitched 4 1-3 innings of relief on top of a four-inning stint the day before, with his first victory of the season.

"I never expected to hit a homer in that spot," said Bonds. "I was looking to hit the ball past the third baseman who was playing me in a little closer than usual. Then I got his big curve and the ball went out."

The Giants scored twice in the first off Braves starter Carl Morton and got another run in the second and had Morton on the ropes. But Morton recovered and, after the Braves tied the score in the fourth, he was unbeatable, retiring the last 13 batters he faced in order with only one ball getting out of the infield.

Sam McDowell started the game for the Giants and breezed through the first three innings with one hit and four strikeouts. But in the fourth, he lost his touch, walking three batters, two of whom scored on a single by Morton and a third on a passed ball.

"I don't know what happened," said McDowell. "I was going good and then seemed to lose my touch. I'm encouraged, though, because for the first time I threw the ball real hard and seemed to be in control of the game. Maybe next time I can go a little farther."

Giants Manager Charlie Fox attributed McDowell's running out of steam in the fourth to a lack of work.

The Giants go to Los Angeles tonight for the start of a four-game weekend series with their old rivals. Juan Marichal pitches tonight against Claude Osteen. Tonight's 8 o'clock affair will be televised on Channel 2.

NBA Playoff Series Has A Big Reversal

NEW YORK (UPI) — "How can two teams so evenly matched have such a reversal in form?", New York center Jerry Lucas wondered aloud.

The Knicks, beaten by 26 points 134-108 last Sunday, turned the game around Wednesday night and crushed Boston by 33 points 119-96, Boston's worst defeat in 216 playoff games. The previous were 24 point setbacks by Philadelphia in 1967 and San Francisco in 1964.

Coach Red Holzman developed a strategy to hold the Celtic guards in check and it worked as he put Walt Frazier, Earl Monroe and Dave DeBusschere deep in Boston territory to harass the Celts. DeBusschere was the key as he intercepted several passes and then turned into a one-man scoring machine, hitting New York's first seven points.

"Dave was instrumental in getting us off to a quick start," said Frazier, who led all scorers with 24 points. "We wanted to pressure them at the beginning. We concentrated on defense because that's what hurt us last time. We picked them up about three-quarters of the way and shut off (Jo Jo) White."

White scored 30 points in the first game but was held to 15 as New York tied the National Basketball Association Eastern Division best-of-seven series at 1-1. White scored 11 in the first half Wednesday but also picked up four fouls and sat out the third quarter. John Havlicek, a 26-point scorer Sunday, was limited to 21.

The statistics revealed what it was all about. New York hit on 58.4 per cent of its shots and Boston was held to 39.4. The Celtics hit 57.3 Sunday.

"We didn't take the good shots," moaned Celtic Coach Tom Heinsohn. "We lost our poise in the very beginning when we missed four layups."

Heinsohn said the turning point of the game was in the second period when he inserted Henry Finkel for Dave Cowens after the starting center picked up his third foul.

In just 1:17, the Knicks ran off eight quick points, with Reed beating Finkel for three baskets and Phil Jackson getting the other goal. The burst put the Knicks in front 46-28 and set the New York express moving in high gear.

The third game in the series is scheduled for Boston Friday night and the teams return here Sunday afternoon for the fourth game.

Billy Cunningham and Willie Wise showed just why they're American Basketball Association All-Stars Wednesday night.

Cunningham, playing with a sprained back, scored 32 points to lead the Carolina Cougars to a 102-91 victory over the Kentucky Colonels in the Eastern Division playoffs and Wise collected 28 points, including the winning basket with 58 seconds left, as the Utah Stars edged the Indiana Pacers 104-103 in the western playoffs.

The victories left both best-of-seven series tied at two games apiece.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

The Game Plan

By LEE TREVINO

If you're making the same mistakes on the same holes on the same course, let's face it. You need a game plan.

Mental errors are part of this game. You live with 'em. The idea is to not make the same ones over and over.

I think about the next day's round as I lie in bed. And when I leave the hotel to play, my mind is made up: Nothing is going to upset me. You have to go out cool.

Attitude is the whole secret. Don't let it bug you if traffic ties you up on the way to the course. Better to be in a good humor and lose 30 minutes of practice than to work longer and be snarling inside.

Plan ahead. That easy 6-iron you bunkered yesterday — either change clubs or directions, man. Remember the booboos you made, then alter your game plan to make amends.

As Tom Landry, the Dallas Cowboys coach, says: "Do your job and we'll win." Sometimes the other team won't let you do your job. If you're good enough to win, there's no problem. But if you're two shots behind the nine holes to play, or two touchdowns behind in the last quarter, forget the game plan. Charge! (The Register and Tribune Syndicate)

Pittsburgh Has Leader In Baseball

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It takes quite a man to replace Roberto Clemente as the leader of the Pittsburgh Pirates but, then again, that's a perfect description of Willie Stargell.

The Pirates admitted all spring that no one could calculate how much the loss of Roberto would mean to them. But they also expressed quiet confidence that they could make up for the loss of Clemente, who died in a plane crash New Year's Eve, especially if Stargell got off to a fast start.

That confidence has been more than vindicated. Stargell is batting .364, has hit three homers and knocked in eight runs in the Pirates' first eight games. As a result, they are off to a 7-1 start compared to their 5-3 record in their first eight games last season.

Stargell drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single Wednesday night as the Pirates beat the St. Louis Cardinals 8-2. Bob Moose went 7 1-3 innings for the victory which handed the Cardinals their ninth defeat in 10 games.

The Chicago Cubs scored their second straight 1-0 victory over the New York Mets, the San Francisco Giants shaded the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 11 innings, the Montreal Expos edged the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1, the San Diego Padres beat the Cincinnati Reds 4-2 and the Houston Astros defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2 in the other National League games.

In the American League, it was Detroit 7 Boston 1, Milwaukee 4 Cleveland 0, Chicago 6 Texas 5, California 3 Minnesota 2, New York 7 Baltimore 4 and Oakland 7 Kansas City 6.

Stargell sent the Pirates off to a 3-0 lead with his first-inning homer following a walk to Dave Cash and a single by Al Oliver and drove in a fourth run with a single in the eighth. Milt May drove in three runs with three hits and Oliver had four hits in five tries as the Pirates raked Rick Wise and two relievers for 12 hits.

Oklahoma Alters Record To 3-9

Recruiting Row Prompts Grid Team Forfeits

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — In a rare case of severe self judgment, the University of Oklahoma Wednesday changed its 1972 National Collegiate Athletic Association football record from 11-1 to 3-9.

Oklahoma forfeited eight victories—including a 14-0 Sugar Bowl decision over Penn State —recorded by last season's No. 2 team, and in doing so school officials made clear why the action was taken.

But left unsettled was who had prompted collegiate athletics' latest recruiting scandal and what future punishment might be coming to the Sooners.

The eight games were turned from wins to losses because freshman Kerry Jackson, the Sooners' No. 2 quarterback, had become eligible to play football at Oklahoma only because high school transcripts had been altered and because he had stayed in the athletic dormitory in Norman while still a student at Ball High School in Galveston, Tex.

Jackson played in each of the eight forfeited games—against Utah State, Oregon, Clemson, Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma State and Penn State. He ran for 339 yards from the Wishbone-T attack, completed 11-of-38 passes and had four throws intercepted.

Oklahoma Athletic Director Wade Walker said the transcript of another Ball High School student—Mike Phillips, had also been changed. Phillips, a center, played only on Oklahoma's freshman team last year.

Walker said both players would be ineligible for next season.

Jackson quarterbacked the

BILL MICHAEL
Coach resigns

No. 1 unit during the Sooners' spring training drills, but was expected to have to battle Scott Hill for the starting assignment next autumn.

Walker said Assistant Coach Bill Michael had admitted knowledge of the violations and had resigned. Coach Barry Switzer, who replaced Chuck Fairbanks earlier this year when Fairbanks became coach of the New England Patriots, said he knew of no other coaches involved.

But who tampered with the transcripts?

"I can only say this is under investigation," said Walker.

"I can't make any statement until our school superintendent returns to town," said the principal at Ball High School, Jim Watson.

Thus far, most of the investigative work has been done by Oklahoma University and the Big Eight Conference. The NCAA will now enter the investigation, and conceivably could forbid Oklahoma from participating in bowl games or —for the maximum punishment — bar the Sooners from playing football at all for one or more seasons

Hates To Bat Ninth

LEVITTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — New York Met shortstop Bud Harrelson told 600 Levittown Youth Council members at their annual sports day that he would hate "to bat ninth and that's where I'd bat if the National League used the designated hitter rule."

Gals' Participation In Sports Is Viewed

the measure finally adopted by the CIF.

"We recommended girls compete 'side-by-side' rather than 'face-to-face,' " she said, meaning confrontative situations such as football or singles tennis should be avoided, but situations such as track or swimming should be permitted.

"In no way do we feel girls are qualified for football, baseball, and sports like that," she said. "They don't have that strength and endurance at the high-school level.

"It's the women's fault for not providing adequate sports programs (statewide) for girls."

Under CIF regulations, individual sections and leagues have the power to make their own regulations as long as they are not less restrictive than the CIF's ruling.

The MCAL Board of Managers, the governing body consisting of the principals of the eight schools, will meet May 2. "I'm sure the ruling will be a topic of discussion at that meeting," said MCAL president Henry J. Moroski, principal of San Marin High.

The rules change also raised several practical administrative questions, such as protective equipment, medical care, and use of shower and locker rooms.

"I'll have to investigate the cost of protective equipment," said Ahlsten. "Padded bras and the like."

"I'll issue any girl who tries out for football the same equipment I'd issue a boy," said Scott. "If she needs anything else, she'll have to buy it herself."

"I don't think we're going to see girls on football, baseball and basketball teams," said Dr. Palches, "although that's a possibility.

"The real possibility is that girls will move onto teams like swimming, tennis, golf, maybe track, and compete on an equal basis with boys. A girl like Sharon Walsh (now a professional tennis player) would have been one of the top members of the varsity team. It would have been good competition for her and excellent for boys to realize that being male doesn't mean you are automatically a superior athlete.

"There is a kind of stereotype that the girl is the ultra-feminine cheerleader type on the sidelines and the boys are out there doing their all for the Bulldogs. I'd like to see a situation where a championship is at stake, say in mixed doubles in tennis, and the girls and boys will be pulling for each other as competitors."

the ball rolled behind home plate.

The play brought back memories of the 1970 All Star Game when Pete Rose bowled over Fosse to score the winning run. But Fosse got one of the runs back with a run-scoring single in the seventh before Tenace won the game.

Is Longer. But Not Obviously So.

Most button-downs these days flaunt lots of collar, and often the collar overshadows the man. This is not so with this New Purist by Sero. To be sure, this new button-down collar is longer. However, it doesn't dominate the shirt, nor the man who wears it.

Available in various fabric patterns or solid colors. Long or half sleeves. All in Sero's blend of wrinkle-free polyester and cotton.

3 Stellar Showings In Meets

Three of the Marin County Athletic League's best dash men turned in stellar performances last week, running the best times of the dual-meet season in all three events.

Steve Johnson of Terra Linda High School did the 100 in 10.1, Jim Grigg of San Rafael raced the 220 in 22.9, and Larry Butti of San Marin galloped the 440 in 51.9.

Redwood's Pete Sweeney, who virtually owns the two-mile run, lowered his time to 9:40.6, and the Giants' Darrell Elder, who has a similar lock on the discus, heaved the plate 162-4.

The best times and distances:

120 HH — Adams (T) and Campbell (SR), tie, 15.6; 440 relay — San Marin (Goins, Butti, Roche, Kassenbrock), 44.1; 880 — Cagle (N), 1:58.9; 100 — Johnson (TL), 10.1; Mile — Lathrop (SM), 4:28.6; 440 — Butti (SM), 51.9; 330 LH — Campbell (SR), 40.2; 220 — Grigg (SR), 22.9; Two-Mile — Sweeney (R), 9:40.6; Mile Relay — San Marin (Zechlin, Kenville, Guth, Metteer), 3:33.8; Shot Put — Elder (R), 56-10½; Discus — Elder (R), 162-4; High Jump — Mahoney (MC), 6-0; Long Jump — Bridges (N), 21-8; Pole Vault — Patterson (SR), 11-6; Triple Jump — Butti (SM), 41-5½.

Five Top Swim Times Turned In

Five of the year's best varsity dual-meet swimming times in the Marin County Athletic League were recorded Friday, four of them in Terra Linda High School's 49-46 upset of Redwood.

Keith Strange of the Trojans swam the 100-yard freestyle in 50.0 and the 100 breast in 1:02.3, while Spencer Eldred of the Giants did the 100 butterfly in 57.6 and the 200 free in 1:52.1.

Tamalpais' Dick Atwood swam the 100 back in one minute flat, a time unsurpassed at the varsity level, but beaten earlier by San Marin Class B swimmer Art Morrill (55.6).

Unlikely China In Olympics, Says Daume

MUNICH (UPI) — Willi Daume, vice-president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) said Wednesday that chances still were remote that Communist China would be allowed to participate in the 1976 summer Olympics in Montreal.

"China is still very critical of the IOC and thinks we owe it to them to correct what they call a blatant injustice, meaning we should kick out Taiwan in their favor," Daume said after recently returning from an official visit to China.

Finley's Columbus Hockey Team Is Bought By Savill

Combined AP & UPI

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Can Albert Savill succeed where Charles O. Finley failed?

Savill, 54, a Columbus financier, was announced yesterday as the new owner of the Columbus Golden Seals of the International Hockey League and he immediately promised "a winning team." He bought the franchise for around $50,000.

Finley, who also owns the world champion Oakland A's of the American League, the California Golden Seals of the National Hockey League and the Memphis Tams of the American Basketball Association, was unable in two years to produce anything resembling a winner here.

The 1971-72 Columbus team won 15, lost 55 and tied two and, despite high expectations, the 1972-73 club was worse, winding up with a 10-62 mark.

"I think I know what I'm getting into," Savill said after being introduced at a news conference by IHL commissioner Bill Beagan. "And I promise the people of Columbus a winning hockey team."

Beagan said the hockey fans of Columbus have gone through a "traumatic experience" the last two years, but he nevertheless expressed confidence in the future of the sport in the Ohio capital.

Beagan, who acted for Finley in the sale of the team, said final approval was needed by two-thirds of the members of the league Board of Governors for the sale but added he had "been assured" of that approfal.

Football

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Roman Gabriel won't be playing football for the Las Vegas Casinos this summer after all.

Negotiations aimed at allowing the veteran Los Angeles Rams quarterback to play eight games and pick up a reported $100,000 from the Las Vegas Casinos were broken off yesterday. But whether Gabriel will play for the Rams next season was unknown.

Gabriel still has two years left on a no-cut contract with the Rams but he has been unhappy since the club obtained John Hadl from the San Diego Chargers and he has asked to be traded to the Washington Redskins.

A joint statement by Gabriel's attorney, Ed Masry, and former football star Eddie LeBaron, counsel for the Casinos, said "legal questions" led to the end of negotiations for Gabriel's services.

OBERLIN, Ohio — Former New York Jets wide receiver George Sauer, who two years ago announced his retirement at the age of 27, will serve this fall as an unpaid offensive line coach at Oberlin College.

Sauer, who plans to move here later this summer to attend the college's Institute for the Study of Sport and Society, will work under the guidance of new head coach Cass Young Jackson. He also will teach seminars at the institute.

Sauer, a former University of Texas star, said he retired from the game as a player because of what professional football had become — "a mirror of the greed and commercialism of the modern world."

Basketball

NEW YORK — The National Basketball Association Board of Governors yesterday awarded Philadelphia a bonus first round draft and Seattle's second round picks in the 1973 and 1974 college draft as a result of the John Brisker case. The protracted meeting, which lasted nine hours, also caused this year's draft to be postponed from today to next Tuesday.

NEW YORK — Bob McAdoo of the Buffalo Braves was named today as the National Basketball Association's Rookie of the Year for the 1972-3 season by a landslide vote.

Boxing

General

LETS TALK ABOUT STEEL BELTED TIRES

There is an awful lot of talk about steel belted tires in tire ads today. I can tell from the phone calls I get people do not know what's going on. Cain's has been handling steel belted tires for 10 years - as new lines came out we picked the best, and added them to our Michelin X line.

MICHELIN X STEEL RADIALS

Our #1 line is MICHELIN X. There are a lot of steel radial ply tires coming on the market from domestic manufacturers - Michelin has made over 200 million steel belted tires - why be a testing ground for a company just coming out with a product Michelin has been manufacturing for 27 years. Note: The Sears All State Tire is made by Michelin - but I undersell Sears so badly it's kind of a "no contest".

A Slower Pace Seen For P&G

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What do you think of Procter & Gamble (NYSE) common stock? Should I hold or sell? — L.R.

A. This stock is currently trading at 26 times projected fiscal 1973 earnings versus an average multiple of 20 times for the past 14 years. Over the same decade and a half, the compound average annual growth rate has been maintained at 9 per cent. In view of the 8 per cent increase estimated for earnings this year, the higher than normal current P/E ratio may be due for some additional downward adjustment by the market.

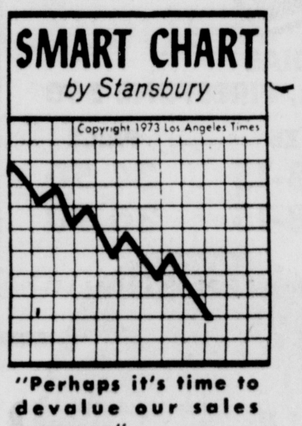
Supporting the view that P&G may be in a temporary adjustment period are: promotional costs for expanding marketing on four new products, a slowdown in population growth, restrictions from Phase III price controls and additional expenses from pollution control. If your goal is long-term growth, shares may be held. However, for shorter term accounts, sale is advised.

Q. If I purchase the long-term high yield bonds on your recommended list, I would have to pay $60 to $130 over face value. It seems to me that I could be left holding the proverbial "bag" if these were called in the next two to three years. What are the chances of this happening? — R.K.

A. In each case these recommended bonds offer some protection against redemption. Only one issue may be called in 1974, another is noncallable until 1980, the remainder are protected into 1975. Terms for redemption, however, vary with call prices well above face value. Under the various companies' sinking funds, a small percentage of debt is required to be called annually. Since this is usually a very small portion of the total debt covered by the fund, the chance of a call is minimal. In any case the holder is protected up to the earliest call date against sinking fund requirements. If you are concerned, you should check with your broker on the exact refund terms for any bond which you are considering buying.

Record For Alabama

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Gross income for Alabama farmers totaled a record $1,080,000,000 in 1972, surpassing the old record of $1 billion established in 1971, the State Agricultural Extension Service reports.



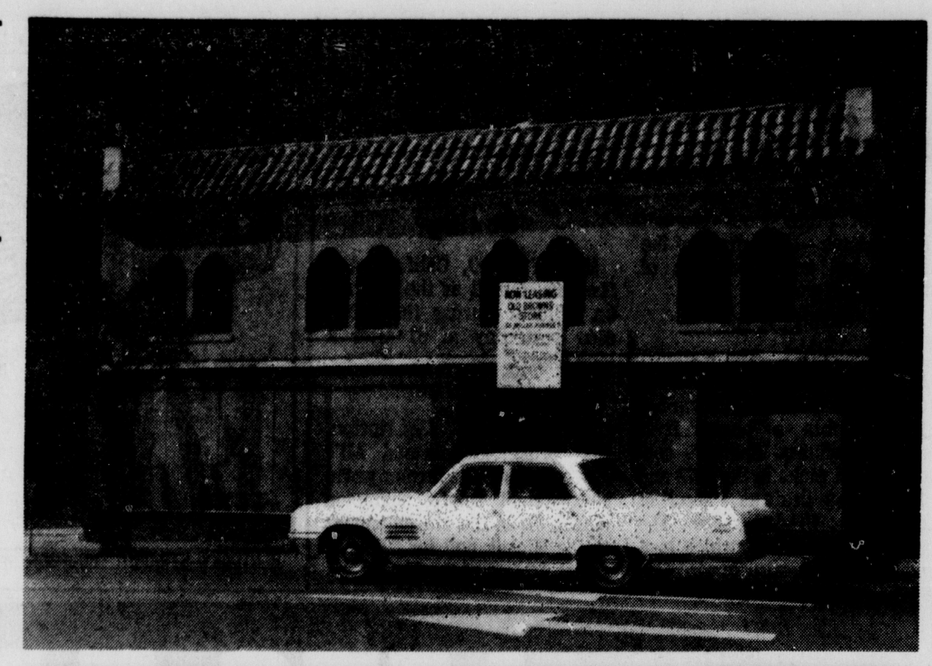
"Perhaps it's time to devalue our sales manager."

Stauffer Sets Earnings Mark

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Stauffer Chemical Co. achieved the highest quarterly sales and earnings in its history for the three months ended March 31, vice chairman Roger W. Gunder reported yesterday at the company's annual meeting.

Net sales for the quarter ended March 31 were $172,200,000 compared to the $145,683,000 recorded in the first quarter of 1972 — an increase of 18.2 per cent.

Net earnings for the quarter rose 75 per cent to $16,433,000, or $1.67 per share, from $9,389,000 or 94 cents per share. Reported for the same period last year. Per share earnings are based on the average number of common shares outstanding during the respective periods.



"LITTLE GHIRARDELLI"

Automation Equipment Is Ordered By Penney's

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (BW) — J.C. Penney Co. Inc. announced yesterday that it has placed an order with the Singer Co. for up to 10,000 Singer model 925 data terminals and 250 minicomputers.

Addressing a meeting of the St. Louis Society of Financial Analysts, Kenneth S. Axelson, vice president and director of finance and administration, called the Singer order the Penney Co.'s latest step toward achieving a full point-of-sale system.

First full store installation of the Singer 925 system anywhere in the United States will take place in August when J.C. Penney opens a new store in Matteson, Ill., just south of Chicago.

The company's point-of-sale program will now embrace both Singer and National Cash Register Co., with which Penney placed an order for NCR's 280 electronic terminals last year.

The company, according to Axelson, was a retailing pioneer in the development of automated merchandising systems when it introduced in 1962 its semi-automated stock control (SASC) system.

Early Gains On Market Are Sliced

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices leveled off after early gain today in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The early rise came in the face of statistics showing inflation rose 6 per cent during the first quarter.

First quarter earnings continued to how companies with strong improvements in earnings and were encouraging investors, brokers said. But, the government inflation figures were a depressing market influence, they added.

Early in the session, the government reported the gross national product rose 14.3 per cent on an annual rate but prices rose 6 per cent—well above the administration's goal.

International Telephone & Telegraph was the most active issue, off -⅞ at 36 on 128,300 shares. The company on Wednesday said the Internal Revenue Service said it may reconsider the ruling under which the merger of the Hartford Fire Insurance Group into ITT was tax-free to Hartford shareholders. The company said it would not adversely affect its earnings.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in moderate trading. Champion Home Builders was the most active issue, up ⅛ at 6 on 41,300 shares.

More Confidence Seen In Schools

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The nation's universities and business enterprises have suffered recent losses in public confidence but now seem to be gradually moving upward."

That's the opinion of Howard Morgens, chairman of the board of Procter & Gamble, who said that "If we are to have an orderly society, our institutions and our business enterprises must find some way to achieve mutual understanding."

Bond Vote Will Be Discussed

Questions about the upcoming bond election in the City of Sausalito will be answered by the city's bond counsel at a special meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

Kenneth Jones of the firm of Wilson, Jones, Morton and Lynch will appear at the session to discuss the June 12 election and the two bond measures to be presented to voters to finance a purchase of Central School as a new city hall and a piece of adjacent railroad land as a library site.

At its Tuesday meeting, the council had agreed to bring Jones to its meeting next Tuesday, but instead set a special session for tonight.

Environment Paper Drafted

A policy statement on conservation, ordered by the Belvedere City Council only two weeks ago, has been formulated by the Belvedere-Tiburon Committee for the Environment.

Its main thrust, according to committee publicist Diana J. Bradley, is to "keep Belvedere the way it is now, since we can't go back 10 years."

The four-page rough draft of the statement was presented Tuesday to committee members who will study it for a week to see if they have suggestions or additions. The group will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Belvedere Community Hall to approve a final version. It then will go to the city council.

The council on April 2 asked the committee to come up with the conservation statement, which will become an element of Belvedere's general plan when it is finished.

The element, Mrs. Bradley said, sets guidelines for maintaining the quality of Belvedere's environment — water, land and air. It recommends conserving natural resources, recycling wastes, avoiding pesticides and herbicides, resisting widening Tiburon Boulevard and Belvedere streets, maintaining low speed limits, keeping residential densities low and developing the city's paths and lanes to encourage walking.

Annual Boat Race Enlarged

Promoters of this year's Cascade Boat Race in Mill Valley have yielded to the inevitable and decided not to limit it to children under 12.

The races will begin at 11 a.m. Saturday in Old Mill Creek behind the Mill Valley Public Library.

There will be four categories of entrants: origami (paper boats dipped in wax for waterproofing), wooden boats, plastic boats and ready-made boats. For the first time, a special category will be set up for those older than 12.

The races are sponsored by the library in conjunction with National Library Week which ends Sunday. Entrants should sign up at the library before the races or at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Old Mill Park.

Hearing Set May 1 On Water Shortage

The North Marin County Water District board will conduct a second hearing on whether to declare a water shortage at 7:30 p.m. May 1 at the district office, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

Directors on March 6 voted 3-2 against declaring a shortage after a hearing which brought strong protests from developers and threat of an $8 million law suit.

Board members voted unanimously Tuesday night to hold another hearing.

Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson said the board also will have a hearing May 1 on raising the connection fee, now $300, and water rates, undetermined amounts. The board will have a special meeting to study fees and rates at 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the district office.

Directors awarded consulting engineer Russell L. Culp of South Lake Tahoe, a contract to design changes to the Stafford Lake Treatment plan, at a cost up to 10 per cent of the project, estimated from $218,000 to $278,000.

The board also awarded Charles B. Smith Inc., low bidder, of Novato, a contract to construct an addition to enlarge the district warehouse at a cost of $49,045.

Warren's Son Is Remarried

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Earl Warren Jr., a Municipal Court judge and son of former Gov. and U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren, was remarried Wednesday, eight days after his first marriage was dissolved.

His bride is the former Antoinette Mira Buerk, described in the marriage license as a 32-year-old widowed legal secretary.

The brief ceremony was conducted by Municipal Court Judge John J. Boskovich and witnessed by Warren's daughter, Wendy, 18, and a court clerk.

Warren, 42, is required to make $400-a-month support payments to his former wife of 17 years, Cleo. After lengthy litigation, he won custody of three of their four children.

30th Anniversary Of Ghetto Uprising Marked

WARSAW (UPI) — A chill rain and snow swept the Warsaw neighborhood where 30 years ago today a group of Jews rose up in armed resistance to Nazi attempts to deport them to gas chambers, the only such armed resistance by Jews during World War II.

Only about 200 persons braved the weather to observe 300 private individuals and representatives of various Polish organizations lay wreaths of red carnations at the base of a granite monument in the heart of the former ghetto on Warsaw's north side.

A spokesman for Poland's Jewish Cultural Association said no foreign groups were invited to attend the 20-minute ceremony marking the anniversary of the three-week Warsaw Ghetto uprising.

Accompanied by the slow drum roll of a military band, mem, women and children from various cities in Poland filed to the 30-foot-high monument to lay wreaths or simple bunches of flowers.

One delegation was led by Gen. Jozef Urbanowicz, vice minister of defense, another by several delegates from the Polish parliament. No high government or Communist party officials attended.

One other person who did not attend was Dr. Marek Edelman, the sole surviving leader of the uprising who still lives in Poland. He stayed at his home in Lodz, 70 miles from here, where he works as a cardiologist.

"It will be no holiday for me," Edelman said. "I have to go to work."

Edelman, now 53, was one of five young Jews who led the resistance against Nazi attempts to destroy Warsaw's ghetto in 1943 and to ship its 65,000 inhabitants to gas chambers.

Edelman and a small number of other people escaped from the ghetto through city sewers after the uprising collapsed in early May 1943. One other survivor now lives in Israel.

The remaining three of the five commanders died in the fighting that left the ghetto levelled and empty.

"It was luck that we got out," Edelman said. "Luck and nothing else."

The subdued ceremonies marking the anniversary included an evening of music, poetry recitation and speeches Wednesday night in Warsaw's National Philharmonic.

Only a few foreign guests attended, none as part of organized groups.

Poland's pre-war Jewish population was estimated to be 3.5 million. As a result of Nazi killings and postwar migrations, that figure has been reduced to 15,000.

Owner Of Dog Must Pay For Road Accident

LONDON (UPI) — A court ordered Richard Jolly, 18, to pay $12,000 in damages Wednesday because his dog caused a highway accident.

The court said Jolly was responsible for walking his labrador without a leash.

As they reached the road, the labrador spotted two other dogs and chased them into a line of traffic. A woman driver hit and killed the dog and then swerved into an oncoming truck, seriously injuring her grandmother, a passenger in the car.

The court awarded the grandmother $20,000 damages for her injuries and said Jolly should pay 40 per cent of this amount. The woman driver was made liable for the rest.

FIRST SALMON A FINE CATCH

Zeke Grader of the Ocean Traders Co. in Sausalito hefts this huge King salmon, part of the first salmon catch of the season which began Sunday. The boat Sandra Linn owned by Turi Larsen of San Rafael steamed into Sausalito yesterday with 1,500 pounds of the fish caught in two and one half days off the Farallon Islands, Half Moon Bay and Pt. Reyes. King salmon average about nine pounds each but get heavier later in the season, which ends in late September, said Thomas Stupp of Ocean Traders.

Economy Is Showing Unsurpassed Growth

Rising Prices Credited With Triggering Boom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pushed by sharply rising prices, the economy exploded in the first three months of this year and expanded at a rate unmatched since the inflation-plagued Korean War years, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said the economy, as measured by the Gross National Product (GNP), rose at an annual rate of 14.3 per cent in the first quarter. Prices rose at a hefty 6 per cent, sharply higher than in the previous quarter and well above the administration's anti-inflation goal.

The first quarter increase, which totaled $40.6 billion, was the sharpest quarterly gain in GNP since a 14.7 per cent advance in early 1951 when the nation was in the midst of Korean War production.

The quarterly increase was equaled in the first three months of 1971 when the economy was rebounding from the effects of the General Motors' strike.

The GNP is the value of the nation's total output of goods and services and is the broadest measure of the health of the economy. Today's report was preliminary and will be revised next month when more figures are available.

But the initial report indicates that the economy is growing much faster than the administration wants and could be headed for a sharp downturn unless inflation is brought under control.

The first quarter increase brought GNP to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1,235.5 billion ($1.2 trillion). In the fourth quarter, GNP rose at an 11 per cent annual rate.

The department said "real", or non-inflated growth in the January-March period was 7.9 per cent, about the same pace as the last three months of 1972. But the 6 per cent inflation rate followed a 2.8 per cent rate in the three previous months, reflecting a sharp upsurge in prices across the economy since the first of the year.

Discounting the effects of pay increases for federal workers, which are included in the GNP inflation column, the price increase figure for the first quarter still was 5.5 per cent at an annual rate, well above the administration's 3 per cent 1973 forecast.

Both administration and private economists have warned that the economy may be overheating and the GNP report would appear to confirm these fears. A fast-moving economy following a recession is fine. Then there is idle manpower and unused plant capacity ready to be put to work.

However, the economy has been expanding for about two years and much of the slack has disappeared. Shortages are developing, inventories are depleted, back orders are piling up and unemployment is edging down.

If the boom continues under these conditions, the shortages in manpower and goods will force wages, prices and interest rates higher still.

Vote Total Said Extremely Low

Voter turnout in 20 races contested at the polls in Marin Tuesday averaged 35.7 per cent, the county elections office reported today.

County Clerk George Gnoss described the result as "exceptionally low" and said he was at a loss to explain it.

With a number of spirited school board races and pivotal elections for the San Rafael City Council and a Marin Municipal Water District board seat, "there was enough to warrant a higher turnout," he said.

Turnout ranged from 21.40 per cent in the Reed School District to 49.35 per cent in the Lagunitas School District.

In San Rafael, where a six-way race was conducted for two city council seats, 40.99 per cent of the city's registered voters went to the polls. The turnout in Division Four of the Marin Municipal Water District, where conservationist L. Martin Griffin Jr. was a landslide winner, totaled 39.23 per cent.

Normally the turnout percentages would have been available election night, but the county elections office used new tabletop computers to county ballots. The machines did not produce readily available turnout statistics.

Figures supplied today by the elections office for the 20 races are:

San Rafael City Council election and charter amendments, 40.99 per cent turnout, 8,945 out of 22,094 voting; San Rafael Board of Education, 36.26 per cent, 10,850 out of 29,926; Marin Municipal Water District (Division Four), 39.23 per cent, 6,677 out of 17,019; Fairfax public safety bond issue, 36.31 per cent, 1,566 out of 4,313.

Novato flood bond issue, 32.39 per cent, 5,432 out of 16,773; San Anselmo open space bond issue, 37.23 per cent, 2,834 out of 7,613; Bolinas-Stinson School District, 45.19 per cent, 569 out of 1,259; Dixie School District, 36.7 per cent, 3,656 out of 9,962; Fairfax School District, 34.43 per cent, 1,701 out of 4,953; Kentfield School District, 34.07 per cent, 2,404 out of 7,057; Lagunitas School District, 49.35 per cent, 1,032 out of 2,091.

Larkspur School District, 31.08 per cent, 2,341 out of 7,533; Marin County Board of Education (Area Three), 35.92 per cent, 6,261 out of 17,430; Mill Valley School District, 35.96 per cent, 5,637 out of 15,675; Novato Unified School District, 32.28 per cent, 5,413 out of 16,770; Reed School District, 21.40 per cent, 1,629 out of 7,619; Ross School District, 38.15 per cent, 700 out of 1,835; San Anselmo School District, 34.77 per cent, 3,161 out of 9,090, and Tamalpais High School District, 31.39 per cent, 19,807 out of 63,093.

New Seat Belt Safety System

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite opposition from the auto industry, the government announced today it will require 1974 cars to be designed so that the engine cannot be started unless the seat belt is buckled.

Known as the "interlock system," the safety standard requires front seat passengers to connect a lap-and-shoulder belt combination before the car can be started.

The safety standard is effective on cars manufactured after Aug. 15, 1973.

Minesweep Operations Are Halted

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The United States for the second time since the Jan. 27 signing of the Vietnam cease-fire has suspended mine clearing operations in North Vietnamese waters, the Pentagon announced today, and Hanoi labeled the move a "blatant violation" of the truce.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim told a news conference in Washington the mine-sweeping operations were suspended "because of the failure of the other side to abide by the agreements and assurances of Paris..." and "because of continued cease-fire violations by the other side in South Vietnam and Laos...."

Friedheim would not elaborate further and did not say when the mine clearing operations were halted, but Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency (VNA) monitored today in Saigon said the U.S. Navy suspended the mine sweeping Tuesday and said the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry has issued a statement denouncing the move as a "blatant violation" of the Paris agreement ending the Vietnam war.

Friedheim made his references to cease-fire violations in Laos and South Vietnam after U.S. sources in Vientiane said American bombing in Laos halted Wednesday after two days of new air strikes there to counter Communist truce violations and more post-truce fight-

Kleindienst Pulls Out Of Watergate Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said today he has disqualified himself from further investigating the Watergate case. His announcement followed a report that a former presidential aide has acknowledged helping plan the bugging with John N. Mitchell and White House counsel John W. Dean.

Kleindienst said he made his decision Sunday, one day after Jeb Stuart Magruder, President Nixon's deputy campaign manager last year, is reported to have told federal prosecutors of his role in the bugging affair and to have named Mitchell and Dean as co-planners.

In another development, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., a member of the special Senate committee investigating the Watergate episode, said a locked cabinet containing his records on the incident was found open this morning and that he assumed it had been broken into "unless these drawers sprang open by themselves." The cabinet has a combination lock.

Kleindienst, in a statement issued by the Justice Department, said he was advised Sunday "of information which relates to persons with whom I have had a close personal and professional relationship" and concluded "it would be entirely inappropriate for me to exercise control over the sensitive matters being developed by the Justice Department in connection with the Watergate investigation."

"Accordingly, I recused myself from participation in any phase of the investigation and I requested on that date that Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen exercise my full responsibilities in this matter," Kleindienst said, adding that Petersen now "is responsible only to the President."

The word recuse means to remove oneself because of personal interest.

Kleindienst gave no clue to

Wounded Knee Talks Are Stalled Again

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Negotiations between the government and the occupiers of Wounded Knee were at a standstill today following a government warning that federal officers would respond quickly to a repeat of Tuesday's exchange of gunfire.

"The position of the U.S. marshals is that they will not subject themselves to that kind of planned assault on all positions at once without returning fire more quickly," said Stanley Pottinger, the chief federal negotiator at the Pine Ridge Reservation village.

Court Order Is Obtained To Force Water Hookups

A San Rafael firm yesterday obtained a court order forcing the Marin Municipal Water District to grant a water hookup to the 292 units it plans near the Marin Civic Center or appear in court to explain why it shouldn't.

Presiding Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court gave the district the choice after San Rafael attorney Albert Bianchi filed suit for the McCarthy Co., alleging the water district's board has been illegally manipulating water to control growth.

It was the first legal challenge to the board policy of controlling growth by controlling water. The election of Dr. L. Martin Griffin of Kentfield Tuesday appeared to insure that policy favored by directors Ronald T. Stafford and Jack R. Felson.

Stafford and Felson, according the suit, are "directly responsible" for the district's refusal to grant a water hookup for the project on North San Pedro Road, which the city of San Rafael has approved.

Their opposition votes deadlocked the shorthanded board 2-2 when the issue reached a vote April 5, according to the suit.

"The suit calls the ruling a "prejudicial abuse of discretion... based solely on the personally held views of two members of the board."

Furthermore, according to Bianchi, the application was not given a fair hearing since no standard was used to judge it and no findings were made.

The suit asks only for a ruling on the validity of the district's refusal to give any water to the 54-acre Foothill Oaks project, but Bianchi indicated he may later ask for damages as well.

The water board has yet to act on a claim by the developer for $1.4 million in profits it claims it will lose and $300,000 it allegedly has invested so far.

Such claims, preludes to lawsuits, are routinely rejected by governments.

Quentin Inmates Found Guilty Of Murder In 'Longest Trial'

By LARRY MOWELL

As their supporters wept, two San Quentin inmates accused of murdering a prison guard and assaulting another convict, were declared guilty yesterday after what Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson called "the longest criminal jury trial in Marin County history."

The tearful scene following the verdict against Earl Billy Gibson and Lawrence Justice climaxed 61 days of trial inside a heavily protected Marin courtroom.

Judge Wilson said he could not recall a longer criminal trial in the county and thanked everyone involved "for the manner in which the case was presented." The case had none of the histrionics or hysterics that have surrounded other long trials in recent years.

The audience of 15 yesterday was one of the largest of the trial. Spectators, who were searched electronically and physically before entering the courtroom, usually were outnumbered by the approximately 12 prison guards and sheriff's deputies called in daily to provide security.

A $30,000 bulletproof glass wall, completed just before jury selection began in December, separated the audience from the trial. The shield and an $11,000 television arrangement were the first of the costs, which have not been added up yet.

The auditor-controller's office said it will be a week before the costs are computed. The state will pick up most of the bill.

The verdict, which hinged on the testimony of inmates, appeared to daze defense attorneys, but the two 28-year-old convicts remained impassive, except when they flashed clenched fist salutes to the audience as prison guards led them from court.

The jury of seven women and five men started deliberating Monday and listened most of Tuesday to a reading of testimony before finding that the pair had assaulted inmate Herman Johnson with knives July 19, 1971, then had killed guard Leo G. David as he guarded Johnson's hospital cell two days later.

Marvin Stender, one of two defense attorneys, said afterward that "of course" there will be an appeal.

Johnson, a target because he offered to testify against other black inmates at Soledad Prison, testified the two attacked him on a deserted stairway near the prison athletic field, but he fought them off.

Through the food slot of his hospital cell, Johnson said, he saw three men, including Justice and Gibson, repeatedly stab Dvis.

However, the defense called other inmates, who said Justice and Gibson were elsewhere when the assaults took place.

Judge Wilson scheduled sentencing of the two Los Angeles men for May 4. Gibson already is serving a life term for a first degree burglary in Los Angeles in 1965. Justice is in San Quentin for an indeterminate time for two felony assaults and grand theft in 1968 in Los Angeles.

Meany Charges Teamsters Out To Break Farm Workers Union

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany accused the Teamsters Union Wednesday of a "unionbusting" drive to wipe out the United Farm Workers Union by signing contracts with California grape growers and pledged his support to the farm workers.

"The Teamsters union-busting drive would be absolutely disgraceful under any circumstances," Meany said, "but for the nation's largest union to seek to destroy this small, struggling union, representing some of the most exploited workers in the nation, is intolerable."

Meany pledged the full support of the AFL-CIO to the UFW and its president, Cesar Chavez. He instructed William Kircher, AFL-CIO director of organization, to accompany Chavez back to California and to "give the farm workers all the assistance we can provide."

The embattled Chavez Tuesday had urged a congressional investigation of Teamster efforts to sign up grape growers, and Meany supported this. Chavez charged the Teamsters with making illegal payments to growers.

Teamster President Frank E. Fitzsimmons replied: "I look upon the charges as another effort by Cesar Chavez to represent farm workers with propaganda, libel and slander, instead of collective bargaining know-how. This is not the first time he has given farm workers a sideshow instead of union representation."

Fitzsimmons said the Teamsters were simply offering the growers a "superior" contract.

The 2 million member Teamsters Union was expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1957 on corruption charges.

Chavez met with AFL-CIO officials at the federation's headquarters but said he was unable to see Meany personally.

"We got what we wanted here," Chavez told reporters as he left the AFL-CIO building to catch a plane for California.

"We're patient," he said of the struggle with the Teamsters. "We'll fight as long as it takes. We are confident of success. The American people will not stand by and let the Teamsters destroy our union. They're not going to get away with that."

Tennessee Hits Theory Of Evolution

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Tennessee Senate, fearful that national television cameras might record a "barefoot" image, voted quickly and without debate yesterday to prohibit the teaching of Charles Darwin's theory of evolution as fact.

After Lt. Gov. John Wilder sternly warned the gallery packed with school children against any outburst, the measure was passed 28-1 and dispatched to the House, where its sponsor predicted similar approval.

"I expect it will receive the same treatment in the House," said State Sen. Milton Hamilton. "You don't ever expect opposition when you have a good bill."

"The reason there wasn't any debate is that the national TV came down here with the idea they would make us look like a bunch of nitpickers," said Hamilton. "You know, like barefoot Tennesseans."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

A Flood Threat

MORGAN CITY, La. (UPI) — National Guard troops and local citizens are working 24 hours a day trying to build up levees on the Atchafalaya River before overflow water released from the Mississippi swells into the area tomorrow.

Water rose dangerously close to the top of the levee yesterday. Gov. Edwin Edwards called out 600 National Guardsmen, declared parts of southern Louisiana in a state of emergency and told residents to be prepared to evacuate if necessary.

The rising water in the Atchafalaya was caused by recent heavy rains, unusually high Gulf tides and the release of overflow water from the Mississippi River through the Morganza Spillway upstream.

Issues Challenge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jane Fonda said yesterday there are no grounds to believe former POWs when they say they were tortured by the North Vietnamese and she defied them to prove it.

"We have no reason to believe that U.S. Air Force officers tell the truth," she said.

"They are professional killers."

She said she would "eat her words" if the liberated POWs could prove their torture stories in an open forum, where they could be questioned or in a court of law.

The Vietnamese are "a gentle people," she said.

Bandit Slain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mace Brown, a convicted murderer and bank robber on the FBI "10 most wanted list," was shot to death by police yesterday as he bolted, with gun blazing, from a Harlem bank he and two accomplices had held up.

Brown, 30, who had escaped from a Washington, D.C. jail, and the two others forced 42 hostages to sit on the floor for two hours before Brown ran out of the Chase Manhattan Bank branch.

The other two, identified as Kenneth Kelly, 26, New York, and Herman Holiday, 33, Newark, N.J., surrendered to a patrolman and a newsman when police guaranteed they would not be shot when they came out.

A Catholic Charge

BELFAST (UPI) — Roman Catholics accused British soldiers today of shooting indiscriminately at Catholics and said the troops killed four men and wounded eight others this week.

In the only violence reported yesterday, bombers wrecked a bar in the border town of Strabane after giving its patrons 10 minutes to flee. There were no casualties.

The accusations of careless — some said criminal — use of firearms on Catholics began when more than 4,000 Catholics living in one district of Belfast gathered in the streets yesterday to protest.

Warrant Out

BOSTON (UPI) — A warrant has been issued for the arrest of multimillionaire Edward Krock of Worcester for failing to appear in U.S. District Court to be arraigned on federal income tax law charges.

U.S. Attorney James N. Gabriel said Magistrate Willie J. Davis issued the warrant yesterday against Krock as a fugitive from justice.

Krock was indicted last week by a federal grand jury on seven counts of income tax law violations involving more than $6 million and was accused of evading taxes of $1.4 million.

At the time the indictment was returned, Krock was said to be aboard his 150-foot yacht Speculator off Nassau in the Bahamas.

Guilty Of Cheating

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Four West Point cadets have been found guilty of cheating in their studies, a spokesman for the U.S. Military Academy said yesterday. The Cadet Honor Committee is investigating other possible violations of the honor code, he said.

Sources have indicated that as many as 80 cadets may eventually be asked to resign for cheating, the Middletown, N.Y. Times Herald-Record reported.

Singer Cleared

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A federal grand jury Wednesday cleared singer Barbara McNair of drug charges, but charged her husband, Richard Manzie, 32, with attempted possession of heroin.

Doves Seek Ways To Stop Bombing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Antiwar members of Congress, restless over continued U.S. military involvement in Southeast Asia, have initiated moves to stop it by both legislation and court action.

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., introduced a bill Wednesday that would prevent the administration from spending any funds to support U.S. military forces "in or over or from off the shores" of North or South Vietnam, Laos or Cambodia, unless authorized by Congress.

And Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., introduced legislation to cut off funds for military operations in Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam.

Bingham said the joint resolution he offered was needed to restore Congress' constitutional prerogatives and end "a presidential war that has no constitutional or statutory basis."

"It is essential that we should seize every opportunity to restrain the President from continuing a war solely on the basis of his own say so," Bingham said.

Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., filed suit in U.S. District Court in New York challenging President Nixon's right to continue military operations in Cambodia without congressional approval.

She asked an "immediate judgment" because of the "emergency nature" of the case and argued U.S. bombing was in violation of the Constitution because "Cambodia constitutes a new action with no congressional authorization whatsoever."

The United States continued bombing Cambodia after the Vietnam cease-fire and this week bombed again in Laos in response to what administration officials said were Communist cease-fire violations. Officials indicated the bombing in Laos was halted Wednesday.

In other developments:

—The Pentagon described as "nonsense" a report by antiwar groups that a U.S. Marine battalion embarked from Okinawa for service in Cambodia Wednesday. Defense Department spokesmen said the Marines were merely starting routine duty at sea.

—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he had photographic evidence that U.S. bombing of North Vietnam last year inflicted "massive damage" and in some cases "total destruction" of civilian facilities in and around Hanoi. He said the administration had tried to "whitewash" damage caused in the bombing.

Press Secretary To Queen Quits

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth's press secretary said today he has quit in a dispute with Buckingham Palace. Friends said he lost out to "stuffed shirts" who wanted to retain the monarchy's oldfashioned look.

"We agreed to differ so I decided to quit," said Robin Ludlow, 41, after the palace announced his resignation from the $12,500 a year post.

Ludlow, who took the job 15 months ago, declined to say why he resigned but a friend said he wanted to reorganize the palace press office, introduce "more open and honest" comments to press queries and make sure the public received the "real image" of the royal family.

DIAMOND SALUTE — A scant three feet apart, the Air Force's Thunderbirds, precision flying team, form a tight diamond pass, one of the maneuvers they will perform during open house activites at Hamilton Air Force Base on Saturday. Perot's Party Expected To Cost $250,000

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot is picking up the tab for a big party for ex-prisoners of war from Son Tay prison camp and the Green Berets who tried to rescue them.

The Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce refused to say how much money Perot was spending for the April 27-28 event, but sources said it could reach as high as $250,000.

Sixty Green Berets will be flown to San Francisco from bases around the world. The ex-POWs and their wives—numbering about 200—will be flown from military hospitals across the nation. Perot is paying for their tickets.

Energy Workshop

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A state-sponsored California Energy Workshop will be held here May 15 and 16, Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, science advisor to Gov. Ronald Reagan, said Wednesday.

GM Boss Leads Corporate Pay

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg was paid $874,963 in salary and bonuses in 1972—the most ever paid a chairman of the world's largest corporation.

Gerstenberg's total compensation was $396 more than Henry Ford II, board chairman of Ford Motor Co,, received last year. Both auto companies enjoyed high profits in 1972—GM's a record $2.16 billion.

This was reflected in proxy statements mailed to stockholders in advance of annual meetings. GM mailed its proxy statement to 1,275,000 stockholders Wednesday, asking them to elect 25 directors and vote on seven proposals at the annual meeting in Detroit's Cobo Hall May 25.

Two of the seven proposals on which stockholders will vote were submitted by the Ralph Nader-backed Project on Corporate Responsibility which in the past two meetings staged "Campaign GM" to push the company into greater social awareness. GM directors urged votes against both proposals.

GM did not contest inclusion of either proposal. One calls for GM to disclose any activities on behalf of political candidates and the other would require it to make public all details of any attempts the company makes to influence government policies.

GM directors said neither proposal should be approved, claiming that the first is unnecessary because the corporation does not make contributions to political campaigns and the second "cumbersome" because communications between GM and government agencies is continuous at all levels.

Gerstenberg's record compensation in 1972 compares with the previous record of $825,000 paid to retired GM Chairman James M. Roche in 1971. Gerstenberg in 1971 received a total of $747,500 when he served as vice chairman.

Edward N. Cole, president of GM, received $789,974 in 1972—a 5.7 per cent increase from the $747,500 he received in 1971. There were no bonuses paid in 1970 because of the 67-day strike by the United Auto Workers. In that year, Cole received a salary of $225,000 while Roche was paid $250,000.

Wife Divorcing Former Prisoner

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Merry Baker has filed for divorce from her husband, former North Vietnamese prisoner of war Elmo C. Baker, saying the marriage "has become unsupportable."

Baker, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, was captured when his F105 fighter-bomber was hit by hostile fire near Hanoi Aug. 23, 1967. He returned home March 18.

The couple has a daughter, 15, and a son, 13.

Hamilton To Honor POWs On Saturday; Thunderbird Show

Hamilton Air Force Base, scheduled for termination as a major military base after 38 years of service will dedicate this year's open house at the base to returning prisoners of war and those missing in action.

Highlight of the open house — to last from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. — will be an aerial performance by the Thunderbirds, an aerial precision team, at 3 p.m., preceded by inspection ceremonies at 2:30 p.m.

Among those participating in the inspection will be Capt. William W. Butler of San Rafael, recently released after being held prisoner of war in North Vietnam.

The open house, with the theme "Homecoming," will offer a wide display of aircraft from the early days of flying to modern-day at the area near the Air Force Reserve hanger at the south end of the base.

The Thunderbirds, flying four F-4 Phantom II Aircraft, will dive, loop and maneuver in tight formation in their aerial show.

The aircraft display will include "Breezy," a modern replica of a typical 1911 Wright or Curtis Pusher-type aircraft, several P-51 Mustangs and P-40 and a P-47 Thunderbolt of World War II fame.

Aircraft assigned to Hamilton on display will include the Convair F-106 Delta Dart, an all weather fighter interceptor, the Lockheed C-130 Hercules cargo plane used by the 904th Tactical Airlift Group, Air Force Reserve, and the HH-53 Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopter.

Other activites will include a "women in the Air Force" fashion show featuring WAF fashions from the 1940s to the present.

The Marin Radio Controlled Model Aircraft Club will demonstrate model airplane flying and the drill team from Novato High School Junior Air Force reserve Officers Training Corps will perform.

Among the booths will be one sponsored by voices in Vital America to solicit aid and attention for men still listed as missing in action in Southeast Asia.

Radio Station KTIM is scheduled to broadcast the Thunderbirds show.

Postal Service, Unions Open Pact Negotiations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Postal Service opened contract negotiations with postal unions today with a demand for higher employee output as a means of heading off further postal rate increases.

But the four unions involved, covering more than 500,000 postal workers, will ask for wage increases plus overtime pay for weekend work and other fringe benefits, union sources said.

The two sides scheduled a brief meeting to exchange opening statements, then planned to adjourn for a week before getting down to serious bargaining. The present two-year contracts expire July 20.

The chief negotiator for the Postal Service, Senior Assistant Postmaster General Darrell F. Brown, said the Service must make sure that postal workers productivity is increased to assure the American people good service, "while holding the line on costs."

Postal union leaders have been upset at manpower cuts since the U.S. Postal Service was created two years ago, and have complained about work speedups to get more output from each employee.

They will demand full job security for all present employees, with reductions in force only through attrition.

The number of postal employees fell from a peak of 741,216 in mid-1970 to 687,894 by the end of last month, and in 1974 the budget request contemplates a level of 655,718, postal officials said.

Kleindienst Pulls Out Of Watergate Probe

the identity of the individuals to whom he was referring.

The Washington Post cited unnamed sources in the White House and the Committee for the Re-Election of the President for its report today on Magruder's alleged statements linking Dean and Mitchell to the bugging conspiracy.

The newspaper said Magruder also had told government attorneys that Mitchell and Dean arranged to pay hush money to the seven men who either were convicted or pleaded guilty to charges arising out of the June 17 break-in and bugging of Democratic headquarters in the Watergate building.

Dean responded quickly to the report by issuing a statement saying he would not be made "a scapegoat" in the case and that anyone presuming his guilt "does not know me, know the true facts or understand our system of justice."

Magruder was expected to testify later today before the federal grand jury that indicted the Watergate Seven and which has been hearing more testimony in the case for several weeks.

The Post said one of its sources even predicted that Magruder's statements Saturday plus "other information developed by the prosecutors" might result in criminal indictment of Mitchell, who preceded Kleindienst as attorney general, and Dean, who conducted President Nixon's original investigation in the Watergate incident last August.

Both Mitchell and Dean repeatedly have denied that they had any advance knowledge of the bugging plans. Magruder said the same thing in testimony during the Watergate trial in January.

Weicker, in disclosing the apparent tampering with his records on the case, said he had called in fingerprint experts to examine the cabinet. A member of his staff said it was not certain yet whether any of the documents had been stolen.

Since becoming a member of the Senate's Watergate panel, Weicker has made numerous statements to the effect that he believed top members of the administration were involved in the bugging conspiracy. At one point, he strongly suggested that the White House chief of Staff, H. R Haldeman, knew all about the plans as well as other alleged espionage activities against the Democrats in the 1972 political campaigns.

Nixon said Tuesday he had instructed all his aides, past or present, to testify if called before the Senate panel — reversing his policy on the question of executive privilege —and that he had been advised of "major developments" in the case since ordering a new investigation last month.

He also said he had met with Petersen and his top domestic adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, on Sunday to discuss the case. Mitchell was at the White House on Saturday for still undisclosed reasons.

The flurry of events and statements triggered widespread speculation that some high administration officials might be indicted soon.

The Post said Magruder has provided a first-hand account of a meeting in Mitchell's Justice Department office in February, 1972, "to discuss and approve the illegal electronic eavesdropping operation at the Watergate."

At the time, Mitchell was the nation's chief law enforcement officer as attorney general. He left that job in March last year to officially take over the reins of the Nixon re-election campaign. He quit as campaign manager July 1, two weeks after the Watergate break-in, saying he wanted to spend more time with his family.

According to the Post story, those attending the meeting were Mitchell, Magruder, Dean and G. Gordon Liddy, who at the time was finance counsel for the Nixon campaign and who later was one of the Watergate Seven convicted in January.

If true, Magruder's story would provide crucial corroboration for the hearsay testimony of Watergate conspirator James W. McCord Jr. McCord, who was security chief for the Nixon campaign, reportedly has told investigators that Liddy told him of such a meeting, though McCord has been unable to document it.

Liddy himself has refused to answer the grand jury's questions, earning himself a contempt sentence on top of the maximum 20 years in prison he received for the Watergate plot.

The Post said that the resignation of Dean as chief White House lawyer "is considered imminent" and that White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman "may also resign" because of recent Watergate developments.

Columnist Jack Anderson reported that a former White House assistant told the federal grand jury that Haldeman ordered $350,000 in cash locked in a White House safe during Nixon's re-election campaign last year.

According to Anderson, the witness, Gordon Strachan, testified that after the election he returned the funds in $20, $50 and $100 bills to Fred LaRue, a campaign aide and a close associate of Mitchell, at LaRue's Watergate apartment.

Dean, 34, conducted a White House Watergate investigation last summer that prompted the President to announce Aug. 29 that "no one in this administration, presently employed" was involved in the incident.

But Tuesday Nixon told reporters he had ordered a new internal probe March 21 after "serious charges" had come to his attention and said he would fire any aide found guilty of criminal conduct.

$1.4 Million In Cocaine Found

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — Federal agents who raided a Colombian freighter last week and confiscated 1,300 pounds of marijuana, found an estimated $1.4 million of cocaine hidden on the same ship Wednesday.

Federal marshals had seized the Adriana Wednesday following a suit filed against its owners for nonpayment of a repair bill. A subsequent search of the vessel turned up the cocaine, about 80 per cent pure, in a fire extinguisher.

Police said the entire crew was taken into custody by Chatham County authorities and taken to the customs office at the Georgia Ports Authority for fingerprinting. No arrests were made and all returned to the Adriana.

Sinatra Sets Fall TV Special

NEW YORK (UPI) — A spokesman for Frank Sinatra announced today the singer will end his two-year retirement to star in a television special this fall.

Sinatra's only appearances since he announced his retirement in June 1971 have been at policital functions, including Tuesday night's presidential state dinner for Italian Prime Minister Giulio Andreotti at the White House.

A spokesman for Sinatra confirmed he would do a one-hour special for the Magnavox Company but said the singer would have no comment on his plans.

The special is to be aired on NBC Nov. 11 at 8:30 p.m., the spokesman said.

Banker Admits Embezzlement

BOSTON (UPI) — Daniel D. Moore, president of the first bank to fail in Massachusetts since the Depression, pleaded guilty Wednesday to federal charges of embezzlement and misapplication of $8.1 million in bank funds.

Moore, who was head of the now defunct Surety Bank and Trust Co. in Wakefield, entered the plea in U. S. District Court. Judge Frank H. Freedman continued Moore, 40, of Lynnfield, free on $25,000 bond pending a June 25 sentencing.

The bank was closed by the state May 18, 1972, after shortages were discovered. Moore had resigned his post on April 27 of that year.

Russians, Pepsi Sign Agreement To Trade Drinks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet and American businessmen signed a deal today to bring Pepsi-Cola to the Soviet Union and more Russian vodka to the United States.

Donald M. Kendall, chairman of the board of Pepsico, and A. I. Nikolaev, president of the Soviet foreign trade firm that markets Vodka, signed the agreement at the Soviet foreign trade ministry—then toasted each other with Soviet champagne.

Kendall said the Soviets would produce three million cases of the American soda each year, starting next November, during the first five years of the contract. Pepsi will sell for 15 kopeks (20 cents) a bottle.

ing was reported in South Vietnam.

Friedheim said another reason for the mine sweeping suspension was "the other side's failure to respect the unilateral cease-fire declared by the government of Cambodia. . ." As he spoke, U.S. warplanes were hitting Communist targets in Cambodia for the 43rd consecutive day.

Military spokesmen in Saigon today reported more Communist cease-fire violations and said Communist troops carried out new attacks on two fronts—one in Hue and the other west of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

It was the second suspension of U.S. mine-sweeping operations in North Vietnam since the truce was declared. The first occurred early in March when Hanoi was accused of delaying the release of U.S. POWs. But the issue was resolved and the mine sweepers went back to work.

Today's VNA broadcast quoted the foreign ministry complaint as saying: "The government of the United States has deliberately delayed the removal of mines and so far it has exploded only three among the tens of thousands of mines it has the responsibility to remove."

It said North Vietnam "resolutely demands" that the United States "resume immediately its obligation of removing mines in North Vietnam."

Radio Phnom Penh said today that Cambodian Brig. Gen. Lon Non, brother of President Lon Nol, plans a special trip to Washington soon to confer with President Nixon on the critical Cambodian situation. Political analysts in Phnom Penh consider Lon Non the "power behind the throne" in Cambodia.

Shortly after the Radio Phnom Penh broadcast of Lon Non's impending "special mission," field reports said U.S. B52 bombers pounded suspected concentrations of Communist troops again along the west bank of the Bassac River only 15 miles south of the capital.

The bombing raids shook buildings and rattled windows in downtown Phnom Penh throughout the night and into the morning hours.

In Vientiane, informed sources said North Vietnamese troops who overran the north Laos village of Ta Viang with tank support over the weekend retained a firm grip on the hamlet Wednesday. The sources said CIA-sponsored units were regrouping south of the village but it was not known if there were any government plans to recapture it.

Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma's government, labeling Ta Viang's takeover a violation of the Feb. 22 Laotian cease-fire, asked for and received U.S. air support to counter the Communist drive. U.S. warplanes bombed there Monday and Tuesday—the first bombing in Laos since the Jan. 28 Vietnam cease-fire.

U.S. sources in Vientiane said American bombing in Laos was suspended in Laos Wednesday during a lull in fighting, but they left open the possibility of more air strikes if the situation warrants.

Cambodian command spokesmen said ground fighting flared even closer to Phnom Penh around Prek Pao, about 10 miles south of the capital. Casualty figures were not known.

Bail Refusal Not Legal, Judge Rules

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Bail cannot be denied a person accused of a non-capital offense, the California Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

By a 6-1 vote, the high court acted on a habeus corpus petition filed by Albert B. Underwood III, 23, a senior at the University of California-Santa Barbara.

He was ordered held without bail by a Los Angeles judge after being accused of mailing a bomb to two Los Angeles policemen who earlier had arrested him for possession of two sawed-off shotguns.

Underwood was charged with attempted murder. Conviction on the charge does not call for the death penalty which has been abolished in California.

The supreme court decision does not bar a judge from refusing bail for someone accused of committing one of the eight felonies formerly punishable by death.

In writing the majority decision, Chief Justice Donald R. Wright said the courts could not use the bail system to detain persons regarded as a threat to the community. He said such persons could be committed to specific institutions for diagnosis and treatment.

The decision noted that both the state constitution and penal code guarantee bail for anyone not charged with a capital offense.

Sewage Plant Contract Given

The San Rafael Sanitation District board last night awarded a $17,950 contract to a Martinez firm for work on its main sewage treatment plant on Irene Street.

The Industrial Tank Inc. is to clean and dispose of material in a secondary digester at the plant, said Norris Rawles, public works director.

The board also approved annexation to the district of one lot in the Los Ranchitos Road area of the county near the Fairhills subdivision, and approved a measure that permits the district's seven full-time employees to join the Marin County Employees Association.

Title Insurance Explained.

Since the days of the Spaniards, all California land was originally owned, controlled and recorded by some governmental body. As these lands were gradually transferred to private ownership, and property in turn changed hands over the years, certain encumbrances were sometimes involved.

This is where a title search becomes important. A title search investigates all county records relative to a piece of property, and can turn up any obscure claims that might exist, such as liens, easements, or unpaid taxes. Title Insurance is the buyer's guarantee that this title search is complete and accurate.

Your member Realtor office of the Marin County Board of Realtors can help you with any questions about Title Insurance. And if you're selling a home, place it on Multiple Listing. The more than 1,000 salesmen from the member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors will be selling it for you. Your Real Estate Professionals.

Rifleman's Rampage Ends With Three Persons Dead

HOUSTON (UPI) — A rifleman drove through a middle class neighborhood shooting at passers-by Wednesday, hitting five persons and killing three. An Army veteran who said he had been smoking marijuana and drinking beer gave a statement to police hours later.

"There was an old woman standing in front of a house. I pulled up and stopped. I aimed at her neck and fired. She fell to the driveway," Larry Delon Casey, 21, said in a statement to police. Casey was charged with the slayings.

The dead were an elderly woman and two school girls walking home. The two wounded victims were children who were hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

Casey told police his father was killed in New York in 1970 by heroin addicts.

"I guess I had some revenge against society," he said. He told police he did not know any of the victims.

Two United Press International newsmen signed Casey's confession as legal witnesses.

Casey said he went home and got his mother's bolt action .22 caliber rifle after having a fight with his girl friend, Yvonne Ellis, 19. He said he had smoked four marijuana cigarettes and drank a six-pack of beer.

"Me and Yvonne had just had some arguments. I guess I went out of my head for a few minutes," Casey said. "I qualified as an expert with a rifle while in the Army.

"I drove into a neighborhood and fired at the first person I saw (the woman)," he said. "Then I saw a kid on a bicycle, pulling into a driveway. I was about 75 yards away when I stopped the car. I fired one time and she fell dead. I do not remember shooting anyone else."

During questioning, Casey also confessed to the February shooting death of Dorothy J. Young, a clerk in an all-night drive-in grocery.

"I had just robbed her and was leaving the store when I heard what sounded like her cocking back the hammer on a pistol. I was in the doorway and spun around and fired instantly and hit her in the chest.

"Then I went over and shot her twice in the head to make sure she was dead," Casey said.

Casey, 6-foot-2 with short hair, a straggly beard and bloodshot eyes, was on probation for a burglary committed last August when he was arrested for Wednesday's shootings.

"I'm sorry I did it—what else can I say? I wouldn't have done it if Yvonne had not left the car mad," he said.

The dead were Beulah Davis, 86, Jana Whatley, 10, and Clare Jakubowski, 5. The wounded, both 10-year-old girls, were Karen Kurtz, shot in the leg, and Lynn Tucker, shot in the back and arm.

'Hero' Role Of POWs Studied

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — A psychologist said Wednesday returning war prisoners have been used "to create an illusion of victory" at the possible detriment of their mental health.

Dr. Herbert Kelman, a staff member of Battelle Northwest in Seattle, complained about treatment of the POWs in a report prepared for the American Psychological Association.

"The POWs have been assigned to the role of heroes in a war that has no heroes—the central role in an elaborate drama staged to provide justification for the President's policy, to create an illusion of victory and to arouse a sense of patriotic fervor," he said.

Twister Toll

DACCA (UPI) — Government sources today placed the official death toll from a tornado that smashed part of the Dacca district Wednesday at 272 and said another 2,000 persons were injured.

Petalumans To District Test

Two Petaluma men will represent Northern California in the Toastmasters District speech contest May 12 in Oakland.

Airlift Planned In Early Births

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — A helicopter airlift for premature babies was announced Wednesday by the March of Dimes and National Guard.

National Guard helicopters will fly medical personnel from Spokane to outlying communities where premature babies need special care. The babies will be flown back to one of two Spokane hospitals for intensive treatment.

Opera Singer's Wife Given A Dissolution

The wife of opera singer Jess F. Thomas of Tiburon has obtained a dissolution of their 16-year marriage in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Henry J. Broderick ended the marriage on grounds of irreconcilable differences, but decided to hold further hearings, as yet unscheduled, on the property settlement and support payments.

In the meantime, Thomas must pay his ex-wife, Bettye, $2,000 a month for herself and $1,000 a month for the couple's two children Jess David, 13, and Lisa Bet, 14.

Thomas, who has sung with the Metropolitan Opera in New York and the San Francisco Opera, has a monthly income of about $7,000, according to documents related to the dissolution. He is a Wagnerian tenor.

The couple married Feb. 17, 1957, and separated Sept. 1, 1970. A month after the separation, Mrs. Thomas filed for a legal separation. She asked for dissolution of the marriage March 2, 1971.

Heifetz Donates A 'G-String'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A new Hall Of Music is being built at Southern California University, where master violinist Jascha Heifetz has taught since 1962.

Wednesday, Heifetz dropped into the cement foundation a silk-wrapped Japanese box containing the bridge, a peg and a string from one of his old and treasured violins so that "something personal" from him would always be part of the building "for luck."

The string was "a G-string, and no remarks please," Heifetz said.

Program Launched For Hamilton Help

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — An assistance program for civilian employees affected by cutbacks at Hamilton Air Force Base and other military installations was begun yesterday by the state Department of Human Resources Development.

Philip H. Crawford, assistant deputy director of job training for the department, said state officials will be conducting on-site interviewing and taking work applications at affected bases.

At Hamilton, base officials have said about 128 of the installation's 1,041 civilian positions will be trimmed when the facility is placed on reserve status in September.

Crawford said regional human resources offices in Richmond, Riverside and Los Angeles also have been instructed to perform on-site claim taking for unemployment insurance, set up on-site labor market information centers where significant numbers of employees are involved and make use of manpower training and retraining programs.

Crawford said that in Hamilton's case, the Richmond office will work through the department's San Rafael office in the assistance program. The department also will work with city and county officials who may be involved in any reemployment efforts, the officials reported.

In another development, Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, called on the federal government to guarantee suitable reemployment for workers affected.

Muir Beach CSD Urges Nude Beach

The County of Marin should set aside a secluded beach somewhere in the county for nude sunbathing, directors of the Muir Beach Community Services District decided last night.

"Social customs are changing and there are certainly enough people who want to do this," explained Bruce E. Harlow, board chairman. "It would be a good thing if it were located in an area away from a community."

Harlow said there are some county-owned beaches in the Point Reyes area which might be suitable.

The small community of Muir Beach has been troubled in recent years by nude sunbathers who have swarmed to the privately-owned "little beach," adjacent to the state beach.

Since the stretch of sand — also known as Bello Beach — has no trash and restroom facilities, the hordes of nudes and nude watchers have created health problems there.

On Tuesday, Marin County supervisors agreed to provide the community with a seven-day-week mounted patrol to discourage the sunbathers. Such a patrol worked well last year to help eliminate crowds from Little Beach.

Density Reduced In Satori Ranch Plans

The Novato City Council has reduced density to be allowed in any development of the 700-acre Sartori Ranch near Blackpoint.

During revision of the city's general plan map Monday night, councilmen designated about 500 acres of flat land as "agricultural bay plain" with lot sizes ranging from one to 60 acres.

The hilly area, about 200-acres, was designated residential with lot sides ranging from one to 10 acres, depending upon the slope.

Under the old general plan, lot sizes for the entire area ranged from five acres.

Senior Planner Mark Westfall said he couldn't estimate how many homes would be permitted under the new designations because a slope study hasn't been made.

The estate of John Kenney has proposed development of 2,300 homes in a lagoon-type development at the ranch.

Couple Rescued After Being Swept Off Boat

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Mount Zion Hospital chief of medicine and his wife were rescued by a Coast Guard helicopter Wednesday after an eight-foot wave swept them off their sailboat just outside the Golden Gate Bridge.

Dr. Sidney Levin, 46, and his wife, Betty, were reported in good condition despite being in the chilly water for a half hour. They had been wearing life jackets when thrown from the 30-foot Meerschaum.

Their son, Daniel, 14, was also on the boat at the time the wave hit but managed to remain aboard.

The Levins had set sail for Half Moon Bay.

Wind-Fanned Embers Set Drydocks On Fire Again

The Richardson Bay drydocks, gutted by fire early Tuesday, burst into flames again yesterday as brisk winds fanned embers to life.

A crew of five Marin County firemen extinguished the latest blaze about two hours after being taken to the docks at 3 p.m. by a Coast Guard boat.

Stan Rowan, asst. county fire chief, said the predawn fire which heavily damaged the huge drydocks Tuesday, "never was put out properly" and has smoldered since.

Pockets of embers "that we can't get at" are causing the latest outbreak, Rowan said, but firemen must wait until they burn into the open before they can do anything.

Another crew of two was to check the drydocks this morning to continue mopping up, Rowan said.

Cause of the spectacular blaze, which lit up the Sausalito waterfront for hours, still is under investigation and it is impossible to say if the fire was set deliberatel, said Rowan.

Plans Approved For Warehouse

The Novato Plan Review Committee last night approved precise development plans for a warehouse and office building at the southwest corner of Hill Road and Ford Way.

The building to be used by Stan's for Sports will cover almost an acre and trees will be planted to screen the rear of the building from homes along Yukon Way.

The committee also approved precise development plans for 88 townhouses along San Marin Drive from Simmons Lane to San Carlos Way.

Novatan's Leg Broken In Fall

A Novato woman suffered a broken leg in a fall while fishing at Phoenix Lake yesterday, Ross police reported today.

Amy Palmer, 53, of 1035 Simmons Lane, fell while running to assist her 12-year-old nephew, Sean McGuiness, 350 Midway Boulevard, Novato, who had a fish hook caught in his finger. Her broken right leg was treated at Marin General Hospital and she was sent home, police said.

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI) — Although chickens were introduced in Egypt in 1500 B.C., they were not used as food for another 2,000 years, says a University of California researcher.

Louis Grivetti, a doctoral candidate in cultural geography, reached his conclusion during a study of the burial places of ancient rulers.

Danish Drivers Told Don't Blame Autos

ODENSE, Denmark (UPI) — Danes have been told to stop blaming their cars for traffic accidents.

The police department in Denmark's third largest city checked all accidents in the 1969-72 period and reported that less than 1 per cent were caused by tire failures, faulty brakes or other mechanical defects. Drivers were blamed for 99 per cent of the mishaps.

BUS DEPOT BECOMES BARNYARD

Girl Scout Lisa Brow (left) and 4-H Clubber Cindy Reiquam show 30-month-old Jessejames Locorrieve the first multicolored rabbit he has ever seen. It all happened yesterday at the Mill Valley Bus Depot which has been turned into a living Easter display by the scouts, 4-H members and the city chamber of commerce. Sheep, ducks and rabbits will be on display there from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. through Saturday. The pecially bred rabbits with colored fur, red and blue, are kept company by more conventional bunnies in the barnyard, like pens built from 100-year-old lumber taken from a barn in Mill Valley. Boy Scout Donald Herve handled construction as a part of an Eagle Scout project. (Independent-Journal photo)

Teachers To Protest Dismissals

San Rafael teachers notified of their dismissal due to declining enrollment will protest firing-by-lottery to achieve a reduction in force at a hearing set for 9 a.m. tomorrow in the Civic Center.

Although the San Rafael Board of Education has ordered a reduction of 16 teachers due to sagging enrollment, 32 teachers have been notified that they may not be rehired next year, according to attorney Leonard Bjorklund, who represents 18 of the group.

Bjorklund said teachers yesterday, in the first portion of a hearing before state hearing officer Howard Hurst, heard Supt. John F. Plank outline the district's enrollment plight. Teachers will air their views tomorrow, he said.

Bjorklund said that the 32 teachers have been notified of possible dismissal apparently because the district wants to keep "all bases covered" since several elementary teachers slated for axing may have seniority "bumping rights" over low seniority teachers in the high school district.

The school board last February ordered a reduction of 16 teachers, including eight elementary district positions, and four each in federally funded and special education programs.

Paramedic Program Is Given Support

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council yesterday authorized its emergency medical care subcommittee to help develop a paramedic training program at the College of Marin.

Joan Ripple, executive director of the council, said the committee will push for the paramedic program as soon as possible. The college staff is already working on the proposal, she reported.

The council's directors endorsed the county administrator's office proposal for a joint contract with both ambulance services operating in Marin — United and Bay Cities. Mrs. Ripple said the directors liked the idea of a negotiated joint contract, with the ambulance services tied in to the communications center.

In other action, the council added an investigation of hospital emergency rooms to the emergency care subcommittee's 1973 study of emergency treatment in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

A suggestion by Dr. Robert F. Frederickson that planning for maternity facilities in Marin and Southern Sonoma be made part of the council's program was endorsed too, said Mrs. Ripple, and an ad hoc committee will gather information on the estimated 1,000 to 2,000 births a year in the region.

In preparation for the county administrator's office proposal that the council become a contract agency, another committee was set up to find a home for the council after it moves out of the Civic Center, said Mrs. Ripple.

Use Of Highway Funds Limited

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today rejected, 215 to 190, a Senate-passed amendment that would have permitted cities to spend their share of federal highway trust funds for mass transit projects.

The vote was subject to final approval of a $25.6-billion highway bill to which the amendment for the authority was proposed.

Harsh, blah or smooth taste.

What makes the difference?

Generally, two things make your cigarette taste the way it does.

The tobacco and the filter.

The tobacco gives it taste. The filter smooths it out.

And often, the difference between harsh, blah and smooth tasting cigarettes can be traced to their filters.

The beauty of the Kent Micronite filter is the way it smooths the quality tobaccos we use in Kent. Not too much, so that the taste turns blah. Or too little, so that the taste turns harsh.

It's done with a special process (so special it's patented) by which the Micronite filter actually chooses which tastes to hold back and which to let pass.

What it lets pass is the mild, smooth taste that makes Kent what it is: America's quality cigarette.

Mild, smooth taste. Micronite filter. Kent. America's quality cigarette.

New Nixon Plan Tickets $2.3 Billion For Cities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today sent Congress a $2.3 billion a year program designed to let towns and cities meet their own community problems without "the excessive federal control that has been so frustrating to local governments."

The program, which the President called the "Better Communities Act" and wants to begin July 1, 1974, was the first of four special revenue sharing proposals which Nixon plans to submit to Congress this year. It would scrap seven federal grant programs including urban renewal; Model Cities; neighborhood facilities; water and sewer grants; open space and historic preservation; rehabilitation loans and public facility loans. All these programs are administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Other HUD programs including housing and community planning would not be affected by the act.

In a message to Congress on March 8, Nixon said that the program would permit communities to spend the funds "as they desire, to meet their community development needs."

Until the legislation becomes effective, funds already available will be used to maintain and support community development.

"The Better Communities Act is intended to replace inflexible and fragmented categorical grant-in-aid programs, and to reduce the excessive federal control that has been so frustrating to local government," Nixon said.

The legislation provides the funds allocated by a formula on the basis of need and will be turned over directly to local elected governments. The President said many communities not benefiting from present HUD programs would get funds under the new act.

He said the formula would assure automatic annual funding to metropolitan cities and urban counties.

Nixon told Congress that his program would eliminate "federal red tape and bureaucratic restrictions."

He said that as of June 30, 1973, the total unspent money in community development categorical programs already obligated to communities will be about $7.4 billion.

Nixon said that the act would provide a single fund of shared revenues administered by HUD.

Many big city mayors are opposed to the proposal because they think it ultimately will provide less money to their cities than the specific purpose programs it will replace.

However, Nixon said the bill was drafted to guarantee every community no less cash under revenue sharing than it now collects under the programs to be phased out.

By the fifth year of operation of the act, at an annual level of $2.3 billion, more than three out of every four dollars will be handed out to local governments.

Annual Student Parade To Florida

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Each year around Easter when the college kids come, John Keegan is behind the counter at his beachside arcade drawing mugs of draught beer and building squishy chili dogs.

"It's amazing," says Keegan, who has watched the annual migration close up for the past five years. "I got to say this about those college kids. They never give us any trouble. It's those that ain't in school or ain't working that cause problems."

But police were a bit more skeptical today as Daytona Beach and Fort Lauderdale and points in between watched a growing tide of beer-swilling and pot-puffing students let loose for the spring holidays.

"We're not expecting any major trouble here, but we're prepared for it," said Police Capt. David G. Ogle, anticipating 200,000 students on Daytona's 23 miles of beath this weekend.

In Fort Lauderdale, police were keeping an eye on an estimated 20,000 vacationing students Wednesday. They reported few arrests and said the visitors were "the quietest, most polite group of people here in recent years."

With their backpacks and bikinis and baggies of grass, the students have been steadily streaming into florida the last few days. It's a predictable migration given impetus in the early 1960s by a book and movie called "Where The Boys Are."

"We don't have much trouble out of them until at night when they get up in the balconies of the hotels, banging their beer cans on the rail and ringing their cowbells," Ogle said.

A decade ago, the students went on a rioutous rampage in Fort Lauderdale when beer was banned on the beach. Beer-drinking, particularly among those under age, is still the major concern of the police.

"I don't know of a single city in the country where you can walk around with a can of beer in your hand, and we will not permit it here," Ogle said.

With the peak still to come, Daytona Beach police have been averaging 30 to 40 student arrests a day, mostly for violations of liquor laws.

Often, however, officers are finding drugs—mostly marijuana—on those they bust.

"We're seeing more of that than last year, but I think that's true everywhere," Ogle said.

ATLANTA (UPI) — The first white settler to establish a home in what is now the city of Atlanta was Hardy Ivy, who arrived from South Carolina in 1833. He farmed until the winter of 1841-42 when he was thrown from a horse and killed, old records show.

Trustees In Novato Set Closed Talks

The Novato Unified School District will have a closed session Monday night with its salary negotiators in light of the cutback at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The district, which serves pupils from the base, stands to lose both state and federal funds, if enrollment drops.

Teachers are seeking a 21.26 per cent pay raise and board negotiators made a counter-proposal of 4.2 per cent, but that offer was withdrawn after news of the base cutback, according to Asst. Supt. Paul C. Mobley.

Under the law granting federal funds to district serving students from federal bases, the district receives $493 per pupil living on base and $246 per pupil living off base.

The district also faces a loss of state funds which are based on average daily attendance.

Mobley said the amount of funding is uncertain because of the uncertainty about the use of Hamilton housing.

Frisbee Throwing Contest Slated By Artist Group

Marin Frisbee players will get a chance to show off their skills at a throwing contest to be held from noon to 2 p.m. Sunday at the Little League field near Mill Valley's Middle School.

The contest is sponsored by the Mill Valley Street Artists Cooperative, a group of 32 craftsmen, according to director Stevan R. Minamora.

Admission to the event is free, and the co-op hopes to raise funds by selling refreshments, Minamora said. Also on sale will be wares made by the painters, sculptors and leather and ceramics craftsmen who belong to the co-op. Minamora said other Marin artists are welcome to sell their wares Sunday.

Entrants, who are advised to bring their own Frisbees, will be judged on length and accuracy of their throws. Paintings and sculptures will be awarded as prizes, said Minamora.

Coast Unit Expected To Hear Appeals

NEWPORT BEACH (UPI) — The state Coastal Commission will probably begin deciding on appeals of zoning exemptions granted by regional commissions at its May 2 meeting in Santa Barbara.

The commission, set up by the Coastal Zone Conservation Act, held hearings Wednesday here on appeals of exemptions granted to development projects in San Diego, Orange and Los Angeles Counties.

The commission took no action on any of the appeals, which dealt with claims for exemption from permit requirements under the act, which was passed by voters as Proposition 20 in the general election last November.

Commissioners said they would probably vote on some of the appeals at their next meeting, and at that time would hold hearings on additional appeals.

In other action at the Wednesday meeting, the commission voted to suspend a $50 filing fee for appeals on the actions of the seven regional commissions for two months. Some commissioners expressed concern that the filing fee, while discouraging frivolous and unnecessary appeals, might make the process too expensive for citizens' groups.

Commercial Use Of HAFB Deserves New Look

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
10 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

The imminent end of Air Force use of Hamilton Air Force Base — except for reserve units — should spur immediate reconsideration of decisions by Novato and Marin County against any commercial aviation use of the facility.

As Congressman William S. Mailliard has pointed out, the Air Force may decide that closing the base entirely is preferable to keeping it tied up for the limited use of "weekend warriors" in a reserve status. Such limited use of 2,000 acres of valuable land is not highly practical. And there are other air bases within easy driving distance which would absorb the reserve units now headquartered at Hamilton.

ENDING MILITARY use of the base in itself will eliminate a principal objection to adding civilian aviation use.

Much of the outcry from Novatans over the joint-use proposal last year arose from fears that the noise of civilian jets landing and taking off, added to that of the Air Force planes already using the base, would create "noise pollution."

Advocates of a proposal by Hughes Air West to use a parallel runway at Hamilton for 22 flights per day produced figures to show this would not add appreciably to the noise level. But they were unable to convince nearby residents.

With no military flights, however, it seems quite obvious that such commercial use would create considerably less noise than the air field's neighbors have grown accustomed to in the past.

The same would apply to air pollution: The amount created by 22 passenger plane flights daily would be much less than that caused by military flying and engine-testing.

AS WE COMMENTED editorially last Sept. 5:

"It has long been at least a topic of discussion that at some future time the Air Force may give up the North Marin base and it may become a civilian airport."

That time is now at hand — if civilian use is approved by Novato and county governments.

Such utilization of the field would have several advantages:

1. It could use existing runways and control tower no longer needed by the military, not necessitating new construction as was considered in the earlier joint-use proposal.

2. It would cushion some of the economic shock to Marin County from the base's closing, preventing at least part of the dislocation of civilian personnel familiar with airport work.

3. It would benefit Marinites by providing close-to-home air connections.

4. As a corollary, it would reduce traffic congestion and its accompanying air pollution by providing such close-to-home plane service.

SINCE THE Air Force was willing to share the base with commercial users, it would appear unlikely that it now would oppose its use for such purpose. The federal government might even retain title to keep the base as a standby facility available in case of war — ready to use, since it would have been maintained at no cost to the taxpayers.

Now is the time to thoroughly investigate the possibilities.

Congress Likely To Give President Foreign Trade Powers He Needs

President Nixon has asked Congress for more authority to control the terms of foreign trade than any American president has ever had before. The logic of circumstances suggests that, however much the legislators may be wary of the build-up of executive power, they will substantially agree.

It is really extraordinary that a President who cannot run for reelection, who cannot submit his policies to a review of the voters in his own right, should be in the way of building up such power. What is called a lame-duck official (and the phrase is only partly applicable) rarely has amassed such uncurbed authority.

PRESIDENT NIXON needs the trade bill in order to negotiate with any chance of success with the United States' trading partners, including the Communist superpowers. He needs it in order to negotiate down the many barriers that have been growing up against United States exports. He needs it in order to cope with the increasing protectionist trend in many American special-interest groups.

The President's prospective power can, of course, be used in both directions. He can liberalize trade — and that is Mr. Nixon's plainly avowed purpose — or he can erect new barriers. He will be under severe pressure, from organized labor in particular, but also from pockets of domestic manufacture, to raise the barriers. Thus, if he wants to use his power to bargain in the field of domestic politics, he can do so.

And yet such cautious and powerful congressmen as Rep. Wilbur Mills, though recognizing the tremendous authority proposed for the President, support the program. They know he must have bargaining chips with which to deal with the other great nations. They know that the continuation of the expanding trade and prosperity of the last quarter-century is largely dependent on keeping trade barriers low.

They know, too, that the floating dollar and the absence of a modernized international monetary system make trade negotiation all the more important. Congressmen also know the protectionist pressures to which they are subjected, and welcome the chance to pass the buck to the President, hoping a little ashamedly that he will save them from themselves.

IF BY SOME remote chance, Congress also should give the President the kind of authority in the field of taxation which it would be very desirable for the executive to possess, the power of the chief of state would rise to still more towering height. His capacity to influence the economy would then be staggering.

But Congress is not abdicating. It may put some limits in the trade legislation. It is contemplating curbing presidential authority over the warmaking power. It is deeply challenged by the assertions of executive privilege, and if they continue will seek a remedy. Congress and the courts also are trammeling the President's capacity to impound appropriated funds and terminate established programs.

It is conceivable that if the President gets the authority he seeks over foreign trade, he might call former Treasury Sec. John Connally back to be his negotiator. This would not sit well with the governments who were pressed so hard by Mr. Connally in the monetary negotiations, but it might suit the President's tough stance. And Mr. Connolly might handle things more diplomatically the second time around.

PRESIDENT NIXON'S vision of a generation of peace would be served significantly by a "Nixon round" of liberal trade negotiations. Without such progress, the dangers of trade wars and economic collapse are great. With economic collapse might come political and security weakening.

There are many pitfalls along the trade road, such as the questions that have continually arisen since the Russian wheat deal. The growing wealth and power of the Arab oil states, in the face of United States energy needs and trade-balance threats, also are very challenging. A strong president is essential, and a trusted president even more so.

In case they don't know it, that's our tax money they're tossing around.

They can't stay at the Fairmont or eat at the Blue Fox, but they can do very nicely with a $30 tab.

Finds Injustice In Sign Ordinance

Re: letter Apr. 12, "New Sign Ordinance Deserves Support," signed J. M. Lifschiz.

Having been in business in Marin County for 15 years my disagreements with J. M. Lifschiz are as follows:

My petition to the City of San Rafael is so I can remain in business, the income which is my sole report. The ordinance mailed to me by the City of San Rafael states I am not allowed any sign. The sign which I have been directed to remove has been there 18 years. With no sign on the building people will certainly have a problem finding my place of business. Frankly, when politics come to a fine point where a councilman or councilmen are using this as a political hanky-panky, what's happening to the poor merchants?

Why So Much Hay And So Few Cattle?

Re: Mary Leydecker's article on meats published yesterday (Apr. 6):

On our way home from Alaska last September we drove through eastern Alberta, Saskatchewan, eastern Montana, the Dakotas, Wyoming. Through a thousand miles of prairie country we saw more antelope than we did cattle (I can show you pictures). Hay was being harvested and piled in stacks everywhere. We saw stacks of hay of previous years. Surely we saw a million tons of hay, just from the main highway. Inquiries at service stations threw little light on the subject: yes, some of the hay was two or three years old. No they did not know why there were so few cattle and so much hay. Yes quite a bit of the hay rotted.

Just now other people throughout the country would be curious about so much feed and so few cattle and why at the same time we ship grain out of the country.

One Who Cares Enough To Become Involved

Would you please extend one of your bouquets to a young man who deserves that nice recognition.

On Sunday, April 1, someone broke into the Drake High School snack bar.

When Scott Carroll of San Anselmo happened by, he immediately asked a neighbor of the school to use her phone to call the manager of the snack bar. He then stayed by the broken-into building until someone arrived to board the place up.

He could have gone about his business and not become involved, and the snack bar could have been cleaned out by those that think looting is a game.

This bouquet would be a thank-you for one of the good guys — they so seldom get recognized for the good they do.

Motorbikes Destroy Beauty And Ecology

Motorbike enthusiasts and dealers are pressuring the county supervisors for special treatment. They want their own "playground," a large area devoted solely to trailbikes.

But the people of Marin County do not have an obligation to subsidize an activity that is destructive to the beauty and ecology of our Marin hills, that adds to air and noise pollution, and that benefits very few.

One incredible suggestion is to give them part of West Marin. After years of effort by citizens, planners, and supervisors to save the peaceful, rural atmosphere of West Marin, are we now to undo all that and open it up to the blatting and roaring of motorbikes? The noise will travel far beyond the acreage involved. . .

One of the main criteria for "fun" on a motorbike is apparently to make noise. The more revving and zooming, the more fun, presumably.

Another part of the "fun" is the challenge of riding straight up hillsides. Look at any of our vulnerable Marin slopes and you see the vertical scars dug by the ripping wheels of cycles, and further eroded by the winter rains.

There is, of course, no guarantee that establishing a special area for motorcycles would do much to ease the problem. Riders tend to head for the nearest hills. . .

There are many other forms of recreation, activities that permit our acres of open space to serve many more people, activities that lead toward conservation rather than destruction of our hills and natural areas: bicycling, hiking, birdwatching, sailing, surfing, canoeing, horseback riding. These activities should be encouraged. . .

SACRAMENTO SCENE

More Palaces Proposed For Kings Of Campuses

By EARL G. WATERS

The exposure of University President Charles J. Hitch's contract raises some serious questions of public policy. What is necessary to recruit able men to administer tax-supported colleges and universities?

The Hitch contract calls for the furnishing of a baronial mansion complete with servants at a cost far in excess of his $53,500 salary.

In justification of this concession it is pointed out that the university also furnishes its executive vice president and nine chancellors with homes, along with domestic help, rent and tax free.

THE TOTAL BILL for this expansive largesse of tax dollars to persons in education whose salaries exceed $40,000 a year cannot be calculated. What is known is that last year the university budgeted $276,000 for the operation of the homes. Half of this was for domestic help. This did not include all of such help, since some services are hidden in charges for other school programs. It did not include taxes, since none are paid. It did not include rental value, since no rent is paid. It did not include various schedules for improvements, additions, furniture replacement and insurance.

What other homes for other persons are being similarly furnished by the university has not been fully disclosed. It was admitted that the provosts, reportedly seven of them at the Santa Cruz campus, are given rent-free homes. It was denied that certain department heads at San Diego were living in university-owned homes.

It is contended that the university must do this to recruit and retain "outstanding persons."

CURRENTLY BEFORE the Legislature is the same kind of a pitch being made on behalf of the 19 state college presidents. The sum of $49,200 is requested to initiate a new program of housing allowances for them. Their present salaries are $44,448 each. Except for four of them who live in state-owned houses for which they pay rent, they all reside in their own homes at their own expense, just as the citizens who pay their salaries must do.

Why, then, must the state now undertake to assume these living expenses for this privileged group?

Anyone who knows anything about government budgeting knows this initial $50,000 request is just the beginning. If it is costing the state $276,000 to operate 11 homes for the university, it is not difficult to envision what the 19 state college homes will eventually cost.

LEGISLATIVE ANALYST A. Alan Post, a former professor himself, has opposed the granting of these funds, stating "such an expense is less than necessary."

Post also objected to an item of $8,000 for groundskeeping expenses for the new home of State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke. This is a $350,000 Bel Air mansion which was donated to the state for the chancellor's use. Post says there is no evidence that Dumke's role and functions demand and justify "such amenities." As in the case of the state college presidents, the $8,000 would be just the camel getting his head under the tent.

The furnishing of such a residence was not essential to the recruitment of Dumke. His salary is $53,500 but he was hired as chancellor a few years ago for far, far less than that. And prior to the recent Bel Air gift home, he lived in a residence in Pasadena provided by himself at no expense to the taxpayers. He recently received a salary increase of more than $8,000.

It is hard to realize that those who are so lavishly handing out tax dollars for salaries, homes and other benefits to the college presidents are the same regents and trustees who are crying poor mouth and begging the Legislature for millions more to run their educational programs.

Nixon Depends On High Court To Sustain 'Executive Privilege'

WASHINGTON — Cynical though it may sound, there seems one logical reason to explain the extreme position taken by the Nixon administration on executive privilege and the right to enforce secrecy throughout government. The answer is the Supreme Court of the United States.

Consider the sequence of events. President Nixon's aides refuse to testify before Sen. Sam Ervin's Watergate investigating committee. Whether Senator Ervin goes through with his threat to try to arrest them or not, their defiance will bring citations of contempt. This will be appealed to the courts, with at least two to three years intervening before it reaches decision in the Supreme Court.

By that time it can be safely assumed the President will have not four of his own "strict constructionist" justices but five. The court will be his stone wall of defiance to the Congress.

AS RECENT SURVEYS have shown, the four Nixon justices have voted with remarkable consistency in any case involving presidential powers. They have been joined by either Justice Byron White or Justice Potter Stewart with few exceptions to make a majority. This leaves the three survivors, Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall, repeatedly in a minority.

The only possible explanation of Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst's unprecedented proposal for executive privilege for the entire executive establishment is the confidence that the Nixon court will sustain any challenge on this score. In his press conference on March 15 the President said:

"Perhaps this is the time to have the highest court of this land make a definitive decision with regard to this matter (executive privilege)."

In campaigning both in 1968 and in '72 for "strict constructionist" judges, Mr. Nixon was, in effect, campaigning against the Supreme Court. He has never given any legal definition of what he means by "strict constructionist."

THERE IS NOTHING in the Constitution about executive privilege. When his aides are pressed to say what this authority derives from, they cite the separation of powers. But the Kleindienst sweep, covering everyone from the door clerk to the attorney general himself, is to infer authority that the Founding Fathers never dreamed of.

A Supreme Court decision in 1957 overruled a contempt of Congress conviction of a witness who refused to divulge names of alleged Communists before the House Un-American Activities Committee. The opinion, written by Chief Justice Earl Warren, sustained the defense of the witness, a United Auto Workers official, John T. Watkins, based on his earlier ruling to the effect that "an investigation (by Congress) into individual affairs is invalid if unrelated to any legislative purpose. . .There is no Congressional power to expose for the sake of exposure."

But, as those familiar with the Watkins opinion and its significance point out, the "legislative purpose" in the Watergate investigation is clear enough. It is to expose wrongdoing so that laws may be drafted to prevent future subversion of the political process.

Two Legislators Make Public Pay For Their Campaign Offices

(Reprinted from Oakland Tribune)

As the respected, elected leaders of the two houses of the California Legislature, Senate President Pro Tem James Mills and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti hold roughly equivalent responsibilities and prerogatives.

Both Democrats, the two men are naturally in general agreement on the broad political philosophies of their party, but they have decidedly disparate views on conducting other parts of their business.

Mills, from San Diego, concentrates his work at the capitol in Sacramento and maintains the traditional district office.

Moretti, from Van Nuys in the San Fernando Valley, likewise maintains Sacramento and home district offices, but in addition he has administrative assistants and secretaries in state buildings in San Francisco, Los Angeles and even in Mills' home bailiwick of San Diego.

Even the second-ranking Democratic leader in the Senate does better in the branch office department than the president pro tem. George Moscone of San Francisco, the senate majority floor leader, recently obtained Senate Rules Committee approval for a Los Angeles office. . .

The difference in the leadership needs becomes clear enough once one considers that Moretti and Moscone are unofficial but avowed candidates for governor and Mills has expressed no such ambitions. If one has his eyes on the statehouse, then every opportunity must be taken to keep an ear to the ground and a firm hand on the grass roots via any available point of contact, particularly if the office is supplied at taxpayers' expense under the guise of official need.

Moscone's aide revealed a great deal with the explanation, he wouldn't be spending so much time in Southern California so there would be a different evaluation of our needs down there."

Native Sons Outnumbered Heavily Among Our Candidates

How big a role does the native son play in California of the 1970s — particularly in Marin County?

We got to wondering about that after Leo Tinkler asked at a San Rafael City Council candidates' forum for a show of hands of all those born in San Rafael. There was only one hand: that of Thomas R. O'Toole, another city council candidate.

Then Tinkler asked for the hands of all those born in California. There was only a scattering — maybe one out of five.

WELL, MARIN CERTAINLY has lots of new people. It must have to increase by about 60,000 population in 10 years. But we wondered whether the native Californians still held a major share of public offices here.

At hand were biography forms of 84 of the candidates for school boards in Tuesday's election in Marin. So we did a count.

Exactly one-third of the school board aspirants were native sons or daughters — 28 of the 84.

The next biggest totals of candidates were born in New York and Illinois, with nine each. There were three from Massachusetts, three from Wisconsin, and two each from Georgia, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Texas, and Washington.

Alaska, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Kansas, Michigan, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Utah, and the District of Columbia each had a native among the 84 school board candidates. And one candidate (who subsequently won election) was born in Germany.

It proved one thing: the native son is definitely outnumbered.

BUT ANOTHER very interesting fact emerged from this trifling research: Not one of the 84 school board candidates was born in Marin County.

Half of those 28 California-born candidates listed San Francisco as their birthplace. Five listed Los Angeles; and four, Oakland — but these were outnumbered by New York City, with six.

But just as in "Who's Who" and the roster of high federal officials, there were some from places you perhaps never heard of: Wisdom, Mo.; St. Peters, Mont.; Carbondale and New Kensington, Pa.; Quincy, Ill.; Leoti, Kans.

We weren't a bit surprised, though, to find people from such places living in Marin — and running for school board. Marin is that kind of place.

THERE APPEARED to be some public resentment over the amount of money going into San Rafael's municipal election campaign this year. A good deal of this seemed to be directed at Tom O'Toole for hiring a fulltime campaign manager (Andrea Boggs, who was less successful this time than in her management of Peter Arrigoni's campaign for supervisor last year).

We don't much care for such high-spending city election campaigns. City councilman is still a part-time job paying only $200 per month. But perhaps this is evidence that San Rafael is going "big time."

An inexpensive innovation was introduced by candidate Dick Fox. He made his own bumper strips, out of shelf paper. If nothing else, it gave him the biggest variety of bumper strips — not only among city council candidates, but among any group we recall. No two were alike.

We rather liked Dick Fox's "small-time" touch.

As to hired campaign managers, O'Toole's was not a "first" in San Rafael city elections. We recall that when Dr. Charles Aby made his initial race for mayor against Paul Bettini, he hired Price Hall, a seasoned professional, as campaign manager.

Aby, like O'Toole, lost the election.

PREDICTION: If Bill Bagley retires from the Legislature at the close of his current term next year, as he has said he will, look for Jack Nixon to make a try for Bagley's seat.

ART BUCHWALD

You Can't Expect New Nation To Take Mark-Down Minister

WASHINGTON — As everyone knows, the best way to become a U.S. ambassador is to contribute a large sum of money to the presidental election campaign — and have your candidate win.

This election was no different from elections past except that the prices of ambassadorships have gone up. Luxembourg, for example, never went for more than $50,000. But this year it was given to Mrs. Ruth Farkas of Alexander's Department Store, who made a $300,000 contribution to President Nixon's campaign.

Countries throughout the world are very sensitive to the prices put on U.S. diplomatic posts and now consider it a matter of prestige if they get a U.S. ambassador who has made an enormous contribution to the Republican Party.

IT WAS FOR THIS reason that the foreign minister of Zemululu called on an undersecretary of state here the other day.

"I understand you are sending us an ambassador who contributed only $50,000 to President Nixon's campaign. I want you to know my government considers this an insult. We deserve at least a $100,000 contributor."

The undersecretary replied: "Money isn't everything, Mr. Foreign Minister. The man we are sending you has excellent business qualifications and strong connections in the White House. He is held in high esteem by the President despite his paltry contribution."

"That is all well and good, Mr. Secretary, but I have it on highest authority that you are appointing an ambassador to Tonkidash who contributed $100,000. Why has the price on our American ambassador been so deflated?"

"Zemululu is in the malaria belt, and the climate is hot and sticky. Mr. Foreign Minister. We tried to get you a $100,000 contributor but nobody wanted to go to your country. We were very fortunate to find you a $50,000 donor who didn't know where Zemululu was. We were so desperate we were considering sending you a professional diplomat."

"WE WOULD HAVE refused him," the foreign minister said. "My government still does not understand how you can send a $300,000 donor to Luxembourg and a $50,000 one to us. Our country is five times the size of Luxembourg."

"You must understand, Mr. Foreign Minister, that size has nothing to do with our ambassadorial assignments. It is a question of geography. The big donors are partial to Europe and the Caribbean. When you give the kind of money they do, you can't expect them to take a hardship post."

"We still consider a $50,000 contributor unacceptable to us, particularly when the dollar has been devalued twice. We insist you find someone who gave at least $75,000 to President Nixon's victory."

"MR. FOREIGN Minister, may I tell you something in utmost confidence?" the undersecretary said.

"Of course," replied the foreign minister.

"It is true that the ambassador we are sending you contributed only $50,000 publicly to President Nixon's campaign. But what nobody knows is that he also gave another $150,000 in cash under the table. We cannot publicize this secret donation, but you, in fact, are getting a $200,000 American ambassador."

"How do I know you're not making this up?" the foreign minister asked suspiciously.

"The cash is in Maurice Stans' safe at the Committee for the Re-Election of the President. You can go there and look at it yourself."

Reinecke Signs Bill Clarifying Prop. 20

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke yesterday signed a bill clarifying Prop. 20, the coastline protection initiative approved by voters last year.

The bill (SB256) by Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, officially exempts any project that was under construction prior to Nov. 8, 1972, when the new coastal measure came into existence.

The initiative had said permits were required from the Coastal Zone Commission for projects that began after April 1, 1972. But Attorney General Evelle J. Younger ruled the act could not apply to developments begun before it actually was passed by voters.

Reinecke, acting as governor while Gov. Ronald Reagan is out of California, said he was "extremely pleased" to sign the Mills bill because it removes "inequities and uncertainties hanging over permit requirements of coastal developments."

The bill also permits various regional coastal commissions to use permit filing fees to offset their operating costs.

Senior Planner In Novato Quits Post

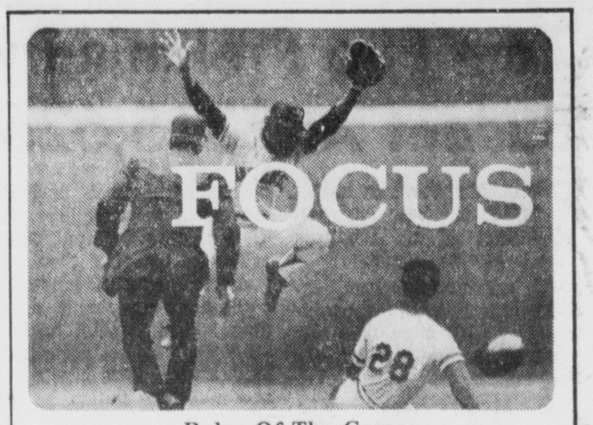
Senior planner Gary Holloway, president of the Novato City Employees Association, has resigned to work as an analyst with the North Central Coast Conservation and Development Commission, Administrative Asst. Rodney B. Brown reported yesterday.

Holloway will leave his Novato post April 30. James McCulloch, 27, of San Luis Obispo, who has worked for the San Luis Obispo County Planning Department, will join the Novato Planning Department as a junior planner April 30, Brown said.

Underground Test Blast Is Detected

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI) — The Uppsala Seismological Institute today registered an underground explosion in the Semipalatinsk nuclear testing area in Siberia, Prof. Markus Baath said.

The explosion, which was detected in Uppsala at 5:40 a.m., measured 5.5 on the Richter scale, Baath said.



Rules Of The Game

Many sports fans are wondering if the new "designated pinchhitter" rule for the American League will be a dramatic change for baseball. By approving the experiment, club executives made the most basic change in the rules of baseball since 1903, when foul balls were ruled strikes. Perhaps the greatest change in the sport, however, took place in 1845, when tagging the runner with the ball was substituted for throwing it at him. With the new rule the ball no longer needed to be big and soft to help prevent injury and quickly became smaller and harder. This enabled it to be batted beyond the original diamond, thrown farther, and pitched faster.

DO YOU KNOW — When was the spitball banned?

Tam Fire Preliminary Budget At $315,626

A $315,626 preliminary budget for 1973-74 has been approved by directors of the Tamalpais Fire Protection District.

The spending program, endorsed Tuesday, is approximately $38,000 more than this year's, according to chief William Canlett.

He said that increase may be deceiving since much of the increase will be accounted for by money the district has been saving for years for special projects, to be spent during the next fiscal year, and therefore raising the budget.

Actually, the chief said the amount of the spending program to be raised by taxes is only about $7,000 more than in 1972-73, $241,602 as compared to $234,648.

The district plans to spend an additional $53,437 from its reserves for a pumper truck, a pickup truck, tools and improvement to water lines. The district also will put $8,000 aside for the first time next year to begin a long-term equipment replacement program, Canlett said. Another $10,000 will be set aside for a long-range plan to construct a new main fire station, he added.

The budget includes $187,264 in salaries, $29,925 for maintenance and operation and $98,437 for capital improvement.

Canlett noted that the budget is tentative, since the district's firemen have not presented requests for raises or fringe benefits.

The spending program would not raise the district's current tax rate of 93 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The provisions of Senate Bill 90 forbid a tax increase at this time, according to the chief.

Sonoma Student Survey Shows Travel Pattern

A housing and transportation survey at Sonoma State College shows most students live near campus in Sonoma County and drive or ride to school in a car.

Survey coordinator Rand Link said the study will provide information about the transportation and housing patterns of students.

The survey showed 86.5 per cent of the students live mostly in rentals in Sonoma County and 8 per cent in Marin County. With responses from 78 per cent of the students, the survey showed the average student to be 23.5 years old which indicates the age is declining as the college grows. A survey three years ago found the average age at 26.

The study also showed an enrollment of 54 per cent men and 46 per cent women with two-thirds in upper divisions or graduate classes.

Returns showed 60 per cent drive to school in their own cars while another 13.5 per cent ride in car pools. Other modes of transportation include walking, 8 per cent; hitchhiking, 7 per cent; and bicycles, 3.5 per cent.

A bus system received endorsement from 60.5 per cent and 31 per cent said they would use a bus service between the campus and downtown Rohnert Park and Cotati.

Shultz Reads Weather First

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, who worries every day about the economy, the devalued dollar, the high cost of meat and the stock market, says he reads the weather report first when he picks up his morning newspaper.

Shultz explained Tuesday that weather has played a major role in food shortages.

"Every morning, the first thing I do...is turn to the weather report to see how we're doing out there in the Midwest," Shultz said.

He said farmers could still salvage a decent harvest if the rains stop now. But so far, he said, "the weather has been foul and the wage and price system can't cure that problem."

Gang Leader To Prison For Life

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — A court sentenced a self-styled urban guerrilla leader to life imprisonment Wednesday for a robbery murder and sent 20 associates to prison for a total of 324 years.

The court announced the sentences against members of the "22nd of October" group after 27 hours deliberation at the end of a trial lasting seven months.

Mario Rossi, a bearded taxidermist who set up the group and named it after its date of foundation, was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of a rent collector.

Commission Rejects Plan For Offices

Plans for an office building have been rejected by the Petaluma Planning Commission.

Planning director William C. McGivern said the commission Tuesday denied the request of Donald Waite to build a 977 square foot office building at 421 Petaluma Boulevard North.

McGivern said commissioners ruled that the office would not be compatible with two homes already located on the property and that the building would cover too much of the lot.

The commission also denied the request of Atlantic and Pacific Building Corp. to retain signs advertising the Baywood Arms apartments, but agreed to allow six months before signs must be removed at 1105 Gumwood Lane and on Highway 101 at Lakeville Highway.

In other business, the commission set May 1 hearings on the request of Connolly Development Corp. for central commercial zoning on land on South McDowell Boulevard at McKenzie Avenue and the request of Douglas Clegg for light industrial zoning on Corona Road at north McDowell Boulevard.

Yoga Brings New Volunteer Career

By BETTY FROST

When Mrs. John Burnham joined a yoga class at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley five years ago, she had no idea that the discipline of yoga would radically change her life.

Now she is conducting three classes in yoga, while continuing to receive instruction from Yogi Wesley Zineski of San Francisco.

Besides the gentle exercise, which Louise Burnham says, "keeps the muscles elastic, brings oxygen to all the cells of the body, stimulates circulation and rests the heart," yoga has a spiritual side.

The ancient practice, believed to be 3,000 years old, is designed "to bring body, mind and spirit working together in harmony. It is a way of life. Yoga disciples are dedicated to offerings of selfless service, and to bringing harm to no one," the Mill Valley woman said.

TWO YEARS ago Mrs. Burnham began to implement these principles by volunteering to teach yoga in the Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital. There she works with the hospitalized patients in a program started by one of the staff psychiatrists.

Mrs. Burnham indicates that the patients respond to the relaxing exercises, and also relate to the concern of those who volunteer their time to help them. She cites one patient, so ill that she could not speak, who could do yoga.

"Many mental patients are searching for a meaning in life. The concentratin of Yoga, involving mind and body is often benficial", Mrs. Burnham explained.

She also conducts a daytime class for friends and neighbors. In good weather the sessions are held in the Burnham garden on the pool deck. During the winter months Mrs. George Leonard, a neighbor, lets the group use the akaido room in her home. Classes continue throughout the year. The women contribute to a "begging bowl" with proceeds sent to a yoga farm to assist with a youth program.

RECENTLY SHE has added a class at Oakmont, an audlt community center, near Santa Rosa, which has a recreation program for the residents. She is teaching a class of 35 women. "Anyone can do yoga at any age," Mrs. Burnham emphasized, "because you learn to conserve energy not expend it."

The former Louise Sheffauer is a lifelong resident of Mill Valley. She is a graduate of the Old Mill Elementary School and Tamalpais High School, as well as the University of California at Berkeley. While at the university, she took tumbling and interpretive dancing. She also likes to play tennis, swim and ski.

She is the wife of John C. Burnham, retired advertising executive formerly employed by the Standard Oil Co.

The Burnhams have two sons, Dr. John Carl Burnham of San Francisco and Timothy Burnham of Santa Rosa.

MRS. JOHN BURNHAM of Mill Valley demonstrates the classic lotus position in yoga. A neophyte five years ago, Mrs. Burnham now teaches three classes in yoga in the garden of her home.

STRUGGLE FOR EQUALITY

Women's Movement Dates To Only 1966

EDITORS NOTE: This is the third of four articles on the U.S. feminist movement and analyzes the contemporary scene.)

By DIANA LOERCHER
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — "The women's movement is the most radical social phenomenon in all history; it makes the impact of Marxism seem old hat," stated Carl Degler, Pulitzer prize-winning professor of American history at Stanford University.

These are strong words to apply to a movement that began (if one can pinpoint when any movement begins) in 1966 in a Washington hotel room, where a dozen or so women gathered with Betty Friedan to discuss strategies at the Third National Conference of Commissions on the Status of Women. This small coterie gradually expanded into the National Organization for Women (NOW), which counts 35,000 members among its 400 chapters.

Because NOW and the National Women's Political Caucus (NWPC) are the largest and most organized of the feminist groups, attention tends to focus on them. They are to some degree a measure of the movement's evolution and an index of the country's collective consciousness. Yet important as their philosophy and action programs are to an understanding of contemporary feminism, they do not tell the entire story.

Flanking NOW and the NWPC are the radical feminists, whose overpublicized attitudes and antics have sometimes misled people into thinking that they represent the movement at large.

The difference between the "radical" feminists and the "moderate" feminists is that the former "define men as the enemy" and contend that women as a class are oppressed by men as a class. They advocate a revolutionary restructuring of society, along matriarchal or anti-capitalist lines, or both. Some of the women affiliated with these groups are avowed lesbians for political as well as personal reasons.

TO THE RIGHT of NOW are the majority of American women, who have chosen to affiliate themselves with no feminist organization. There is evidence, however, that even in the minds of the uncommitted feminist theory is beginning to percolate.

A recent poll conducted by Louis Harris Associates and a questionaire in Redbook magazine produced the following data about the so-called "average" American woman:

She believes that women are second-class citizens; she agrees that women are discriminated against professionally and economically; she admits that the women's liberation movement has affected her thinking; and she supports efforts to change and strengthen the status of women in society.

It seems obvious that whatever pleasing or displeasing shapes it may continue to assume, the women's movement is not going to evaporate, as some have hoped and others have feared. It is 10 years since Miss Friedan wrote her book, "The Feminine Mystique," yet confusion about the fundamental objectives of the movement has not altogether dissipated partly because its implications are so vast as to be imponderable and because its priorities of necessity keep changing.

Another obfuscating element is that the feminist movement in New York City is not the same as the feminist movement in a small Midwestern town. It is not the same to a black woman as it is to a white woman. It is not the same to Mrs. Friedan as it is to Gloria Steinem, Kate Millett and Ti-Grace Atkinson, all of whom objected to Friedan remarks about lesbians and radical feminists in a recent magazine article.

COMMENTED MISS Steinem, "The point of the women's movement is to include all women, so that we can combat in every area the patriarchal prejudice against women as a caste. The movement is only as strong as its ability to unite around the most discriminated against among us — whether that discrimination is due to class, race, age, sexual prefer-

Why Not Dress Up Again?

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Her dresses always looked as though they had been designed in a rage and put on in a tempest...she tried to look picturesque but only succeeded in being untidy...like a bird of paradise that had been out all night in the rain."

Those words were written in 1890-91 by Oscar Wilde in "The Picture of Dorian Gray."

They could just as well be a commentary today on the way so many women are dressing.

That "casual" look in clothes, in other words, has gone just too far. It's time for a return to some sanity, some semblance of elegance, clothes to make men's eyes turn in admiration instead of astonishment.

My suggestion is that we start spring by dressing up again.

Why not begin with Easter Sunday? Remember when it meant a special new bonnet, something to inspire an Irving Berlin song? Remember when you looked forward to the special new outfit to be worn on that day and when you'd not dream of going to church without hat and gloves!

What changed it all? You can blame (or credit) everything from a general letdown in our requirements for etiquette, to rebellion against the "older generation" standards, to a new lifestyle that simply left no time for daily grooming requirements such as washing white gloves and shining one's shoes.

YOU CAN say it all happened because we no longer had our fashion image makers constantly before us. White-gloved Princess Grace went off to royal duties and bringing up a family in Monaco.

The Duchess of Windsor, a supreme example of elegance, went almost into seclusion after the death of the Duke, Britain's former king.

Even Jacqueline Kennedy changed. When she was First Lady, Women's Wear Daily gave her another title—"Her Elegance." Then women copied everything from the now Mrs. Aristotle Onassis pillbox hats to her smart, lower-heeled shoes, and admired or envied her regal look when she entertained heads of state.

Now, more often than not, we catch pictures of Mrs. Onassis windblown, wearing the eternal dark glasses, in pants and "poor boy" pullover tops. (Or, in the case of one Italian magazine's claim, in the altogether).

Somewhere we traded in neatness for carelessness and I think acceptance of pants everywhere —office, shopping, even the most elegant restaurants —helped pull down the barriers.

I'M NOT anti-pantsuits so much as pro-skirts. Trousers

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

A Belated 'Thank You' Comes From One Who Needed A Boost

DEAR RAP:

I've taken several years to write this letter, but I want to say, "Thanks" — for pulling me through a very rough spot in my life. I wrote to you when I was just about at the bottom, and you proved you were real and concerned and very honest with your long letter when I needed it most. I can't say I haven't messed up occasionally since then, but if one event can be a turning point, your letter was it! You showed me I was worth something.

Maybe I've kind of proved it since then. I kept my baby, even though I wouldn't have married his father had he asked me, which he didn't. My folks help care for him while I work and go to college. I enjoy being a "Lib Mama," and Mom and Dad are happy grandparents. Little Christopher doesn't lack for love or training — he's a wonderful part of my life, and a good pal to my college friends. He'll be okay!

What of me? From the beaten and miserable girl I once was I've become a leader. At college I command respect for my brains, activism and bravery. I speak up for my rights, for women's rights, for civil rights, for minority rights,and I usually know what I'm talking about.

Sorry I was so late with this, but I want you to know I'm — VERY GRATEFUL

DEAR GRATEFUL:

And thanks for brightening our day! We remember your letter, and we're sure (judging from a columnist's "read between the lines"character analysis) that you would have made it, no matter what the odds. We're grateful that we had a small part in proving the obvious. — HELEN AND SUE

DEAR RAP:

A while back there were lots of complaints about teachers in your column. So how about printing my version of:

WHAT IS A WONDERFUL TEACHER?

A wonderful teacher is someone who can make you forget that you hate history while he creates vivid pictures of things of the past. He can make you laugh till you're sick at the lessons, but you find that what he taught you sticks in your mind, even after you leave him.

A wonderful teacher understands kids' problems. He is there at his desk early and late, willing to help with any troubles.

He is someone who tells you to "forget about" the big unit you missed when you were out two weeks with strep throat, but then gives you a big fat "B" on your report card for the other things you did do.

He eases the tension of the first big exam by slipping in funny questions, like "Were salami sandwiches the main export of Britain during WWI?"

He never embarrasses students or puts them on the spot, but he gets it across when you aren't doing so well. He is so wonderful you plan to dedicate your first published novel to him.

Most of all, a wonderful teacher is just the thing for any ho-hum school. Please print this, Helen and Sue, as I want to tell my former teacher, Mr. J. W., "thank you!" wherever he is. — J. A., Westfield, N.J.

DEAR J.A.:

Here 'tis, Honey. Mr. J.W. should be a happy man today. — HELEN AND SUE

Mrs. Herrick Is Class President

A former San Anselmo woman, Mrs. Georgia Herrick of Napa, has been elected president of the licensed vocational nursing class graduating in 1974 from Napa College.

During the 10 years she and her husband, Don, lived in Marin Mrs. Herrick was a Red Cross volunteer, a Sonoma State Hospital volunteer and assisted with the vision and hearing testing at Brookside School in San Anselmo.

ence or life-style."

The fact that the movement has grown large enough to accommodate this complexity of regionalism, factionalism and individualism is a tribute to it. And there is yet another crucial distinction to be drawn, one of nomenclature. Catherine East, executive secretary of the U.S. Citizen's Advisory Council on the Status of Women, offered the following analysis in a recent commentary on the now pending equal rights amendment (ERA) to the Constitution:

"THE TERM, women's liberation, can be appropriately applied only to a small segment of the women's rights movement. . . the branch of the movement that had its origin in the student activities of the early 1960s. These women, primarily radical feminists, have thus far been mainly concerned with analyzing the origins, nature and extent of women's subservient rule in society, with an emphasis on the psychology of oppression. For the most part, they have engaged in activities to educate themselves and others about these issues. The structure most common to this branch of the movement is a small locally based consciousness-raising group."

(These so-called C-R groups usually include eight to 12 women who discuss their feelings about themselves, each other, women in general, their husbands, their lovers and men in general. Their aim is greater respect for themselves as women and to gain courage for the fight for equality in a "man's world.")

"The women's rights movement," the analysis goes on, "is largely composed of the kind of women that are in the National Association of Women Lawyers or the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and they are, by and large, pretty conservative as a group. It is these groups that are working for reforms in education and in other areas of society. They are not trying to overthrow the government, abolish the family, or force all women into employment. They are seeking to bring women under the protection of the Constitution, to make the family a real partnership and to make freedom of choice for women a reality."

As seen in the preceding article of this series the women's rights contingent has achieved the most concrete progress by electing to work within the system and fight sex discrimination through the law and politics. The last election alone recorded a 20 per cent increase in the number of women legislators, making likely the prospect of more Bella Abzugs and Shirley Chisholms in Congress.

BOTH NOW and the National Women's Political Caucus have brought pressure to bear in the area of women's rights, and their recent conventions, both held in February, point the way to future goals. The NWPC, headed by its first national leader, Frances (Sissy) Farenthold from Texas, is concentrating on catapulting more women into public office and on lending support to minorities and the poor. NOW has also committed itself to a re-examination of the needs of minority women and proclaimed 1973 its "Action Year Against Poverty."

These steps should help counteract the impression that feminism is the prerogative of "spoiled middle-class white women," as detractors have charged. That feminist organizations are becoming more responsive to the special needs of black or poor women, or both, who suffer from double discrimination, indicates an empathy that extends beyond parochial concerns. But the conflict of loyalties experienced by many black women causes them to keep away from the movement, with a few exceptions, notably Aileen Hernandez, past president of NOW.

Another significant development is that NOW, in the words of its president, Wilma Scott Heide, is becoming more "radical." For example, NOW "committed itself to introduce and actively support legislation to end discrimination based on sexual orientation." In other words, NOW has officially sanctioned lesbianism, long a subject of controversy among the "straight" members of NOW, who feel either that lesbians hurt the feminist image, or that they, like all women, suffer from a "common oppression." Also in a radical vein is Mrs. Heide's emphasis on "confrontation tactics," civil disobedience, and more drastic though nonviolent action to achieve objectives.

Beneath the rhetoric and resolution, there are certain principles that unite most feminists and that have grown out of historical circumstances. Contraception, and now the legalization of abortion, have given women more control over their bodies, and education has given them some control over their minds.

It is inconceivable, considering these changes, that educated women who need not have babies unless they choose to could perpetuate the passive life-styles of previous female generations. In a sense, women are demanding "liberation" because they already have it within their grasp.

FOR THOSE WHO are still wondering what women really want, the essence of the feminist platform is that women wish to be treated as equals both at work and at home. They reject having their generic identity, or that of males, determine their roles. In legalese, this is the burden of the ERA.

Though the theory is acceptable to many people, it is the practice that creates the problems. The ultimate thrust of feminism is at the institution of the family, which some people feel is in enough trouble already. According to feminist theory the canonization of the woman as mother, homemaker and wife is obsolete. The duties traditionally assigned to her should be shared by her husband, just as the wife would share the burden of providing for the family.

The other controversial issue is maternity. The birthrate dropped to a record low in 1972 and some feminists credit the movement. For those women who decide to have children and wish to or must continue working, the solutions are child-care centers and husbands who will pitch in at home. But, as any feminist will tell you, there are not enough of either one around.

CONSERVATIES PROCLAIM with consternation that the "maternal instinct" is atrophying or becoming perverted under feminist pressures. It is still, however, a matter of ongoing debate exactly how much "masculine" and "feminine" behavior is innate and how much is culturally conditioned. Feminists assert, of course, that the latter is the determinate. They also contend that just because women have the capacity to bear children, this does not mean it is their function.

Lingering in the mind like a nagging refrain is the fear that men and women of the future will be so absorbed in their private pursuits that they will lead lives bereft of love for each other, and that the act of procreation will be an occasional obligation carried out in test tubes and artificial wombs.

THE ULTIMATE point of feminism is not a panacea for the problems of the human condition but simply freedom of choice. Feminism does not say that women should not marry and that they should not bear children; only that they should have the option not to if they wish.

In her debate with William F. Buckley Jr. before the Cambridge Union in England, Germaine Greer made the following remarks about the women's liberation movement:

"The result must be a better life for us all.

"I don't mean more comfortable, because God knows for the first few generations it won't be. . . because we have an enormous intellectual weight upon our shoulders. We have to invent a way of life which was never before possible. But at least we can argue in the true sense of 'better' that we have a more moral existence when women act out of free choice, when they produce work which is their best, when they are able to face criticism, when they have enough intellectual and spiritual muscle not to break down and be hidden by uxorious husbands from the pressure of cultural examination."

Students Help Pick Teacher

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

An elementary school in California has added an interesting part to the traditional new-teacher interview — student participation.

When Mrs. W. became pregnant after the school year started she decided that she would teach only until the Christmas recess, then the school system would need to hire a new fifth-grade teacher.

Together Mrs. W. and her fifth-graders worked on the criteria they thought suitable. The school district carried out its usual methods for advertising an opening and for screening candidates.

But with one exception.

After the candidates had been reduced to the final few, the interview team to make the decisive selection included three members of the fifth-grade class chosen by all the students in the class.

FOR THE TEACHER who was chosen, it was a humbling experience.

There were questions about her concept of fairness, of classroom environment, of noise levels, of grading on worth and not on comparisons and so forth.

This is the season of the year when teachers are being chosen for next year to replace those retiring or leaving. Each elementary school probably knows now which classes will be getting new teachers next year.

If the vacancy is to be in the fifth grade, then there might be students from both grades 4 and 5 who sit in on the interview and help to vote on which candidate they think would best be qualified to teach next year's fifth grade.

High-school vacancies, especially in schools which are departmentalized, generally call for teachers with skills in one or more subjects. Why not let the students who will be taking the classes help in choosing the next teacher?

CERTAINLY, THE members of the varsity basketball team could help to choose the next basketball coach, the students in the band could help determine criteria for a music instructor, and the better art students might contribute enormously to the screening of candidates for a vacancy in the art department.

What about a new school principal? Is there a school system which would be willing to allow students to contribute criteria for selection? Or a school system which would allow students to sit as equals on an interview committee?

There are a handful of schools in the United States which are including parents on selection committees both for teachers and administrators. Often these parents admit they get many of their ideas for criteria by asking the school-age children.

Yet parents have their own concerns. And these may differ substantially from those of their own children. While a student on an interview committee may rate a candidate highly because he says he would not keep the whole class in if just one pupil were to misbehave, it is possible a parent might give a low rating to that type of discipline.

Certainly, we wouldn't want parents and administrators to turn over the full selection process to students nor to let them alone make the final decisions. But letting them participate might prove to be an excellent way of weeding out the ineffectual and would-be teachers who have no rapport with children.

BERNIE LENZ, president of the Modeling Association of America, advises young women interested in modeling to start getting experience as early as junior high school to help build their confidence. (UPI Telephoto)

Girls Encouraged To Seek After Career In Modeling

NEW YORK (UPI) — They look at you, a pretty girl with long, lean frame, good bones, a knack with clothes and they say, "You should be a model."

The words are music to the ears of thousands of teen-agers. But how should a teen react? Well, don't just stand there saying, "Thanks." Do something.

The encouragement comes from Mrs. Richard (Bernie) Lenz, president of the Modeling Association of America, Inc. (MAA), and herself a former model with John Robert Powers.

"If possible," she advised, "start getting experience as early as junior high school. Everything a girl can do, and early, is helping to build her confidence.

"If a girl doesn't feel secure, she doesn't have a chance whatever her field."

IF HER GOAL is the highly paid and specialized field of photographic modeling, forget about starting past age of 23, she said, because "the camera picks up lines that the mirror doesn't even show."

Mrs. Lenz, a stylish, stringbean blonde, talked of trends and opportunities during the MAA's third annual convention at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

MAA, she said, has some 150 agency members around the country and in Canada. One of MAA's major concerns is setting standards for agencies.

"An agency has to have operated successfully at least two years before we'll even consider membership," she said. "A great deal of ethics is involved...there'll always be a few people who can harm the profession."

For the convention, various agencies brought in some of their models, giving them a chance as Mrs. Lenz said, "to meet the pros and help open some doors in New York.

"NEW YORK is still the mecca...where everything's at, the ad agencies, the photographers, the filming being done."

Mrs. Lenz, reared in Hollywood, began her career in her teens because someone took a look at her clothes horse figure and photogenic face and said, "You should be a model."

"I was 14 at the time," she said. "I was already five feet 10 inches, skinny...did I have the complexes to overcome." That's why—for one reason anyway—she's for professional guidance.

Most of the "pros" have gone the route, she said, and know the pitfalls.

She and her husband (parents of a son, 19, at the University of Nevada, and a daughter, 23, in the WAC) opened their agency in Las Vegas, Nev., in 1960. They say it's now the state's largest.

MRS. LENZ said the television commercials are the most coveted assignments today because of the initial pay plus the residuals that can run into thousands of dollars yearly.

In addition to the fashion runways and the photographers' studios, there's a whole new area opening, she said. That's the promotion model, who adds a dash of femininity to conventions.

"The convention business is just exploding," said Mrs. Lenz. "A girl can do conventions for $60 to $200 a day. But the work is harder, the assignment shorter."

In the field generally, she said, the demand is less for the conventional pretty face. Instead, it's for the "interesting" face. A bump on the nose, a crook in the teeth are no handicap now.

"But as you climb the ladder," she added, "don't try to be too individual. Go the natural route. The Peggy Moffitts (Peggy helped make the Rudi Gernreich topless swimsuit an international sensation) and the Angelica Hustons (Miss Huston, daughter of director-producer John Huston and a current top property) are one in a million."

have a definite place on the modern scene and I confess that I'm wearing them even as I write this at the office. But often there is some feminine rebellion that says, "Put on a dress today," and immediately I feel more like a woman.

I take no strong stand one way or another on hats. They go handsomely with some faces, terribly with others. Apparently the young are helping to bring them back for the millinery industry reports a thriving business this spring.

For whatever it's worth as the final word, the 19th century German philosopher Nietzsche once wrote, "Has a woman who knew that she was well-dressed ever caught a cold?"

Consumer Week Observance Set

The Council of Better Business Bureaus, Inc., has designated the week April 30 through May 5 as Consumer Information Week.

The purpose of the week is to encourage consumers to make their wishes known to manufacturers and to further the relationship between consumers and industry in the area of product information, according to the bureau.

Exciting Time Ahead: Visit To Disneyland

Robert Paduvires of San Rafael will take his first airplane ride next month, a trip to Disneyland, because he was the winner at the Marin Easter Seal Society Auxiliary luncheon last week.

The fact that the winner was unknown to the members and not at the luncheon was at first a disappointment to them, but since learning that Paduvires, 41, spent the first 26 years of his life as a patient at Sonoma State Hospital, the members' disappointment has turned to joy.

Accompanying Cordone to Disneyland will be his "godmother," Mrs. Eugene Cordone of Novato. Diane Cordone met Paduvires when he was attending a religious class for handicapped persons at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Paduvires left the hospital 15 years ago and, until last year lived and worked at a rest home in Novato. Last year he went to work for the Redwood Guest Home in San Rafael as a gardener and handyman and is living in his own apartment in San Rafael, according to Mrs. Cordone.

Ad Executive Guest On Radio

"Why it does not pay to advertise" will be the topic for advertising executive Samm Coombs of Mill Valley on "Jorie Talks" Tuesday at 9 a.m. on KTIM.

Coombs will discuss his "a la carte" type agency, Samm Coombs Co., recently opened in San Francisco.

Cinema critic Sheila Benson of Mill Valley will review "The Nelson Affair" on the show, which is followed at 9:30 a.m. by Diane MacMillan's "Kitchen Time In Marin."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

In Case Your Are Wondering On The Rule Of Eleven Use

The rule of eleven applies when a player has led his fourth highest card in a suit. The other three players will have, among them, a certain number of cards higher than the card led. To get that certain number, subtract the card that has been led from eleven. One use of the rule is shown in today's hand.

A GOOD PLAY

When West led the deuce of diamonds, South agonized and finally played the ten, fortunately for him. East covered with the king, and South won with the ace.

Since he could win only eight tricks without the clubs, South led a club at once. East took the king of clubs and returned the six of diamonds — fourth highest from his original holding in the suit.

South played a low diamond, and West had to decide whether to play the eight of diamonds or whether to unblock by dropping the jack of diamonds under dummy's queen.

EIGHT FATAL

It would be fatal to play the eight of diamonds. Dummy would win with the queen and lead another club. East would take the ace of clubs, but the diamonds would be blocked.

West wasn't overjoyed to throw away his jack of diamonds, but the Rule of Eleven told him that this play was safe. East's return of the six of diamonds was clearly fourth highest lead.

CONTRACT DEFEATED

Six from eleven left five, which meant that South, West and North held exactly five cards higher than the six of diamonds. West held two of them, the jack and eight. Dummy had started with two of them, the queen and the ten. Therefore South had started with only one diamond higher than the six — and he had already played his ace of diamonds.

So West threw away the jack of diamonds, and East was able to take the ace of clubs and the rest of the diamonds, defeating the contract.

Soviet Art Treasures On Display

By JO ANN LEWIS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON — one thing the Americans and Soviets have found to agree about is, of all things, the art of France.

As a happy result, "Impressionist and Post-Impressionist Paintings from the USSR," the first major loan to the United States from the treasure-filled Hermitage in Leningrad and Pushkin Museum in Moscow has opened to the public at the National Gallery of Art.

Forty-one paintings were selected from hundreds acquired in Paris during the first years of this century by two wealthy Moscow merchants of extraordinary vision and taste, Sergei Shchukin and Ivan Morozov. Their collections were "nationalized" during the 1917 October revolution, and were subsequently exhibited for a decade or so in a new museum of western modern art in Moscow. The paintings were ultimately banished to storage by Stalin, and the museum was closed.

In the late '50s, after Stalin's death, the paintings began slowly to emerge once again, and have since been shown with increasing frequency in the Soviet Union and abroad, though never in this country. The Soviet collections of modern western art from 1870 to 1930 are considered to be among the richest in the world.

Included here are seven works by Matisse and Gauguin; six by Picasso; five by Cezanne, and others by Van Gogh, Monet, Renoir, Vlaminck and Leger. Some are masterpieces, some are not, and those expecting very large or very surprising works will be disappointed. This is a relatively small exhibition of moderate-size paintings by artists well-represented in American collections. But they are all unfamiliar, and therefore fascinating examples of favorite artists at various stages in their careers.

After seeing the exhibition and walking through the National Gallery's own collection of impressionists and post-impressionists, one realizes how easy it is to become accustomed to familiar works, and subsequently stop really looking at them. It takes the excitement of new and unfamiliar paintings to re-ignite interest, and shake loose a few new insights and perspectives. For that reason alone, the exhibition from the USSR is well worth the queue.

Though American museums, scholars and diplomats have dreamed of such an exhibition for years, it has actually come about through the efforts of one American businessman-art collector, Dr. Armand Hammer, chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corp. Dr. Hammer has had large-scale business dealings with the Soviets since the 1920s, and has lent his own collection at the Hermitage and Pushkin museums.

Hammer recently acquired the art firm of M. Knoedler and Co., New York, and this exhibition was originally conceived to be shown in that relatively small space. The decision to bring it to Washington was taken later, and that, too, was arranged by Hammer.

As one enters the exhibition, one is struck by the Plexiglas boxes devised by the National Gallery to provide the protective covering stipulated by the lenders. Great pains have been taken with the lighting to make the works as visually accessible as possible, despite the encasement. No complaints. Plexiglas curtains beat iron curtains any day.

The paintings occupy four galleries, and are hung chronologically, beginning with a room full of impressionists and Cezanne, who exhibited with the impressionists in his early years. Cezanne dominates, with five late works, one a tiny, jewel-like study of nude bathers, which, despite its size, has all the monumentality and splendor of his many larger versions of this theme.

There is also a rather passionate Mont Ste.-Victoire, of which Cezanne painted 60 or so variations. It makes for interesting comparisons with the many other paintings of Mont Ste.-Victoire in the United States, notably in Washington, Philadelphia, and Baltimore.

Also outstanding in the impressionist group is a full-length portrait of a young boy, Etienne Goujon, a painting that is having a happy reunion after half a century or more with a matching portrait of Etienne's sister, Marie, also painted by Renoir in the same year, 1885, and now in the National Gallery's permanent collection.

The next room, shared by Gauguin and Van Gogh, is enlightening in that it contains examples from the year 1888 when the two artists lived together in Aries for a brief, tumultuous period, which ended when Van Gogh cut off his ear. Here we see an atypical Van Gogh painting of the Arena at Aries, and a portrait of Dr. Rey, who took care of him. Van Gogh later went to live at Auvers. There is a beautiful small painting of the cottages at Auvers from 1890.

Matisse occupies the third gallery with several transitional canvases predating 1914, including the joyous "Nasturtiums and 'The Dance,'" a painting within a painting. The canvas depicted in the background is one of Matisse's masterpieces, one of a park painted for patron Shchukin's mansion in Moscow. Russia's most glorious Matisses are not here.

The last gallery is filled with some fine early Picassos and two splendid canvases by the "naive" painter, Henri Rousseau. One, a jungle fantasy entitled "Horse Attacked by a Jaguar," from 1910, is clearly one of the stars of the show. It is also startlingly similar in composition and concept to the Rousseau painting "Tropics," also from 1910, recently sold off by the Metropolitan Museum in New York, and purchased by a collector in Japan. If the quality of that work is in any way comparable to this Russian Rousseau (and, according to scholars it is), the Met's director has indeed made a most grevious and irretrievable error.

The paintings will be on view in Washington through April 29, and at the Knoedler Gallery in New York from May 3 to 26.

For those who cannot see the exhibition first hand, a film about it will be aired on the Public Broadcasting Service April 29. Thereafter, it will be available nationwide through the National Gallery's extension service.

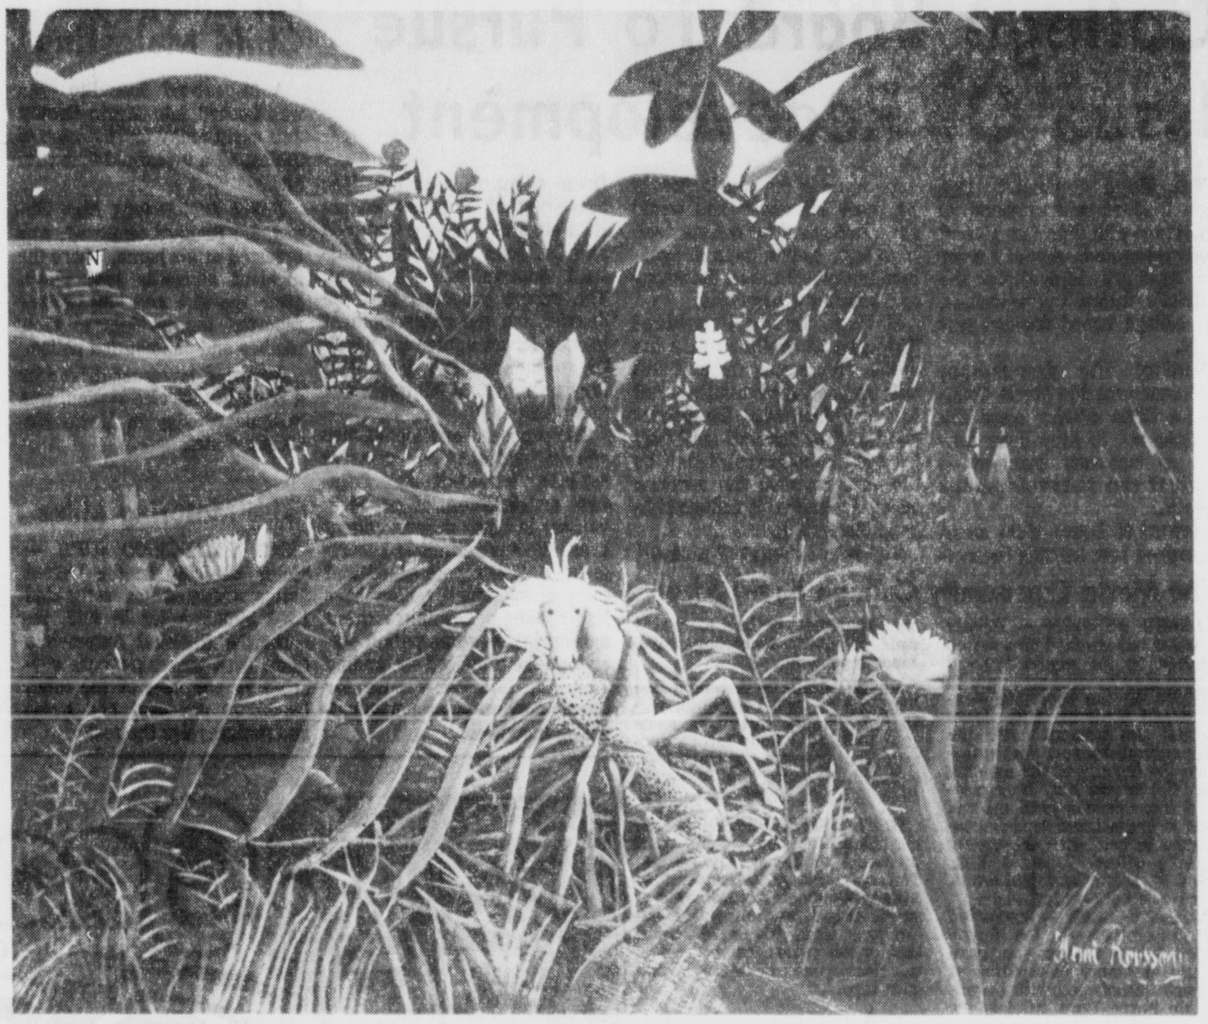
FROM MOSCOW—"Nasturtiums and 'The Dance'" is currently one of 41 French paintings, owned by the Soviet government, which is on display at Washington's National Gallery of Art.



A ROUSSEAU OIL—"Horse Attacked by a Jaguar," by Rousseau is among the Soviet Union's vast collection of French Impressionist and Post-Impressionist paintings, now on display in the nation's capitol. The works of art are from the Hermitage and Pushkin museums.

CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS
By Ken Reichard
Photographer's Wedding Day

The day you get your first "real" camera . . . that better camera you've been dreaming about . . . is a great day for any photo enthusiast. It's almost like a wedding day. And like any union, if the two are incompatible, there's trouble ahead.

There are great photographers, for instance, who find that they simply cannot use a 35mm camera. Others rely on it for everything from portraits to great action pictures or location scenes.

Some people, who like to do things slowly, carefully, and admire fine equipment, prefer the twin-lens reflex cameras (like Rolleiflex) with their sharp definition and big negatives. Women generally don't like "gadgety" cameras . . . so they will usually prefer the completely automatic cameras that have taken the world by storm. Other camera bugs actually enjoy doing things for themselves, setting lens, focus, etc.

The point is that when you go hunting for that "real" camera, don't just marry the first beauty that comes along. Take a long, thoughtful look, using head as well as heart, and you can be sure of a long and happy life together.

We'll gladly help you get together with the right camera partner . . . and we have the experience to help. See us for all your photographic needs!

College Board To Pursue Issue Of Redevelopment

The Marin Community College District will continue to negotiate with the San Rafael Redevelopment Agency over the agency's impact on the district's future tax revenues, the college board decided last night.

During the discussion, spokesmen for the Marin Council for Civic Affairs urged the trustees not to drop their lawsuit — currently inactive — against the redevelopment agency.

Stewart N. Boxer of the council argued that settling the revenue issue in the courts "would be more effective" and would set a precedent for college dealings with redevelopment agencies in Corte Madera, Larkspur and possibly other cities.

College Board President Theodore C. Wellman said the option of pressing the suit still will be open if negotiations fail to accomplish what the district wants. Other trustees said they believe the college shouldn't be the test case on the revenue issue, according to college publicist Earlene Jones.

The board approved a report from a board subcommittee consisting of Trustees Donald K. Felt and Frances Compton and Dr. John A. Grasham, district superintendent-president. The report proposed that the district ask the redevelopment agency for an agreement parallel to the agency's pact with Marin County, to eliminate any "ambiguities."

The proposed agreement also should protect the district against "extraordinary" inflation or deflation of property values in the redevelopment area, the subcommittee recommended. The report asked that the redevelopment agency base its revenue reimbursement agreement on some period other than the proposed one ending June 30, 1973 as a base for figuring average property valuation increases.

CLOSED SESSION — Briefly discussed but reached no decision whether to go ahead with a planned May 7 closed session with Grasham on the superintendent-president's contract. Mrs. Jones reported the trustees noted the Independent-Journal had questioned the legality of the meeting under the Brown Act. They postponed any decision until the full board is present and further consultation is held with the county counsel's office. Trustees Felt, Robert E. Oliver and William J. Filante were absent last night.

INDIAN VALLEY — Instructed staff to negotiate with the Novato Unified School District for possible use of empty classrooms at Pacheco School, and with Hamilton Air Force Base officials for rooms on the base as temporary facilities for Indian Valley College classes. Approved staffing the North Marin campus for 1973-74 with the equivalent of 20.5 full time positions including instructors, one counselor and one librarian. Postponed action on a proposed faculty selection policy for the new college.

ETHNIC STUDIES — Postponed action to the next regular meeting May 2, on proposed creation of a new ethnic studies department. After a workshop session on the issue last week, trustees informally expressed preference for the idea, if existing courses scattered through other departments can be combined in one department without increased staff or extra budgeting, Mrs. Jones reported.

PERSONNEL — Accepted resignations of Mrs. Lee Gillin, registered nursing instructor since 1968, and Billie Anita Littell, dental assisting instructor since 1967. Granted a maternity leave to Ruth K. Nash, biology instructor.

RECLASSIFICATIONS — Reclassified five nonteaching staff members to higher pay ranges. The only major raise went to Sydney Goldstein, coordinator of public events, whose monthly salary went from $634 to $850. Total cost of the raises for the rest of this fiscal year will be $880, Grasham reported.

NEW COURSES — Approved, for next fall, new courses in human sexuality, the "drug scene," a course for women on the body and emotions, classes in arithmetic for consumers, and one in California grass-roots politics.

ENVIRONMENT — Approved guidelines recommended by the county counsel's office, for evaluating future site acquisition and building plans, in terms of environmental impact.

SALARIES — Set a workshop session for 7:30 p.m. April 25 to consider proposed salary increases for nonteaching staff. Classified employee representatives have asked for a package including a 6 per cent raise, Mrs. Jones said.

AUDITOR — Again hired Sleezer and Eckoff, certified public accountants, to audit the district's books at a fee of up to $5,300, and to audit the college's federal grants programs for no more than $3,500.

ADJOURNED — To the workshop session April 25.

Man Is Booked On Charge Of Child Molesting

A 31-year-old Sausalito man was booked into Marin County Jail early today on suspicion of molesting a 9-year-old Sausalito girl.

Police said Robert Alan Girard, 315 Richardson Street, was arrested at his home, where the incident allegedly took place, after the girl and her brother reported the incident to their mother and she notified police.

Girard, a tow truck driver for a Sausalito service station, was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

The Motoring Miles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Motor vehicles in the United States traveled an estimated 1,250 billion miles in 1972, reports the National Automobile Club, with passenger cars covering 79 per cent of the total, trucks 19 per cent and buses and motorcycles the rest.

Gas, Water Bubble Into Michigan Town

WILLIAMSBURG, Mich. (UPI) — This tiny northern Michigan community was evacuated today as mysterious craters some as wide as 25 feet and bubbling with natural gas and water, began spreading through the area.

State officials said they "suspect" a nearby oil drilling operation may be to blame.

The Grand Traverse County sheriff's department said it would ask Gov. William G. Milliken to declare a state of emergency if the situation worsened.

Investigators from the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) were on the scene, and a spokesman said "at this point we don't know how to assess it."

"We suspect, but I emphasize that we only suspect, it comes from escaping gas from an Amoco (American Oil Co.) well there which is being drilled below Williamsburg in Whitewater Township," he said.

The bubbling craters began forming Wednesday afternoon, measuring only a few inches in diameter at first and widening in some cases to as much as 25 feet.

Early reports placed the number of holes at about 20. New craters were forming, however, as the day wore on, over an area of more than two square miles.

State police closed off a 15-mile portion of M-72 in the area where the craters were first noticed. Evacuation began Wednesday night and by mid-morning, about 50 families, virtually the entire population of Williamsburg, had left their homes.

Art Slaughter, chief of the DNR's geological survey division, said from the scene that if the Amoco well was the source of the problem, it would be shut down. He said it may prove necessary to do some drilling to vent the oil and gas and prevent an explosive buildup.

The community is located in the heart of Michigan's oil drilling country. The suspect well is located just south of the community. There are other drilling operations under way in nearby Kalkaska and Roscommon.

There were no fires or injuries reported as a result of the gaseous craters.

Hearing Is Set In Morals Case

A preliminary hearing has been set May 1 in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for Douglas Dwight Evans, 43, of Petaluma, on a child molesting charge.

Evans was arrested April 4 by Petaluma police on suspicion of molesting his mentally retarded son. He is free on his own recognizance.

DEPARTING FERRY — Largely screened by a maze of on-and-off ramps, the old ferry Berkeley houses beneath her peeling paint and weathering wood one of the world's largest floating souvenir shops, but not for much longer. The old boat is soon to leave Sausalito for San Diego where it will become part of a maritime museum and house marine artifacts instead of knicknacks and commemorate her years of service as a ferry plying the bay rather than a store "on the beach." (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

One Last Voyage Will End A Colorful Ferry Career

By PAT ANGLE

In a couple of weeks, the grand old ferryboat Berkeley will leave San Francisco Bay on a final voyage, ending a long and colorful career on the bay, a career that began in the past century.

Luther W. Conover, who operates one of the world's largest floating gift shops — The Trade Fair — aboard the vessel in Sausalito, announced yesterday the boat has been sold to the San Diego Maritime Museum.

"I'm very happy for her," Conover said with a fond look at the old boat. "She will be completely renovated and turned into a floating museum for marine artifacts.

"It's a most fitting use for the old queen of the ferryboat fleet."

Recently, there had been talk that the Sausalito City Council might declare the ferry an historical monument, but the plan never progressed past the talking stage and now the Berkeley will be leaving Sausalito forever in mid-May.

When she leaves the slip where she has been berthed for 13 years in the heart of the city's waterfront, the 1,800-ton Berkeley will be towed to the Bethlehem shipyard in San Francisco, there to be made seaworthy, according to Conover.

Two or three days later, he said, she will be on her way to her new home in San Diego, where the museum plans to incorporate her into its waterfront development, which also includes such historic vessels as the bark Star of India.

The 300-foot long Berkeley was launched, amid much fanfare, from the old Union Iron Works in San Francisco in October of 1898, the newest and most advanced of the old Southern Pacific ferry fleet which numbered 50 vessels during its peak in the 1930s and carried millions of passengers and autos around the bay.

A newspaper of that date — when ferryboat launchings were big news — noted that Marin Huntington, daughter of railroad baron E. E. Huntington, pushed the button which loosed the stays and started the boat on its way as whistles blew and people cheered.

The Berkeley was truly an innovative craft at its launching, with steel rather than wooden hull and the first triple expansion engine driven by propellers. The bay's most avid ferry watchers made dire predictions about the fate of the "new-fangled contraption."

But the Berkeley survived and continued to carry passengers between the East Bay and San Francisco for nearly 60 years until the railroad abandoned the ferry fleet in 1957. (Occasionally she traveled to Sausalito when the regular ferry on that route was out of commission or in the boatyard for refurbishing.)

In April of 1906, the vessel became an integral part of the bay's history when it was used to evacuate victims of the San Francisco earthquake and fire.

The Berkeley made other headlines, too, during its many years of service:

In 1925, she bumped into a tug boat near Goat Island (Yerba Buena) in the dense fog.

On another foggy morning in 1936, she collided with the ferryboat El Paso, again off Yerba Buena, a glancing blow causing no serious damage.

In 1954, during a strong tide, she slammed into a pier in San Francisco, smashing 30 feet of piling, but injuring no one.

The Berkeley even had a brief fling in show business in 1956 when Arthur Godfrey staged his television show on its decks.

Yet, only two years later, the ferryboat sank to the depth of degradation when a whaling firm purchased her for use as a fish reduction plant.

Before that odious plan was put into effect, Conover discovered her plight and purchased her in 1959 "to save her from a fate worse than death", then brought her to Sausalito to serve as The Trade Fair.

He said he decided to abandon his booming business — The Fair will close when the ferry leaves — for several reasons.

For one thing, the Golden Gate Bridge District has refused to include the Berkeley in its plans for a downtown Sausalito terminal and the boat may lose its home once the facility is built.

Also, according to Conover, his landlord, Herbert Madden Sr., has refused to renew the lease on the ferry slip since it expired in 1970. "This had made it impossible to invest more money for improving and refurbishing the boat," he said.

The city's tentative plans to designate the Berkeley as an historical monument might have been the final straw. "The city wanted me to bear the expense of maintaining their monument and I just don't have the money," Conover said.

Consequently, the Berkeley will leave Sausalito next month, not with whistles and flourishes, but perhaps with a few nostalgic old souls on hand to bid her adieu.

She can never be replaced.

Board Seeks Added Facts On Closing Three Schools

The San Rafael Board of Education, again wrestling with the prospect of closing up to three small neighborhood schools due to declining enrollment, last night asked for more information on the situation.

The board, after listening to proposals to close Gallinas, MacPhail or Hartzell schools, asked Supt. John F. Plank to study an alternative aimed at changing school boundary lines to hike enrollment in Gallinas School.

The board also said it will review a previous proposal to close West End School at 7:30 p.m. April 26, Plank said.

Plank last night told the board that an enrollment of about 123 pupils at Gallinas School is not sufficient to justify six teachers. Closing Gallinas School and merging it with MacPhail School would provide more teaching flexibility as well as result in a savings of about $20,000 annually, according to Plank.

In addition, Gallinas School could be rented and become a source of revenue, he said.

Plank told the board that other proposals aimed at meeting declining enrollment in the district include closing MacPhail School and merging it with Gallinas School; closing Hartzell School and splitting pupils between MacPhail and Gallinas schools, or changing boundary lines to shift about 45 pupils from Hartzell to Gallinas.

Parents, arguing that closing any of the three Gallinas Valley schools would result in busing of students, costly reestablishment of facilities should they be needed later, and emotional shock to students, favored the boundary shift, Plank said.

"Over the next two years we're going to have to close three small neighborhood schools to keep up with declining enrollment," Plank said today, adding that enrollment at the Gallinas Valley schools has dipped by about 40 per cent over the last five years.

Should schools be closed, they can become sites of the school system's alternative programs or be rented, he said.

Plank asked the board to adopt a position statement on the school closings, suggested that public hearings be held in each neighborhood where schools may be closed and urged a time schedule for closings be adopted.

Plank said he will recommend that the board close West End School next year, phase out one Gallinas Valley School during the 1974-75 school year, and then study the closing of a third school.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

MILITARY — Said it will not automatically furnish names and addresses of senior students to the military.

HAIR — Told Terra Linda High School Principal Frank Stocking to meet with school coaches and parent Paul Burks, who has challenged school grooming requirements for students who participate in interschool sports.

TESTS — Said that state tests don't necessarily reflect student abilities, and asked that a state schools representative address the board on the matter.

SALARY — Took no action on a proposal by employees for a 5.5 per cent salary increase.

BENEFITS — Directed the district employee benefits committee to interview insurance brokers and recommend selection of an agent to handle employee fringe benefit policies.

PERSONNEL — Appointed Julian Clark, Helen Smith and Emmaline Williams as bus drivers at $3.40 per hour, and Greg Danelz, Philip McAtee and Robert Pollitt as adult education instructors at $8.45 per hour.

GIFTS — Accepted a television from Dorothy O'Hanlon for district use.

CLOSED SESSION — Said it will meet in closed session at 6 p.m. today to hear charges against an employee, and said it will meet in special session at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday to discuss closing small neighborhood schools.

Hub Woman Is Hurt In Crash

A San Anselmo woman was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital after suffering a back sprain in a traffic smashup in San Rafael.

Police said the injured woman, Della Altman, 55, of 1346 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, failed to stop for a red light at the intersection of Third and A streets Sunday and hit an auto driven by Ivy A. Wellington, 45, of San Rafael.

Mrs. Wellington was not hurt. Police said they cited Mrs. Altman.

Another Bank Hikes Its Rate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wells Fargo Bank increased its prime lending rate one-quarter per cent today, the third major California bank to establish a 6¾ per cent rate.

Crocker Bank and Bank of California hiked their rates to major corporate borrowers earlier this week.

Wells Fargo will not increase rates on loans to small businesses and consumers in line with guidelines from the administration Committee on Interest and Dividends, said John F. Holman, executive vice president and senior loan officer.

Reconciliation Of Marriage Possible

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Carl Stokes, former mayor of Cleveland, and his wife Shirley may be reconciled, her lawyer said Wednesday.

Mrs. Stokes March 22 charged her husband with adultery. He charged her with violating his visiting rights to their children. Stokes now is a newscaster for WNBC-TV.

Chimpanzee's Freedom Leap

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A chimpanzee at San Francisco Zoo jumped across a 15-foot moat Wednesday in a dash for freedom, but returned to her cage after being confronted by a zoo keeper armed with rifles, tranquilizers and pitchforks.

About 200 people saw Tallulah the chimp leap across the moat, grab a bush and pull herself up, then run about 50 yards to hide in the back room of a snack bar.

A few minutes later, she returned to the cage on her own.

Veterinarian Was Scared Of Lockjaw

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Veterinarian Thomas Gornall extracted an infected tooth from a killer whale Wednesday after the mammal beached itself.

Larkspur Sets A $20,000 Park Dedication Rebate

The Larkspur City Council last night agreed to refund $20,000 out of $29,000 in subdivision and park dedication fees already collected from the owners of the Belardo Terrace condominiums in Greenbrae.

The fees — required when rental apartments are converted to condominiums — were collected in November last year, said Asst. City Mgr. Harlan Barry. Recent legislation has ruled that such fees can't be levied when apartments are more than five years old. The 25-unit Belardo Terrace complex was constructed more than five years ago.

Barry said the owners paid the full $29,000 in fees, then filed a claim against the city for a refund.

The council approved a final subdivision map for a new condominium complex at 1105 South Eliseo Drive, Waterview House, and learned that the city will get $7,300 in park dedication fees.

The Larkspur City Council also:

AIRPLANES — Granted permission, on a 90-day basis, for an informal group of model airplane enthusiasts to fly their gas-powered model planes in Bundy Field on Sundays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.; the matter will be reviewed at the council's July 18 meeting to see how it's working out.

UNDERGROUND — Set a public hearing for May 2 at 8 p.m. in city hall on an underground utilities district to serve the area of Bon Air Road from Marin General Hospital to Magnolia Avenue.

MEETINGS — Amended the municipal code to increase the formerly monthly council meetings to twice a month — on the first and third Wednesdays at city hall at 8 p.m.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned in memory of Thurlow C. Jaegeling, former mayor who died April 9, and of Greenbrae developer Niels J. Schultz, who died Saturday.

Plans To Widen Tahoe Road Off

MARYSVILLE (AP) — California has dropped plans to widen a 28-mile stretch of congested two-lane U.S. 50 west of Lake Tahoe, the State Division of Highways said today.

Instead, plans are being made to add two lanes to only short sections in the scenic American River canyon, said Alice Wygant, district information officer at Marysville.

She said in an interview that the highest priorities would go to high-accident areas.

U.S. 50 is a major route between South Lake Tahoe and Sacramento.

Today is Thursday, April 19, the 109th day of 1973 with 256 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

American nuclear scientist Glenn Seaborg was born April 19, 1912.

On this day in history:

In 1775, the American Revolutionary War began.

In 1934, the United States went off the gold standard.

In 1951, American Gen. Douglas MacArthur, relieved of his command in Korea by President Truman, told Congress, in part "... Old soldiers never die, they just fade away."

In 1972, U.S. warships in the Gulf of Tonkin were attacked by Communist MIGs and patrol boats.

San Rafael Air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Drug Addiction Is No Longer Confined To Nation's Ghettoes

Drug addiction has spread from ghettos to affluent suburbs. Our young people, who seem to have no fear of the consequences, sample the illicit chemicals and some are bound to get hooked. If they would only listen or personally investigate the usual outcome of hard core addiction. Authorities try to be encouraging about the results of withdrawal and rehabilitation, but the outcome is not good, despite the methadone program and psychiatric care.

DRUG ABUSE is a downhill journey. Once hooked, the addict becomes a slave to drugs and begins a lifetime of subservience to the dregs of mankind. A hardcore addict gives himself more than 1,000 intravenous injections a year. With each injection, he is exposed to the antigens in crude heroin or its adulterants. The most common medical problem following the use of dirty equipment is liver damage from hepatitis. In time, other infections involve the heart and lungs.

What benefits does the addict gain from his drug? Pleasure is the most important of these. Chemicals transform the trivial into the profound. Through drug-blurred eyes, every person is a genius and everything is beautiful. The addict prefers this stage of "reality," even though it is, at best, temporary. Many young people today find the world so empty of reality and so filled with contrivances that escape via drugs is preferable to acceptance of things as they are.

PARENTS MIGHT be helpful if they put themselves in their children's place. Although youthful dissenters are against conformity, their language, music, and dress styles are typical manifestations of the herd instinct. They are secure in a collective identity.

In the old days, young adults were ignored and had no alternatives but to prepare and wait. Today's young people believe they have very little to look forward to. Parents must decide whether they wish to compete with drugs for the minds of the young or allow criminality and psychopathological behavior to flourish.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent Journal.

LIFELESS HAIR

J. J. writes: What is the cause of limp, lifeless hair? My hair is soft and will not take a permanent. I take vitamin B1. Will multivitamins help the hair?

REPLY

Yes, if there is any chance that the lusterless hair is caused by a dietary deficiency. In general, the condition of the hair usually reflects the state of the health, but local damage as from chemicals in hair and scalp products, may play a role. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on care of hair and scalp.

EARLY SLEEPER

Mrs. B. D. writes: My husband, who is a mechanic works hard all day. When he comes home, he eats a large supper, and goes straight to bed. Isn't this a bad habit?

REPLY

Not necessarily, as many people who sleep after eating live to be 90. Ask your husband how he feels and if he says he is fine and he looks well, why not assume that he is healthy? On the other hand, a husband who retires right after dinner is not much of a companion to his wife.

RINGWORM

W. M. writes: Could ringworm in youth cause baldness in adulthood? If so, how could this be avoided?

REPLY

Yes, but the hair usually regrows as soon as the ringworm is eliminated from the scalp. Proper treatment of the fungal-infection is the best preventive of baldness from this cause. The anti-ringworm pills often help this condition.

HIVES

C.S. writes: I have been treated for urticaria, but the doctor hasn't been able to help me. Is this an incurable condition?

REPLY

No, and temporary relief can be obtained with calamine lotion or one of the antihistamine or cortisone products. The cause of your hives must be known before permanent relief is obtained. Stubborn cases often are of emotional origin. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on hives.

LAW IN ACTION

Suits Can Halt Deceptive Ads

Overstocked! Everything must go! Half off! Hurry, hurry, hurry!

"Wow!" says Mrs. Housewife, rushing madly to be first in line, "maybe now I can get those new drapes and that electric blender I've wanted so long."

And then the let-down: Mrs. Housewife quickly discovers that the $18 blender, marked down from $36, is the same model she can get down the street, regularly ticketed at $16.50. Bah, humbug, she says, and looks for some agency where she can register her complaint. There are both private and public agencies that will to work on dishonest, misrepresenting merchants.

The 1972 California Legislature added new laws designed for consumer protection; to hit the unfair merchant right in the pocket book. The Legislature also encouraged the local District Attorneys and the State Attorney General to initiate suits.

Either one, on his own complaint or on those of others may go to court and get these practices stopped. More important, the court order may impose a "civil penalty" up to $2,500 for each violation based on unfair, deceptive or misleading advertising.

If the suit is brought by the District Attorney, the civil penalty goes into the county treasury; if it is brought by the Attorney General, one-half of the penalty goest to the state, one-half to the county.

Concern for the consumer includes TV advertising. Recently the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) broadened its regulations on "broadcasts in the public interest." It says its licensees (TV and radio stations) must devote a reasonable amount of broadcast time on contrasting viewpoints on issues of public importance. It goes beyond "public issues" and advertising. In effect, the FCC requires stations to add "... and now a word against our sponsor."

For example, a toy doll was photographed in a way that made it seem it could make a greater variety of movements than it actually could. The station had to provide corrective information.

In another commercial, an aspirin was advertised as "relieving tension" when studies showed otherwise.

Second Disaster Drill Approved

Marin County Disaster Council members last night unanimously approved plans for the county's second disaster training exercise. The drill will involve emergency preparedness workers from at least seven cities, students from several school districts and hospital staffs.

The training will cover response to a simulated earthquake of 6.0 magnitude on the San Andreas Fault in West Marin, involving some theoretical structural damage and injuries to persons in several areas of the county, according to Frank Kirby, county emergency services coordinator.

The drill will begin at 2 p.m. May 11.

United To Slash Economy Fares

CHICAGO (UPI) — United Airlines Wednesday announced a plan to lower the one-way coach and economy fares between Chicago and Los Angeles for planes not equipped with coach lounges.

The lower fares would take effect June 2, pending approval by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The revised fares would be $116 for coach and $103 for economy.

Film Rating Patents Sought

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Motion Picture Association announced yesterday it has obtained patents for the film ratings "G,' "PG" and "R."

The registration of the symbols makes the using of the G, PG and R ratings by anyone other than the association's code and rating administration illegal. Only the "X" rating may be self applied to a film.

Jack Valenti, MPAA president, said the new trademarks would assure parents, film producers and distributors "that the ratings have actually been assigned by CARA.

Wonders Abound In Forest Of Redwoods

I-J Special Report

CRESCENT CITY — An example of the interplay between plant, animal and human life is found in Northern California's Redwood National Park, now in its fifth year of official existence.

Within the park grow the world's tallest trees, some over 367 feet high and 2000 years old. They are the thousandth linear descendants of sequoias which lived when dinosaurs roamed the world; and while the great reptiles atrophied and disappeared, the redwoods adapted and survived.

Since this is an ever-living forest, it has other inhabitants besides redwoods. Beneath the trees grow pink and crimson rhododendrons, which bloom in April and May; delicate dogwood, tiny flowers like waxy trillium, wood violets and speckled lilies.

Birdlife is not abundant, but calls occasionally emanate from the Oregon thrush or offshore gulls. Herds of elk roam the margins of the forest, providing ideal photo material for the cautious visitor. In the Pacific nearby, migrating grey whales can be observed in the spring. On the rocks live sea lions and seals. and a myriad of sea birds. Rivers that drain the redwood forests are rich in salmon, rainbow and steelhead trout, all providing food for bobcats, black bear and fishermen.

The park is under administration of the U.S. Park Service and the state park system of California. More than a million tourists visit the 58,000-acre Park each year. Visits increased 21 per cent last year. Camping, hiking and picnicking are popular, and the entire Park is easily accessible from Highway 101.

This summer a $600,000 headquarters and public information center-museum will be opened in Crescent City. It is named for Newton B. Drury, onetime chief of the national park service.

During the past year, parking and trail facilities opened at Lady Bird Johnson Grove. This grove is where the former first lady dedicated the Park in late 1968; its establishment was one of President Johnson's last official acts. Several additional nature trails and beach areas also were opened in 1972, according to Park Supt. John H. Davis.

In 1972, David said, Del Norte County donated Lagoon Creek Park to the federal project. It is stocked with fish. This year his staff will proceed with trail-and-road work, bridging and landscaping on a low-key basis.

French Visitors Abandoned By Ride Benefactor

Two French women were abandoned Saturday at the vista point at the Marin end of the Golden Gate Bridge Sunday by a man who gave them a ride from Bellevue, Wash., then left with their belongings, the sheriff's department said yesterday.

Ehrentraude Behnke, 23, and Elizabeth Cossigneul, 24, told deputies they had left $160 in cash, $200 in travelers checks and more than $150 in personal belongings, including a camera, in the car while they walked around the view area.

When they returned to where the car had been, it was gone, deputies said. They said the driver was Leroy Snell, 37, of Bellevue.

More Impact Data Sought On Sausalito Development

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night again postponed acting on a proposed $35 million waterfront development to allow more time for study of an environmental impact report.

As at two previous meetings on the project, last night's hearing on the report drew a large audience, most opposing the development designed for the A. G. Schoonmaker Co. property.

The hearing was continued until May 2 in spite of objections from David W. Lennihan, attorney representing the Schoonmaker firm. He asked the commission to act immediately on zoning changes which would allow a planned unit development on Schoonmaker's 39 acres between Napa and Spring streets in Marinship.

The development to be built by O'Meara-Chandler Corp. of Sherman Oaks would include 100 condominiums and a hotel, restaurant, two yacht clubs, shops and a boat marina.

During the meeting, G. Robert Hale of Environmental Impact Planning of San Francisco made revisions in the impact report for the project, including adding more information on wildlife on Schoonmaker's land, on traffic congestion that could be caused by the project and on tax benefits the project would produce for the city. The planning commission had asked for the additions to the report at its last meeting.

Audience members asked dozens of questions which Hale said he would try to cover at the next hearing.

"I want to know if the assessed valuation of the property I live on will go up?" asked Saul Rouda, who has organized opposition to the development among Marinship houseboaters.

Mrs. John Huttman, a resident and environmental researcher, said she thought the report had an old-fashioned type of cost benefit analysis. She suggested that the firm include the cost of pollution and obtaining sources of water in the future as well as items like the cost of police and fire service.

Other residents asked what would happen to the beach land on the property, how the development would affect Sausalito when combined with other new waterfront developments and what kind of traffic jams the project would cause.

Sausalito Group Wants Three Parcels Saved As Open Space

Ending a one-year study of Sausalito open space, a citizens committee asked the city last night to preserve 43.5 acres of green land in the city east of Highway 101.

The committee made its recommendations in a report to the Sausalito Planning Commission which set May 2 as the date to discuss the proposals.

In a report last year, the committee had already recommended preserving 160 acres on Wolfback Ridge west of the highway. This land is being considered for inclusion in the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

According to Dale Hawkins of the 11-member open space committee, the three new parcels include:

The south ridgelands, also called Hurricane Gulch — a 29.29-acre piece on the uphill side of Sausalito Boulevard just east of Highway 101. It's bounded on the south and southeast by the Marin headlands and on the north by Sausalito's Old Town.

Cypress Ridge — a 13.5-acre parcel forming a natural ridge between Nevada and Spring Street valleys. A proposal for a planned unit development for this property is already before the planning commission from developer Dan Coleman.

The Glen —a half-acre pocket of green space off Cazneau Avenue between Glen Drive and Currey Avenue.

Hawkins said this land represented about 3 per cent of the city's total area.

In the report some committee members give advice about the city's waterfront but do not specify any land to be preserved there.

Hawkins and Paul Meserve, who put the report together, suggest that the city promote low density building on and near the A. G. Schoonmaker Co. property, where a large waterfront development is proposed.

Planning director Herb Case told the commission that the committee report was not in the proper form for submitting as the state required open space element of the city general plan which must be passed by June 30. He said it needs more work from the staff in several areas, particularly in studying the waterfront and in suggesting what measures the city should use to preserve open space.

Study Asked On Impact Of Ferries

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night asked the city staff to arrange an environmental impact report for any enlarged downtown ferry terminal proposed by the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The unanimous action edges the city a little closer towards having the terminal, which has aroused much opposition.

Commissioners briefly debated the merits of a downtown terminal versus one in the city's northern Marinship section but all agreed that the downtown site is more attractive.

"One of the main purposes of the ferry is serving visitors," said commission chairman Robert L. Nissen. "Visitors are most interested in the downtown area, so the terminal should be in proximity to that area."

Commissioner Violetta Autumn asked that the report include data on the impact of the sizes of vessels coming into the terminal.

Soviets Suspend Emigration Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has notified the United States it has "suspended" its exit visa tax on citizens —including Jews — seeking to emigrate to other countries, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Wednesday.

Scott made the announcement to newsmen following a meeting between President Nixon and a group of senators on the question of congressional approval of "most favored nation" trade status for the Soviet Union.

No Plans To Sue Estate Of Picasso

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI) — Mrs. Jonas Salk, wife of the inventor of antipolio vaccine and former mistress of Pablo Picasso, does not intend to sue the estate of the late artist, her husband said Wednesday.

Mrs. Salk, whose maiden name was Francoise Gilot, is in seclusion at her home. But her husband said that a report that she had asked her Paris attorney to sue Picasso's widow, Jacqueline, is "absolute nonsense." Salk said, however, that the fact his wife's two children by Picasso were barred from attending their father's funeral was "cruelty . . . difficult to comprehend."

City Unable To Meet Standards, Rockefeller Says

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller told the Environmental Protection Agency Wednesday that New York City cannot meet the 1975 clean air standards.

To do so would cost motorists $1.1 billion, Rockefeller said in a letter to William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the EPA.

Rockefeller said, however, the city would take several steps to reduce pollution from autos by that date. Those include:

A selective ban on midtown taxi cruising; strict air pollution controls for cabs of 1975 and later; annual emission inspections of all passenger vehicles; a drastic reduction in midtown parking; emission control devices on all heavy duty vehicles; exclusive bus lanes with improved express service, and after hours delivery to stores, factories and office buildings.

An Unlucky Day At The Track

If horse racing is the Sport of Kings I had better wait a few days before going to the corner store to buy a crown.

I made a little trip to Golden Gate Fields in Albany yesterday to watch the ponies run and while I was there I thought I would put down a wager or two. I barely escapted with my shirt. Some of the horses I bet on are still running for the finish line. I think some of them had flashlights strapped to their sides in case they didn't finish before dark.

It was a very windy day, but clear. It was a dramatic match between the fast track and my slow mind, and I came out second best.

SINCE I HAD arrived at the track just before the start of the second race, I only had a couple of minutes to pick my horse. I chose Hathaway Pride and it finished second, giving me place money. After that race, since I then had time to fully use all of my handicapping skills, I never made it back to the cashier's window. It was always that other window where you give, not receive. It got so bad that I was cheering if my horse didn't finish dead last. At least my pick in the third, Purple Majesty, was only sixth.

My horse in the fourth race, a long shot by the name of Silly Pud, finished next to last. Then in the fifth race, a horse I had figured was a sure thing, Nobly Strive, also finished next to last, beating only Shapely Shill. It so happens that was an Exacta race and I had picked Nobly Strive and Shapely Shill to finish one-two. Maybe I was looking at my handicap sheet upside down.

In the sixth race I couldn't make up my mind between Beau Dapper and B.Z. Nevada, finally choosing Beau Dapper. That horse, of course, finished sixth and B.Z. Nevada won. Oh well, it's only money.

MY HORSE in the seventh, Take Out, must have thought it was a show horse because it didn't look much like a race horse when it crossed the finish line last, some 20 or 30 lengths behind the winner, Go Doc Go. My horse finished sixth in the eighth race and with just one more chance, the ninth, I began to worry.

I studied the racing sheets in silence, knowing that this would have to be the one, this would have to be the race to bring me back. I decided on Classy Kim. It had won the last time out and the odds were good, 8 to 1. Well, it didn't win this time out. In a 12-horse field it finished 11th.

I SADLY LOOKED down at the stack of tickets in front of me, representing loser upon loser, race after race, and slowly started walking toward the exit. I had arrived at the track full of optimism, with thoughts of making a killing. Now I was leaving, hands thrust deep in empty pockets, head bowed. My gait had been reduced from a brisk walk to more of a shuffling of the feet. I looked around and saw that others had this same walk, the same blank stare.

But there at the entrance of the clubhouse was this hawker selling handicap sheets for the next day's races, yelling, "Get the handicaps for tomorrow's races!" and there was so much optimism in his voice. Ah. Tomorrow is another day, I said to myself as I picked up the pace and headed for the parking lot. Maybe next time.

COLLISION — Kansas City's Carl Taylor ran into Oakland catcher Ray Fosse, knocking the baseball loose to score in the fifth inning last night in Kansas City. Taylor advanced from first base on Cookie Rojas' double. Rojas scored from second when the ball skipped away from Fosse near home plate. The Royals went ahead on the play, 6-4, but the visiting A's rallied in the ninth to win, 7-6.

Warriors' Attles Makes Adjustments Vs. Lakers Tonight

Combined AP & UPI

LOS ANGELES — Golden State's Warriors return to the heartbreak arena tonight at 8 o'clock with coach Al Attles making adjustments to cope with Jim McMillian and keep his own team going a full 48 minutes. The game will be televised on Channel 44.

"We've made adjustments," commented Attles without saying what they are following the 37-point outburst by ex-Columbia star McMillian for the defending champion Los Angeles Lakers in the opening game of the best-of-seven Western title playoffs in the National Basketball Association.

Attles could only talk to his Northern California players about the turnovers which allowed the Lakers to come from a nine-point deficit midway in the fourth quarter Tuesday night and win 101-99 on Jerry West's 15-foot jumper with eight seconds left.

"We gave that game away," commented Attles who hoped the generosity of his club had ended.

The match-up in the first game was McMillian, 23, a third-year pro, against veteran Rick Barry, 28, and the younger man had all the advantage. Barry collected five fouls, scored only 17 points and threw a key pass out of bounds with 28 seconds remaining.

That allowed the Lakers to inbound and West, after a disappointing evening, got the ball for his baseline shot that swished Los Angeles into the lead.

The Lakers, in their Forum, have won their past two games in the final half-minute of play. Gail Goodrich's lay-up after a Wilt Chamberlain block brought a 95-92 victory over stubborn and rugged Chicago in the finale of the opening series.

Jeff Mullins of the Warriors maintains his club is superior to the Lakers overall despite the first game loss, but he admits that the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain is tough in the stretch drive and West always has been a clutch performer.

"We were very tired in that first game," commented Laker coach Bill Sharman in hopes the day off will rest his charges. They went the full seven games against the muscular Bulls of Chicago while Golden State surprised favored Milwaukee 4-2 and thus had additional rest.

"I think we're more emotionally than physically tired," Sharman said.

While Attles attempts to figure a counter to the 6-foot-5 McMillian, Sharman tries to come up with an answer to the long-pass, fast-break attack of the Warriors.

"We've also got to be quicker and tougher," commented Sharman who credited experience for the comeback of the Lakers who outscored Golden State 19-8 in the final 7:05.

Neither coach indicated a change in lineups for the second game, but Golden State must reduce its fouls. Nobody fouled out with six in the opener but Barry and Cazzie Russell had five apiece while Jim Barnett, Clyde Lee and Nate Thurmond had four each.

GIRLS IN SPORTS

By LEW CODDINGTON

The California Interscholastic Federation's decision to allow girls to participate in all high school sports which were previously limited to boys is "a healthy thing," "a farce," a legal ploy or a puzzle, depending on who is talking.

"It will be a real benefit to the relationship between boys and girls. It's a healthy thing," said Dr. Peter Palches, principal of San Rafael High School.

"It's a farce. I don't see where it's going to accomplish anything," said Al Scott, head football coach and athletic director at Novato High.

"The CIF was just trying to stay out of court," said Myrna Reed, coordinator of girls sports at Redwood High.

"We're going to have to wait until the CIF sends out a statement explaining the ruling," said Al Ahlsten, athletic director at Tamalpais High, echoing the consensus.

The CIF decided Tuesday in a special meeting in San Francisco to permit girls to "try out for any boys team," in the words of commissioner William F. Russell. This includes teams in contact sports such as football, and holds true regardless of whether or not a girls team already exists at a school in the sport. It will be effective July 1, so its full impact will not be felt until school reconvenes following summer vacation.

Several court suits have been filed in California the past year on behalf of girls who wanted to compete on boys teams, most but not all at schools which had no girls programs in the sport in question.

The rules change left in doubt the status of the girls programs in Marin, considered by those involved the finest in the state. Varsity teams currently compete in the Marin County Athletic League in badminton, basketball, gymnastics, tennis, track and field, swimming, and volleyball.

These teams could be depleted by top players moving on to the boys teams, or could be diluted by boys attempting to join them. "Why couldn't a fourth-string boys basketball player try out for the girls team under this ruling?" wondered Penny Wollan, girls athletic director at San Rafael.

"If the good girls players move on to the boys teams, it will hurt the girls teams (in the standings) and thereby penalize the other girls on the girls team," said Scott.

"I think we're finally going to end up with some girls teams, some boys teams and some coed teams," said Ahlsten.

Mrs. Reed, a member of the State Girls and Women's Sports Competition Committee of the California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation (CAHPER), said that body took a position in a meeting in San Diego over the weekend which conflicts with

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Gene Tenace is back to his old tricks.

Last year's World Series hero hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning Wednesday night to lift the Oakland Athletics to a 7-6 victory over Kansas City and snap the Royals' four-game winning streak.

After Reggie Jackson led off the ninth with a single, Sal Bando struck out and Tenace slammed his third homer of the season off loser Bruce Dal Canton. Last year Tenace hit only five homers during the regular season and got four against the Cincinnati Reds in the World Series.

Kansas City and Oakland go at it again tonight with right-hander John Odom (0-2) of the A's scheduled to hurl against Paul Splittorff (2-0).

Oakland jumped to a 4-0 lead in the second inning on run-scoring singles by catcher Ray Fosse and Dick Green and Joe Rudi's two-run single.

Kansas City fought back against A's starter Jim Hunter with Ed Kirkpatrick's three-run homer in the second, a solo blast by Cookie Rojas in the third and two unearned runs in the fifth.

Relief pitcher Horacio Pina retired the final 13 Royal batters in order to gain the victory for Oakland.

In the Kansas City fifth, Carl Taylor singled before Rojas lined a double off Jackson's glove in right-center.

Green's relay throw to catcher Fosse beat Taylor but the Kansas City catcher separated Fosse from the ball with a perfectly timed block. Rojas also scored on the play when

RADER'S GEM

Unassisted Doubleplay Key In Giants' Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Okay baseball fans, when is the last time you saw a big league catcher make an unassisted doubleplay by catching a popup in front of the plate and racing to second base?

Unless you were in Candlestick Park Wednesday and saw Dave Rader of the San Francisco Giants pull it off, chances are it never before has happened except perhaps in some obscure sandlot game.

Rader's baseball rarity choked off a budding Atlanta rally in the top of the 11th inning. In the bottom of the frame, Bobby Bonds lined his third homer of the season after one out to give the Giants a 4-3 victory.

The Giants' win, coupled with Cincinnati's 4-2 loss to San Diego last night, enabled San Francisco to regain first place in the National League's Western Division.

Veteran Giants scout and former big league pitcher Tom Sheehan, 79, former big league pitcher Walter Mails, 77, former baseball writer and Giants publicist Garry Schumacher, 72, and Giants owner Horace Stoneham, who will be 70 in a few days, all saw Rader's unassisted doubleplay and all four swear it was a first for them.

In fact, all four said they never even heard of a play like it ever happening and veteran National League publicist Dave Grote, a baseball trivia expert, said he is "sure" it never occurred before in a big league game.

Sonny Jackson started the Braves' 11th by lining a single to right. Johnny Oates then sent a possible doubleplay roller to second baseman Tito Fuentes, who bobbled the ball with Jackson making it safely to second and Oates to first.

Tom House, a relief pitcher, was the next batter and the Braves gambled on the first pitch by having Jackson break for third and Oates for second.

The Giants anticipated the play and had third baseman Domie Blanco and first baseman Dave Kingman breaking for the plate to field House's anticipated sacrifice bunt with shortstop Chris Speier racing to cover third and Fuentes sprinting to cover first.

House popped up the pitch from reliever Jim Barr and the ball cleared his head and Rader's by less than five feet directly in front of home plate.

Rader grabbed the ball quickly, took a quick look at second

Redwood, Tam Win In Baseball Tilts

Redwood and Tamalpais high school baseball teams wound up with respective 3-1 and 2-1 records in tournament play this week.

The Giants of Redwood defeated Bullard of Fresno in a tournament in that city yesterday, 5-3, and Tamalpais won third place trophy after whipping Lincoln High of San Francisco, 8-2, yesterday in the Terra Nova Holiday Tournament in Pacifica.

Marin Catholic High opened play in the Soquel Boosters Tournament yesterday with a 4-1 defeat to Soquel High. The 'Cats continue play in that tourney today, with an opponent to be determined in morning action.

Redwood ran its overall record to 16 wins and 3 losses by winning its final tourney game yesterday. Gene Frey was the winning pitcher but needed relief help in the sixth. Center fielder Mike Connor led the hitting for Redwood with three hits in four at bats and two runs batted in.

Novato Wins Santa Rosa Title By Edging Ukiah Baseballers

By PAUL DWORIN

SANTA ROSA — Jeff Pond scored on a wild pitch in the seventh inning last night to give Novato High School a 2-1 victory over Ukiah and the championship of the sixth annual Santa Rosa Invitational Baseball Tournament.

With two out in the bottom of the seventh, Pond walked. Stan Conte followed with a single down the third base line, and Pond went to third. Dan Metzger was then walked to load the bases, bringing up Tom Conklin, who had struck out twice previously.

Ukiah pitcher Tom Walker missed his third strikeout attempt on Conklin when he threw his fastball into the dirt past catcher Kelvin Chapman, allowing Pond to score while the sparse Doyle Park crowd cheered. Walker was spiked on the play and had to be helped from the field.

"I'm really happy," Novato assistant coach Tom Corder commented after the game. "The kids hustled and it was truly a team effort."

It was definitely a Hornet team effort, but pitcher Ray Stratford deserves much of the credit for the victory. Stratford came off the bench with no outs in the second inning and a runner on third in relief of starter Joe Robinson, who "felt something pull" in his shoulder and was removed from the game.

Stratford then finished the game, allowing just one hit while fanning seven Wildcats and walking four. "It was a super job by Stratford," Corder said. "He just walked off the bench cold and shut them out."

Ukiah started the scoring in the first inning on a lead-off single by Dan Burton followed by a Walker double to left field. The Wildcats threatened again in the second, but Stratford came in to squelch the threat.

The Hornets tied the game at one in the fourth inning on an unearned run. Ken Ferrari hit a two out single and reached second when the left fielder over ran the ball. Scott Harrington brought him home with a single to center.

Rader's Big Play A Key To Victory

and then began sprinting for second as Jackson remained frozen at third. Rader easily got to second before Jackson could react to complete the doubleplay.

"I don't know what happened to Jackson," said the Giants' little catcher. "But by the time I got to the mound I knew I could beat him to second. I wanted to throw the ball to somebody, anybody, but there was no one at second so I decided to make the play myself."

Jackson said he became confused.

"I didn't know House had popped up the ball," said the Atlanta shortstop. "I had my head down and was running. I thought it was kind of funny for Rader to be running to second and by the time I realized what had happened, it was too late to do anything about it."

Barr then struck out Rod Gilbreath to complete the Atlanta 11th and Bonds ended the three hour, 13-minute game with his homer. The blow rewarded Barr, who pitched 4 1-3 innings of relief on top of a four-inning stint the day before, with his first victory of the season.

"I never expected to hit a homer in that spot," said Bonds. "I was looking to hit the ball past the third baseman who was playing me in a little closer than usual. Then I got his big curve and the ball went out."

The Giants scored twice in the first off Braves starter Carl Morton and got another run in the second and had Morton on the ropes. But Morton recovered and, after the Braves tied the score in the fourth, he was unbeatable, retiring the last 13 batters he faced in order with only one ball getting out of the infield.

Sam McDowell started the game for the Giants and breezed through the first three innings with one hit and four strikeouts. But in the fourth, he lost his touch, walking three batters, two of whom scored on a single by Morton and a third on a passed ball.

"I don't know what happened," said McDowell. "I was going good and then seemed to lose my touch. I'm encouraged, though, because for the first time I threw the ball real hard and seemed to be in control of the game. Maybe next time I can go a little farther."

Giants Manager Charlie Fox attributed McDowell's running out of steam in the fourth to a lack of work.

The Giants go to Los Angeles tonight for the start of a four-game weekend series with their old rivals. Juan Marichal pitches tonight against Claude Osteen. Tonight's 8 o'clock affair will be televised on Channel 2.

NBA Playoff Series Has A Big Reversal

NEW YORK (UPI) — "How can two teams so evenly matched have such a reversal in form?", New York center Jerry Lucas wondered aloud.

The Knicks, beaten by 26 points 134-108 last Sunday, turned the game around Wednesday night and crushed Boston by 33 points 119-96, Boston's worst defeat in 216 playoff games. The previous were 24 point setbacks by Philadelphia in 1967 and San Francisco in 1964.

Coach Red Holzman developed a strategy to hold the Celtic guards in check and it worked as he put Walt Frazier, Earl Monroe and Dave DeBusschere deep in Boston territory to harass the Celts. DeBusschere was the key as he intercepted several passes and then turned into a one-man scoring machine, hitting New York's first seven points.

"Dave was instrumental in getting us off to a quick start," said Frazier, who led all scorers with 24 points. "We wanted to pressure them at the beginning. We concentrated on defense because that's what hurt us last time. We picked them up about three-quarters of the way and shut off (Jo Jo) White."

White scored 30 points in the first game but was held to 15 as New York tied the National Basketball Association Eastern Division best-of-seven series at 1-1. White scored 11 in the first half Wednesday but also picked up four fouls and sat out the third quarter. John Havlicek, a 26-point scorer Sunday, was limited to 21.

The statistics revealed what it was all about. New York hit on 58.4 per cent of its shots and Boston was held to 39.4. The Celtics hit 57.3 Sunday.

"We didn't take the good shots," moaned Celtic Coach Tom Heinsohn. "We lost our poise in the very beginning when we missed four layups."

Heinsohn said the turning point of the game was in the second period when he inserted Henry Finkel for Dave Cowens after the starting center picked up his third foul.

In just 1:17, the Knicks ran off eight quick points, with Reed beating Finkel for three baskets and Phil Jackson getting the other goal. The burst put the Knicks in front 46-28 and set the New York express moving in high gear.

The third game in the series is scheduled for Boston Friday night and the teams return here Sunday afternoon for the fourth game.

Billy Cunningham and Willie Wise showed just why they're American Basketball Association All-Stars Wednesday night.

Cunningham, playing with a sprained back, scored 32 points to lead the Carolina Cougars to a 102-91 victory over the Kentucky Colonels in the Eastern Division playoffs and Wise collected 28 points, including the winning basket with 58 seconds left, as the Utah Stars edged the Indiana Pacers 104-103 in the western playoffs.

The victories left both best-of-seven series tied at two games apiece.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

The Game Plan

By LEE TREVINO

If you're making the same mistakes on the same holes on the same course, let's face it. You need a game plan.

Mental errors are part of this game. You live with 'em. The idea is to not make the same ones over and over.

I think about the next day's round as I lie in bed. And when I leave the hotel to play, my mind is made up: Nothing is going to upset me. You have to go out cool.

Attitude is the whole secret. Don't let it bug you if traffic ties you up on the way to the course. Better to be in a good humor and lose 30 minutes of practice than to work longer and be snarling inside.

Plan ahead. That easy 6-iron you bunkered yesterday — either change clubs or directions, man. Remember the booboos you made, then alter your game plan to make amends.

As Tom Landry, the Dallas Cowboys coach, says: "Do your job and we'll win." Sometimes the other team won't let you do your job. If you're good enough to win, there's no problem. But if you're two shots behind the nine holes to play, or two touchdowns behind in the last quarter, forget the game plan. Charge! (The Register and Tribune Syndicate)

Pittsburgh Has Leader In Baseball

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It takes quite a man to replace Roberto Clemente as the leader of the Pittsburgh Pirates but, then again, that's a perfect description of Willie Stargell.

The Pirates admitted all spring that no one could calculate how much the loss of Roberto would mean to them. But they also expressed quiet confidence that they could make up for the loss of Clemente, who died in a plane crash New Year's Eve, especially if Stargell got off to a fast start.

That confidence has been more than vindicated. Stargell is batting .364, has hit three homers and knocked in eight runs in the Pirates' first eight games. As a result, they are off to a 7-1 start compared to their 5-3 record in their first eight games last season.

Stargell drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single Wednesday night as the Pirates beat the St. Louis Cardinals 8-2. Bob Moose went 7 1-3 innings for the victory which handed the Cardinals their ninth defeat in 10 games.

The Chicago Cubs scored their second straight 1-0 victory over the New York Mets, the San Francisco Giants shaded the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 11 innings, the Montreal Expos edged the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1, the San Diego Padres beat the Cincinnati Reds 4-2 and the Houston Astros defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2 in the other National League games.

In the American League, it was Detroit 7 Boston 1, Milwaukee 4 Cleveland 0, Chicago 6 Texas 5, California 3 Minnesota 2, New York 7 Baltimore 4 and Oakland 7 Kansas City 6.

Stargell sent the Pirates off to a 3-0 lead with his first-inning homer following a walk to Dave Cash and a single by Al Oliver and drove in a fourth run with a single in the eighth. Milt May drove in three runs with three hits and Oliver had four hits in five tries as the Pirates raked Rick Wise and two relievers for 12 hits.

Hates To Bat Ninth

LEVITTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — New York Met shortstop Bud Harrelson told 600 Levittown Youth Council members at their annual sports day that he would hate "to bat ninth and that's where I'd bat if the National League used the designated hitter rule."

Oklahoma Alters Record To 3-9

Recruiting Row Prompts Grid Team Forfeits

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — In a rare case of severe self judgment, the University of Oklahoma Wednesday changed its 1972 National Collegiate Athletic Association football record from 11-1 to 3-9.

Oklahoma forfeited eight victories—including a 14-0 Sugar Bowl decision over Penn State—recorded by last season's No. 2 team, and in doing so school officials made clear why the action was taken.

But left unsettled was who had prompted collegiate athletics' latest recruiting scandal and what future punishment might be coming to the Sooners.

The eight games were turned from wins to losses because freshman Kerry Jackson, the Sooners' No. 2 quarterback, had become eligible to play football at Oklahoma only because high school transcripts had been altered and because he had stayed in the athletic dormitory in Norman while still a student at Ball High School in Galveston, Tex.

Jackson played in each of the eight forfeited games—against Utah State, Oregon, Clemson, Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma State and Penn State. He ran for 339 yards from the Wishbone-T attack, completed 11-of-38 passes and had four throws intercepted.

Oklahoma Athletic Director Wade Walker said the transcript of another Ball High School student—Mike Phillips, had also been changed. Phillips, a center, played only on Oklahoma's freshman team last year.

Walker said both players would be ineligible for next season.

Jackson quarterbacked the

No. 1 unit during the Sooners' spring training drills, but was expected to have to battle Scott Hill for the starting assignment next autumn.

Walker said Assistant Coach Bill Michael had admitted knowledge of the violations and had resigned. Coach Barry Switzer, who replaced Chuck Fairbanks earlier this year when Fairbanks became coach of the New England Patriots, said he knew of no other coaches involved.

But who tampered with the transcripts?

"I can only say this is under investigation," said Walker.

"I can't make any statement until our school superintendent returns to town," said the principal at Ball High School, Jim Watson.

Thus far, most of the investigative work has been done by Oklahoma University and the Big Eight Conference. The NCAA will now enter the investigation, and conceivably could forbid Oklahoma from participating in bowl games or —for the maximum punishment — bar the Sooners from playing football at all for one or more seasons

the measure finally adopted by the CIF.

"We recommended girls compete 'side-by-side' rather than 'face-to-face,'" she said, meaning confrontative situations such as football or singles tennis should be avoided, but situations such as track or swimming should be permitted.

"In no way do we feel girls are qualified for football, baseball, and sports like that," she said. "They don't have that strength and endurance at the high-school level.

"It's the women's fault for not providing adequate sports programs (statewide) for girls."

Under CIF regulations, individual sections and leagues have the power to make their own regulations as long as they are not less restrictive than the CIF's ruling.

The MCAL Board of Managers, the governing body consisting of the principals of the eight schools, will meet May 2. "I'm sure the ruling will be a topic of discussion at that meeting," said MCAL president Henry J. Moroski, principal of San Marin High.

The rules change also raised several practical administrative questions, such as protective equipment, medical care, and use of shower and locker rooms.

"I'll have to investigate the cost of protective equipment," said Ahlsten. "Padded bras and the like."

"I'll issue any girl who tries out for football the same equipment I'd issue a boy," said Scott. "If she needs anything else, she'll have to buy it herself."

"I don't think we're going to see girls on football, baseball and basketball teams," said Dr. Palches, "although that's a possibility.

"The real possibility is that girls will move onto teams like swimming, tennis, golf, maybe track, and compete on an equal basis with boys. A girl like Sharon Walsh (now a professional tennis player) would have been one of the top members of the varsity team. It would have been good competition for her and excellent for boys to realize that being male doesn't mean you are automatically a superior athlete.

"There is a kind of stereotype that the girl is the ultra-feminine cheerleader type on the sidelines and the boys are out there doing their all for the Bulldogs. I'd like to see a situation where a championship is at stake, say in mixed doubles in tennis, and the girls and boys will be pulling for each other as competitors."

The play brought back memories of the 1970 All Star Game when Pete Rose bowled over Fosse to score the winning run. But Fosse got one of the runs back with a run-scoring single in the seventh before Tenace won the game.

3 Stellar Showings In Meets

Three of the Marin County Athletic League's best dash men turned in stellar performances last week, running the best times of the dual-meet season in all three events.

Steve Johnson of Terra Linda High School did the 100 in 10.1, Jim Grigg of San Rafael raced the 220 in 22.9, and Larry Butti of San Marin galloped the 440 in 51.9.

Redwood's Pete Sweeney, who virtually owns the two-mile run, lowered his time to 9:40.6, and the Giants' Darrell Elder, who has a similar lock on the discus, heaved the plate 162-4.

The best times and distances:

120 HH — Adams (T) and Campbell (SR), tie, 15.6; 440 relay — San Marin (Goins, Butti, Roche, Kassenbrock), 44.1; 880 — Cagle (N), 1:58.9; 100 — Johnson (TL), 10.1; Mile — Lathrop (SM), 4:28.6; 440 — Butti (SM), 51.9; 330 LH — Campbell (SR), 40.2; 220 — Grigg (SR), 22.9; Two-Mile — Sweeney (R), 9:40.6; Mile Relay — San Marin (Zechlin, Kenville, Guth, Metteer), 3:33.8; Shot Put — Elder (R), 56-10½; Discus — Elder (R), 162-4; High Jump — Mahoney (MC), 6-0; Long Jump — Bridges (N), 21-8; Pole Vault — Patterson (SR), 11-6; Triple Jump — Butti (SM), 41-5½.

Five Top Swim Times Turned In

Five of the year's best varsity dual-meet swimming times in the Marin County Athletic League were recorded Friday, four of them in Terra Linda High School's 49-46 upset of Redwood.

Keith Strange of the Trojans swam the 100-yard freestyle in 50.0 and the 100 breast in 1:02.3, while Spencer Eldred of the Giants did the 100 butterfly in 57.6 and the 200 free in 1:52.1.

Tamalpais' Dick Atwood swam the 100 back in one minute flat, a time unsurpassed at the varsity level, but beaten earlier by San Marin Class B swimmer Art Morrill (55.6).

The best times:

200 medley relay — San Rafael (Kavrell, J.Kamler, Backhaus, M.Kamler), 1:46.6; 200 free — Eldred (R), 1:52.1; 200 IM — Backhaus (SR), 2:03.2; 50 free — Redig (R), 22.8; Diving — Cotton (TL), 245.45; 100 fly — Eldred (R), 57.6; 100 free — Strange (TL), 50.0; 400 free — Eldred (R), 3:58.7; 100 back — Atwood (T), 1:00.0; 100 breast — Strange (L), 1:02.3; 400 free relay — Redwood (Dunham, Silcox, Eldred, Redig), 3:25.6.

Unlikely China In Olympics, Says Daume

MUNICH (UPI) — Willi Daume, vice-president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) said Wednesday that chances still were remote that Communist China would be allowed to participate in the 1976 summer Olympics in Montreal.

"China is still very critical of the IOC and thinks we owe it to them to correct what they call a blatant injustice, meaning we should kick out Taiwan in their favor," Daume said after recently returning from an official visit to China.

Finley's Columbus Hockey Team Is Bought By Savill

Combined AP & UPI

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Can Albert Savill succeed where Charles O. Finley failed?

Savill, 54, a Columbus financier, was announced yesterday as the new owner of the Columbus Golden Seals of the International Hockey League and he immediately promised "a winning team." He bought the franchise for around $50,000.

Finley, who also owns the world champion Oakland A's of the American League, the California Golden Seals of the National Hockey League and the Memphis Tams of the American Basketball Association, was unable in two years to produce anything resembling a winner here.

The 1971-72 Columbus team won 15, lost 55 and tied two and, despite high expectations, the 1972-73 club was worse, winding up with a 10-62 mark.

"I think I know what I'm getting into," Savill said after being introduced at a news conference by IHL commissioner Bill Beagan. "And I promise the people of Columbus a winning hockey team."

Beagan said the hockey fans of Columbus have gone through a "traumatic experience" the last two years, but he nevertheless expressed confidence in the future of the sport in the Ohio capital.

Beagan, who acted for Finley in the sale of the team, said final approval was needed by two-thirds of the members of the league Board of Governors for the sale but added he had "been assured" of that approfal.

Football

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Roman Gabriel won't be playing football for the Las Vegas Casinos this summer after all.

Negotiations aimed at allowing the veteran Los Angeles Rams quarterback to play eight games and pick up a reported $100,000 from the Las Vegas Casinos were broken off yesterday. But whether Gabriel will play for the Rams next season was unknown.

Gabriel still has two years left on a no-cut contract with the Rams but he has been unhappy since the club obtained John Hadl from the San Diego Chargers and he has asked to be traded to the Washington Redskins.

A joint statement by Gabriel's attorney, Ed Masry, and former football star Eddie LeBaron, counsel for the Casinos, said "legal questions" led to the end of negotiations for Gabriel's services.

OBERLIN, Ohio — Former New York Jets wide receiver George Sauer, who two years ago announced his retirement at the age of 27, will serve this fall as an unpaid offensive line coach at Oberlin College.

Sauer, who plans to move here later this summer to attend the college's Institute for the Study of Sport and Society, will work under the guidance of new head coach Cass Young Jackson. He also will teach seminars at the institute.

Sauer, a former University of Texas star, said he retired from the game as a player because of what professional football had become — "a mirror of the greed and commercialism of the modern world."

Basketball

NEW YORK — The National Basketball Association Board of Governors yesterday awarded Philadelphia a bonus first round draft and Seattle's second round picks in the 1973 and 1974 college draft as a result of the John Brisker case. The protracted meeting, which lasted nine hours, also caused this year's draft to be postponed from today to next Tuesday.

NEW YORK — Bob McAdoo of the Buffalo Braves was named today as the National Basketball Association's Rookie of the Year for the 1972-3 season by a landslide vote.

Boxing

General

LETS TALK ABOUT STEEL BELTED TIRES

There is an awful lot of talk about steel belted tires in tire ads today. I can tell from the phone calls I get people do not know what's going on. Cain's has been handling steel belted tires for 10 years - as new lines came out we picked the best, and added them to our Michelin X line.

MICHELIN X STEEL RADIALS

Our #1 line is MICHELIN X. There are a lot of steel radial ply tires coming on the market from domestic manufacturers - Michelin has made over 200 million steel belted tires - why be a testing ground for a company just coming out with a product Michelin has been manufacturing for 27 years. Note: The Sears All State Tire is made by Michelin - but I undersell Sears so badly it's kind of a "no contest".

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

A Slower Pace Seen For P&G

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What do you think of Procter & Gamble (NYSE) common stock? Should I hold or sell? — L.R.

A. This stock is currently trading at 26 times projected fiscal 1973 earnings versus an average multiple of 20 times for the past 14 years. Over the same decade and a half, the compound average annual growth rate has been maintained at 9 per cent. In view of the 8 per cent increase estimated for earnings this year, the higher than normal current P/E ratio may be due for some additional downward adjustment by the market.

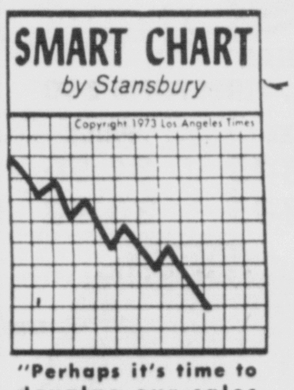
Supporting the view that P&G may be in a temporary adjustment period are: promotional costs for expanding marketing on four new products, a slowdown in population growth, restrictions from Phase III price controls and additional expenses from pollution control. If your goal is long-term growth, shares may be held. However, for shorter term accounts, sale is advised.

Q. If I purchase the long-term high yield bonds on your recommended list, I would have to pay $60 to $130 over face value. It seems to me that I could be left holding the proverbial "bag" if these were called in the next two to three years. What are the chances of this happening? — R.K.

A. In each case these recommended bonds offer some protection against redemption. Only one issue may be called in 1974, another is noncallable until 1980, the remainder are protected into 1975. Terms for redemption, however, vary with call prices well above face value. Under the various companies' sinking funds, a small percentage of debt is required to be called annually. Since this is usually a very small portion of the total debt covered by the fund, the chance of a call is minimal. In any case the holder is protected up to the earliest call date against sinking fund requirements. If you are concerned, you should check with your broker on the exact refund terms for any bond which you are considering buying.

Record For Alabama

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Gross income for Alabama farmers totaled a record $1,080,000,000 in 1972, surpassing the old record of $1 billion established in 1971, the State Agricultural Extension Service reports.



"Perhaps it's time to devalue our sales manager."

Stauffer Sets Earnings Mark

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Stauffer Chemical Co. achieved the highest quarterly sales and earnings in its history for the three months ended March 31, vice chairman Roger W. Gunder reported yesterday at the company's annual meeting.

Net sales for the quarter ended March 31 were $172,200,000 compared to the $145,683,000 recorded in the first quarter of 1972 — an increase of 18.2 per cent.

Net earnings for the quarter rose 75 per cent to $16,433,000, or $1.67 per share, from $9,389,000 or 94 cents per share. Reported for the same period last year. Per share earnings are based on the average number of common shares outstanding during the respective periods.

Automation Equipment Is Ordered By Penney's

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (BW) — J.C. Penney Co. Inc. announced yesterday that it has placed an order with the Singer Co. for up to 10,000 Singer model 925 data terminals and 250 minicomputers.

Addressing a meeting of the St. Louis Society of Financial Analysts, Kenneth S. Axelson, vice president and director of finance and administration, called the Singer order the Penney Co.'s latest step toward achieving a full point-of-sale system.

First full store installation of the Singer 925 system anywhere in the United States will take place in August when J.C. Penney opens a new store in Matteson, Ill., just south of Chicago.

The company's point-of-sale program will now embrace both Singer and National Cash Register Co., with which Penney placed an order for NCR's 280 electronic terminals last year.

The company, according to Axelson, was a retailing pioneer in the development of automated merchandising systems when it introduced in 1962 its semi-automated stock control (SASC) system.

Early Gains On Market Are Sliced

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices leveled off after early gain today in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The early rise came in the face of statistics showing inflation rose 6 per cent during the first quarter.

First quarter earnings continued to how companies with strong improvements in earnings and were encouraging investors, brokers said. But, the government inflation figures were a depressing market influence, they added.

Early in the session, the government reported the gross national product rose 14.3 per cent on an annual rate but prices rose 6 per cent—well above the administration's goal.

International Telephone & Telegraph was the most active issue, off -⅞ at 36 on 128,300 shares. The company on Wednesday said the Internal Revenue Service said it may reconsider the ruling under which the merger of the Hartford Fire Insurance Group into ITT was tax-free to Hartford shareholders. The company said it would not adversely affect its earnings.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in moderate trading. Champion Home Builders was the most active issue, up ⅛ at 6 on 41,300 shares.

More Confidence Seen In Schools

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The nation's universities and business enterprises have suffered recent losses in public confidence but now seem to be gradually moving upward."

That's the opinion of Howard Morgens, chairman of the board of Procter & Gamble, who said that "If we are to have an orderly society, our institutions and our business enterprises must find some way to achieve mutual understanding."

Environment Paper Drafted

A policy statement on conservation, ordered by the Belvedere City Council only two weeks ago, has been formulated by the Belvedere-Tiburon Committee for the Environment.

Its main thrust, according to committee publicist Diana J. Bradley, is to "keep Belvedere the way it is now, since we can't go back 10 years."

The four-page rough draft of the statement was presented Tuesday to committee members who will study it for a week to see if they have suggestions or additions. The group will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Belvedere Community Hall to approve a final version. It then will go to the city council.

The council on April 2 asked the committee to come up with the conservation statement, which will become an element of Belvedere's general plan when it is finished.

The element, Mrs. Bradley said, sets guidelines for maintaining the quality of Belvedere's environment — water, land and air. It recommends conserving natural resources, recycling wastes, avoiding pesticides and herbicides, resisting widening Tiburon Boulevard and Belvedere streets, maintaining low speed limits, keeping residential densities low and developing the city's paths and lanes to encourage walking.

Annual Boat Race Enlarged

Promoters of this year's Cascade Boat Race in Mill Valley have yielded to the inevitable and decided not to limit it to children under 12.

The races will begin at 11 a.m. Saturday in Old Mill Creek behind the Mill Valley Public Library.

There will be four categories of entrants: origami (paper boats dipped in wax for waterproofing), wooden boats, plastic boats and ready-made boats. For the first time, a special category will be set up for those older than 12.

The races are sponsored by the library in conjunction with National Library Week which ends Sunday. Entrants should sign up at the library before the races or at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Old Mill Park.

Hearing Set May 1 On Water Shortage

The North Marin County Water District board will conduct a second hearing on whether to declare a water shortage at 7:30 p.m. May 1 at the district office, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

Directors on March 6 voted 3-2 against declaring a shortage after a hearing which brought strong protests from developers and threat of an $8 million law suit.

Board members voted unanimously Tuesday night to hold another hearing.

Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson said the board also will have a hearing May 1 on raising the connection fee, now $300, and water rates, undetermined amounts. The board will have a special meeting to study fees and rates at 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the district office.

Directors awarded consulting engineer Russell L. Culp of South Lake Tahoe, a contract to design changes to the Stafford Lake Treatment plan, at a cost up to 10 per cent of the project, estimated from $218,000 to $278,000.

The board also awarded Charles B. Smith Inc., low bidder, of Novato, a contract to construct an addition to enlarge the district warehouse at a cost of $49,045.

Warren's Son Is Remarried

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Earl Warren Jr., a Municipal Court judge and son of former Gov. and U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren, was remarried Wednesday, eight days after his first marriage was dissolved.

His bride is the former Antoinette Mira Buerk, described in the marriage license as a 32-year-old widowed legal secretary.

The brief ceremony was conducted by Municipal Court Judge John J. Boskovich and witnessed by Warren's daughter, Wendy, 18, and a court clerk.

Warren, 42, is required to make $400-a-month support payments to his former wife of 17 years, Cleo. After lengthy litigation, he won custody of three of their four children.

30th Anniversary Of Ghetto Uprising Marked

WARSAW (UPI) — A chill rain and snow swept the Warsaw neighborhood where 30 years ago today a group of Jews rose up in armed resistance to Nazi attempts to deport them to gas chambers, the only such armed resistance by Jews during World War II.

Only about 200 persons braved the weather to observe 300 private individuals and representatives of various Polish organizations lay wreaths of red carnations at the base of a granite monument in the heart of the former ghetto on Warsaw's north side.

A spokesman for Poland's Jewish Cultural Association said no foreign groups were invited to attend the 20-minute ceremony marking the anniversary of the three-week Warsaw Ghetto uprising.

Accompanied by the slow drum roll of a military band, mem, women and children from various cities in Poland filed to the 30-foot-high monument to lay wreaths or simple bunches of flowers.

One delegation was led by Gen. Jozef Urbanowicz, vice minister of defense, another by several delegates from the Polish parliament. No high government or Communist party officials attended.

One other person who did not attend was Dr. Marek Edelman, the sole surviving leader of the uprising who still lives in Poland. He stayed at his home in Lodz, 70 miles from here, where he works as a cardiologist.

"It will be no holiday for me," Edelman said. "I have to go to work."

Edelman, now 53, was one of five young Jews who led the resistance against Nazi attempts to destroy Warsaw's ghetto in 1943 and to ship its 65,000 inhabitants to gas chambers.

Edelman and a small number of other people escaped from the ghetto through city sewers after the uprising collapsed in early May 1943. One other survivor now lives in Israel.

The remaining three of the five commanders died in the fighting that left the ghetto levelled and empty.

"It was luck that we got out," Edelman said. "Luck and nothing else."

The subdued ceremonies marking the anniversary included an evening of music, poetry recitation and speeches Wednesday night in Warsaw's National Philharmonic.

Only a few foreign guests attended, none as part of organized groups.

Poland's pre-war Jewish population was estimated to be 3.5 million. As a result of Nazi killings and postwar migrations, that figure has been reduced to 15,000.

Owner Of Dog Must Pay For Road Accident

LONDON (UPI) — A court ordered Richard Jolly, 18, to pay $12,000 in damages Wednesday because his dog caused a highway accident.

The court said Jolly was responsible for walking his labrador without a leash.

As they reached the road, the labrador spotted two other dogs and chased them into a line of traffic. A woman driver hit and killed the dog and then swerved into an oncoming truck, seriously injuring her grandmother, a passenger in the car.

The court awarded the grandmother $20,000 damages for her injuries and said Jolly should pay 40 per cent of this amount. The woman driver was made liable for the rest.
